

—Collegian Photo. by John Beauge

WINNING HOMECOMING DISPLAY: Alpha Chi Rho's portraying of the S.S. Penn State sinking the S.S. Missouri won first place in the annual Homecoming Fraternity Lawn Display Contest. A total of 32 groups participated in this year's contest.

AWS Schedules Elections, Applications Available at HUB

By ANN PALMER

Applications for the Association of Women Students fall elections are available today at the Hetzel Union desk. Community Council members and freshmen AWS Senate members-at-large will be elected on Oct. 19 and 21.

Applicants for AWS positions must complete the self-nomination forms and turn them in to the HUB desk by 5 p.m. Friday.

Freshmen AWS Senate members-at-large are equivalent to the former freshmen

MRC May Govern Men On Campus

The Men's Residence Council may take its place among the mushrooming number of campus governing bodies within a few weeks, Phillip Haines, community living encampment chairman, said.

The body which would govern campus men was suggested by that committee and is being Independent Men, Haines added.

The new system would be similar to the existing Association of Independent Men, Haines said.

Haines said the main difference between AIM and MRC will be that fraternity pledges may occupy seats on MRC. Under AIM, a man pledging a fraternity must resign his AIM seat.

Haines said, however, that he is going to recommend that no pledges be allowed to serve on the MRC executive committee. He said it would be difficult for a man to pledge a fraternity and concern himself with governing campus men at the same time.

Each men's residence hall, Haines explained, would remain divided into "houses," which would elect officers as under the present system. The "house officers" in each living area would then form an area council.

Thus, Haines said, the four area councils—Nittany, North, Pollock and West Halls—would remain in existence with the same functions of government and social organization.

The officers chosen by these councils plus members-at-large would form the Men's Residence Council. A temporary chairman would be appointed until MRC could elect its own officers, Haines said.

Haines said that area elections are being held this week. By next week, he added, the area councils should have elected officers, thus choosing the personnel for MRC.

The MRC would not be connected with TIM as AIM has been, Haines said. Plans now call for TIM to become an autonomous governing body, Haines added.

senators of the Women's Student Government Association and are elected according to class rather than residence area.

A council is elected for each of the five communities where women are residing and representation is in proportion to the number of each class living in the community. Council members will be elected at the ratio of one representative for every 100 women.

During the week following elections, each Council will meet to elect three officers: a chairman, who must be an upperclassman, a vice chairman and a secretary-treasurer.

The elected chairman of each Council will be a voting member of the AWS Senate. One other member of each Council will sit on Senate, preferably the secretary-treasurer.

On Wednesday, November 2, the revised AWS Senate will meet for the first time. Voting representatives present at this meeting will be: two members from each of the five Community Councils, eight members-at-large (two from each class), the five previously-elected officers of AWS Senate, and one representative from each of the following women's groups: Women's Recreation Association, Leonides, Judicial Board and Panhellenic Council.

Council composition, proportionate to class, for each of the five communities in which women are living is as follows: Pollock Area with 1047 women; 2 freshmen, 3 sophomores, 3 juniors, 2 seniors; West Halls Area, including McKee and Irvin, with

Boro Council Plans to Study Stadium Traffic

Traffic congestion created by the cars going to Saturday's game at the stadium prompted a discussion of campus parking and traffic regulations at the Borough Council meeting held last night.

A committee of council members has been appointed to study the problem. The council stated that the Shortlidge Rd. and Park Ave. intersection was one of the biggest problems. It created a "bottleneck."

The committee will make its recommendations and suggestions and refer them to the proper University officials so that the problem can be attended to before the next football game at the stadium.

A special public hearing will be held at 7:30 p.m., Oct. 17, in Borough Hall to discuss zoning regulations.

372 women: 2 freshmen, 1 sophomore, 1 junior and 1 senior, and Atherton with 528 women; 2 freshmen, 1 sophomore, 1 junior and 1 senior.

McElwain and Simmons Area with 1139 women: 5 freshmen, 2 sophomores, 2 juniors and 2 seniors; South Halls Area with 1094 women: 4 freshmen, 4 sophomores, 2 juniors and 1 senior.

Minimum membership for these councils has been set at five.

•The Association of Independent Men and Leonides express their sincerest regrets to at least 50 couples who were turned away from the Homecoming Dance in order to provide comfortable dancing space for those in attendance.

•A very big thank you is extended to the 441 couples who made the dance a huge success. With this kind of continued participation, the independent organizations will continue to provide quality social programs, the next being the AUTUMN BALL on OCTOBER 22.

Federal Official Gives Lecture on Budget

John A. Beckett, certified public accountant, and assistant director of the Bureau of Budget of the federal government, will speak at 7:30 tonight in the Mineral Science auditorium.

His topic will be "The National Budget."

Beckett has written a number of books and he lectures on the average of twice a week.

His lecture is being sponsored by Beta Alpha Psi, honorary accounting fraternity.

Angel Flight, Arnold Air To Hold Meeting Tonight

A joint organizational meeting of Angel Flight and Arnold Air Patrol will be held at 7 tonight at Phi Delta Theta.

Angel Flight members will meet at the east end of the Hetzel Union parking lot at 6:45 p.m. The uniform will be the regular white blouse and dark skirt. Arnold Air Society members and pledges will wear the Class "A" uniform.

CLASSIFIEDS—RESULTS
50c BUYS 17 WORDS

WHAT TO DO TILL THE PSYCHIATRIST COMES

Once upon a time at the University of Virginia there was a coed named, oddly enough, Virginia University who was handsome and kindly and intelligent and ingeniously constructed and majoring in psychology. Virginia went steady with a young man on campus named, oddly enough, Oddly Enough who was supple and fair and lithe and animated and majoring in physics.

Virginia and Oddly enjoyed a romance that was as idyllic as a summer day, as placid as a millpond. Never did they fight—never, never, never!—because Virginia, who was majoring in psychology, did not believe in fighting. "Fighting," she often said, "settles nothing. The scientific way is to look calmly for the cause of the friction."

So whenever she and Oddly were on the verge of a quarrel, she used to whip out a series of ink blot tests and they would discover the true underlying cause of their dispute and deal with it in an enlightened, dispassionate manner. Then, the irritant removed, their romance would resume its tranquil, serene, unruffled course.

After six months of this sedate liaison, Oddly was so bored he could spit. He loved Virginia well enough, but he also believed that people in love ought to fight now and then. "It opens the pores," he said. "And besides, it's so much fun making up afterwards."

But Virginia would not be provoked into a quarrel. One night Oddly tried very hard. "Hey," he said to her, "your nose looks like a banana, and your ears look like radar antenna, and your face looks like a pan of worms."

"My goodness, we're hostile tonight!" said Virginia cheerfully and whipped 120 Rorschach cards out of her reticule. "Come," she said, "let us examine your psychic apparatus."

Oddly tried again. "You're fat and dumb and disagreeable," he said, "and you'll be bald before you're thirty."

"Hmm," said Virginia thoughtfully and lit a cigarette. "This sounds like an anxiety neurosis with totemism, anagogic trauma, and a belt in the back."

"I hate you," said Oddly. "I hate your looks and your clothes and your toenails and your relatives and the cigarettes you smoke."

"New, hold on, buster!" cried Virginia, her eyes crackling, her color mounting, her nostrils aflame. "Just keep a civil tongue in your stupid head when you talk about Marlboro! Nobody's knocking that filter, that flavor, that pack or flip-top box while there's breath in my body! It's a full-flavored smoke, it's a doozy, it's a dilly, it's a gas—and anybody who says a word against it gets this."

By "this" Virginia meant a series of combinations to the head and liver, which she now delivered to Oddly and turned on her heel and stormed away.

Oddly brought her down with a flying tackle. "I love you with all my heart," he said.

"And Marlboro?" said she.

"And Marlboro even more," said he.

And they kissed and plaited love knots in one another's hair and were married at Whitecliffe and smoked happily ever after.

© 1960 Max Shalman

You too can smoke happily—with Marlboro, or with Marlboro's unfiltered companion cigarette, Philip Morris—available in regular size or the sensational new king size Commander. Have a Commander—welcome aboard!

ROCK 'N' ROLL or JAZZ
by J. B. QUINTET
Music as you like it
Call Al AD 8-0192