

Engle Up to Old Tricks, Songs Blare at Practice

By SANDY PADWE

If you weren't an old visitor to Penn State's practice sessions and if you weren't hep to the ways of Rip Engle, you might have thought Penn State and Army were celebrating exchange band day yesterday.

Actually, Engle was just using some psychological warfare by playing Army songs and cheers over a loudspeaker during football practice.

He did the same thing last year as State prepared for the Cadets and believe it or not, it helped the Lions win, 17-11.

There is sound reasoning behind this madness, though. Army cadets at a football game are louder than a fleet of jet planes getting ready for take-off.

In fact, they're so loud and boisterous that oftentimes visiting teams have been known to lose their composure and blow up completely.

Sever Toretta, State's offensive line coach, is an expert on the matter because he spends the early part of each football season scouting the Cadets and he knows all about their "mob psychology."

"You should have seen it against Boston College a few weeks ago," Toretta said, "it was amazing."

This was the situation: Army was behind at halftime, 7-0 and the Eagles looked as if they might pull an upset, but the Corps had no intentions of letting this happen. Toretta said they poured out of the stands at halftime and held an impromptu pep rally in front of the stands.

"Then they started calling for the superintendent and he came down," Toretta said as he pantomimed a stiff-looking officer. "When that team came on the field for the second half all the cadets were down there screaming away and that was all Army needed."

The Cadets came roaring from behind in the last two quarters to win, 20-7. "Boston College just didn't know what hit them," Toretta said.

Army played the same type game against California last weekend. Going into the final quarter at Berkeley, they were behind 10-6, but last period drives netted three quick touchdowns and they won 28-10.

Army's other win came in an opening game scrimmage over Buffalo, 37-0.

"This is a real good Army team," Toretta said. "They're bigger than last year and they're in wonderful condition as usual."

"They don't have any individual stars who stand out above the rest but they're good all-around players."

Army has modified its lonesome end offense this year by actually allowing their stray partner to come into the huddle.

Toretta explained that they still split the end wide on most plays after the huddle.

The big man in the Army attack is halfback George Kirschenbauer, a powerful runner and an excellent pass receiver.

"They throw to Kirschenbauer and his substitute Stanley (Paul) quite a bit," Toretta said. "They've caught five touchdown passes between them this year," the Lion coach added.

Even though the lonesome end formation has been modified, Army still attacks from a straight-t with an unbalanced line.

—Penn State football teams have played in three bowl games: Rose (1923), Cotton (1943), and Liebrty (1959), with a record of one win, one loss, and a tie.

Pirates Sweep Yankees, 6-4

By JACK HAND

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The alert Pittsburgh Pirates knocked out the New York Yankee starter with three runs in the first inning yesterday and clawed out a 6-4 victory in the opening World Series game despite 13 Yankee hits off Vern Law and Elroy Face.

When Law, the National League champ's 20-game winner, faltered in the eighth, in from the bullpen strode Elroy Face, the scrawny guitar-twanging relief ace

Taking over with two on and nobody out, Elroy slipped a sinker past Mickey Mantle for a third called strike, got Yogi Berra on a fly and struck out Moose Skowron.

Art Ditmar, the Yanks' starter, retired only one man before the hit-and-run scrappers from the National League finished him off for the day to the delight of 36,676 at ancient Forbes Field.

Ditmar went to the mound with a one-run lead, fashioned by Roger Maris' 350-foot home run into the upper deck in right in the Yankee first.

The American League champions, who finished the regular season with 15 straight victories, played like sleep walkers in the Pirate first. It was the Pirates' first Series victory over the Yanks, who brushed them off in four straight in 1927.

VERN LAW

Bill Virdon walked, stole second and sped all the way to third when nobody covered second base on Berra's throw. Then came Dick Groat, the league batting king, ramming a double to right scoring Virdon.

Bob Skinner bounced a hard shot past Bobby Richardson on the well-packed infield and Groat raced in with the run that put the Pirates ahead to stay.

Skinner stole second on Berra's high throw and sped home with the third run of the big inning on Roberto Clemente's hard bouncer into center.

Clemente's hit started a parade of Yankee relief men that included Jim Coates, Duke Maas and Ryne Duren.

When the Yanks got one run back in the fourth on Maris' single, a walk and Skowron's single, Pittsburgh's Buc's came right back for two of their own. For the day, Maris got three hits as did Tony Kubek.

The Pirates, whose power had been rated much inferior to the Yank's home run blasting, showed they packed a wallop in the fourth when Bill Mazeroski followed a walk to Don Hoak with a two-run homer off Coates over the scoreboard in left, about 365 feet from the plate.

Maas was clubbed for a run in the Pirate sixth when Mazeroski singled to short left, took second on Law's sacrifice and scored on Virdon's first pitch double off the right field screen.

A brief insurrection in the ninth rocked Face but he survived. Gil McDougald opened with a single but was forced at second. Then came the two-run homer by Howard, who has been out of action lately with an injured finger.

When Kubek followed the homer with a single to center, bringing the potential tying run to the plate, the crowd stopped walking toward the exits. But Face calmly choked off the rally by making Hector Lopez bounce into a game-ending double play, the Pirates' third of the day, with Maris due up next.

AP Picks Army to Top Lions

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
PITTSBURGH (AP) — World Series fever may be hot, but they're busting a few thermometers also around the college football circuit.

Crystal balls, too, are going up in puffs of smoke in this most unpredictable of gridiron campaigns. Cloudy glass punctured our average last week, dropping our score to 70-25 for .736.

But there's a brighter view this week:

Syracuse 35, Holy Cross 7: The national champions aren't as solid as 1959, but they give us a breather here.

Mississippi 28, Vanderbilt 12: Ole Miss lacks the versatility of last year, but still has too much speed and depth for Vandy.

Minnesota 14, Northwestern 12: The Gophers are a rags to riches saga and Big Ten title material.

Army 20, Penn State 7: Tom Blanda gets the Cadets clicking. Navy 19, Southern Methodist 7: The Midshipmen are a bit slicker.

Baylor 14, Arkansas 7: Texas Coach Darrell Royal always gets his athletes up for this wild weekend.

Wisconsin 19, Purdue 14: Our "upset special".

Notre Dame 23, North Carolina 8: The Tarheels are too thin.

Michigan State 21, Iowa 14: The Spartans get an uneasy nod at home.

Princeton 14, Pennsylvania 7: Good upset possibilities here.

Air Force 19, Missouri 17: A close game.

Washington 21, Stanford 0: The Huskies bound back from the Navy defeat.
