

General Assembly Begins Wrangling Over Red China

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The UN General Assembly plunged last night into a wrangle over the Red China membership issue. The United States, aware it had aroused resentment in the powerful Asian-African bloc, still was confident of barring action.

The Soviet bloc opened the debate with a new attack on the United States keyed to the theme of discrimination against Negroes in the United States, already raised in the Assembly by Soviet Premier Khrushchev Saturday.

The Communist bloc was making a determined bid to impress the new African nations whose votes could mean the difference on the China issue. Red-bloc delegates displayed an attitude of triumph over the turn of events at this session.

Western delegations were worried by bitterness of Africans and Asians over U.S. maneuvering which defeated a neutralist expression of hope for a U.S.-Soviet summit meeting.

In a new gesture to the African nations, Soviet White Russia's delegate, K. T. Mazurov, accused the United States of "disgraceful" discrimination which he said deprives millions of Negroes of voting rights. This was in reply to the U.S. contention that Red China's suppression of human rights makes the Peiping regime unfit for membership.

The members of the Soviet bloc walked out of the assembly when T. F. Tsiang, the Nationalist Chinese delegate, took the rostrum. This is the usual Communist behavior toward the Nationalists.

Tsiang assailed Prime Minister Nehru for urging admission of Communist China in view of Red repression in Tibet.

"India's policy is not really neutralism, it is a policy of appeasement," he declared.

He asserted that Poland is "fighting against the new imperialism of Moscow" but its representatives in the United Nations are not free to speak about it.

But a showdown was postponed when the Assembly adjourned until this morning, with a continuation of the Red China debate slated for this afternoon.

Nixon-Kennedy Debates

The Nixon-Kennedy debate will be shown at 7:30 tonight on the Eidophor system in Schwab auditorium.

Doors will open at 7 p.m. to all students and faculty members.

Traffic Regulations Will Be Reviewed

The current campus parking regulations will be reviewed and re-evaluated Nov. 15, Albert E. Diem, vice president for business administration said yesterday.

The present regulations, including the new ban of student parking in the Hetzel Union parking lot, will operate on a trial basis until then. Any changes deemed necessary will be considered for enactment at that time.

Diem requested the full cooperation of the students in this trial period. At the Student

ABOUT 500 STUDENTS attended the Block 'S' Club pep rally last night. A motorcade of about 50 cars preceded the pep rally, finally winding up at the field across from Beaver Stadium.

Clear Weather Forecast Today 500 Students Cheer at Rally

The Nittany Valley will be blessed with perfect autumn weather today, tonight and tomorrow.

Bright sunny skies and pleasantly mild temperatures are expected today and tomorrow with clear, chilly weather in prospect for tonight.

The generally fair weather will probably continue into Sunday, although cloudiness should begin to increase in the afternoon.

Today's high temperatures will be about 64 degrees while tomorrow's readings will be slightly milder with a maximum of 67 expected.

"Where there's smoke, there's fire . . ." And if the students who attended the bonfire pep rally last night cheer at the "Lick 'em, Lions" send-off this morning, the Lions will carry a blazing spirit into Saturday's football game with Army.

The Blueband and cheerleaders will be on hand at 8:45 a.m. today in front of Recreation Hall to lead the send-off cheers.

About 50 cars were in the motorcade that led 500 students to the rally last night.

Despite the fact that last minute difficulties caused the absence of a public address system and prevented the presentation of skits and speakers, the cheerleaders and students tried their best to evoke school spirit.

Encampment preceding the fall semester, Diem had made a similar request although it was not included in the report of the Expansion and Student Welfare Encampment workshop.

The new ban on HUB parking led the members of encampment to offer three alternate plans — each proposing limited student parking at the HUB lot.

The preferred plan, which would allow unrestricted parking in the HUB lot from 6 p.m. to midnight Monday through Thursday and from 5:30 p.m. to 1:30 a.m. on Friday and Saturday.

At Encampment, Diem explained to the workshop members that closing the HUB lot to students had been necessary for four reasons:

- Safety in the congested areas of Shortlidge Rd. near the HUB lot.
- A need for parking facilities for visitors to the University.
- A need for adequate parking spaces for faculty and staff members.
- A need for a more effective way to disperse traffic in that area.

Diem added yesterday that the complaints of student drivers to his department have far exceeded the importance of the parking issue and take too much time in relation to the other things that must be handled by his staff.

As the regulations now stand, all parking lots bounded by Burrows, Curtin and Shortlidge Rd., including the HUB lot are closed to student automobiles.

All other parking lots, except the lot in front of Recreation Hall, are open to properly registered student cars after 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday and after 12:30 p.m. Saturday.

AIM Asked To Change Constitution

Nittany Area Council voted unanimously Wednesday to ask the Association of Independent Men for a revision in its constitution that will permit freshmen to run for council offices.

The council also recommended that AIM open positions on its Judicial Board of Review to freshmen.

The requests for changes in the constitution came from Barry Rein, acting president of the council.

Rein called the AIM constitution outdated in respects to freshman representation. "When an area is 95 per cent freshman it's time for a change," he said.

None of the 28 applicants for seats on the Judicial Board of Review was an upperclassman, Rein told Council members.

Nominations for Council offices will be held Tuesday, Oct. 11, in Nittany 20. The positions open are president, vice president, secretary, treasurer, parliamentarian, and two representatives to the AIM Board of Governors.

Unless the AIM constitution is altered only the 15 upperclassmen living in the area may apply. In other business the Council announced that it will sponsor a jam session Wednesday evening in Pollock 1 as part of the Indie Week activities.

U. of Md. Students Invited for Weekend

Clean out your rooms and scrounge up another bed, gang . . . we're getting company.

On November 5 when the Lions meet the University of Maryland Terrapins, there should be thousands of southern fans swarming our campus. Richard Haber, SGA president, said last night that he has extended an official invitation to the student body at Maryland University.

"I received an encouraging answer," he said, "and we are going to do our best to see that this 'Away Weekend' is a success. Perhaps this will initiate similar weekends with other universities."

Haber said that he has asked the Interfraternity Council's cooperation. He said that the fraternities will house as many visiting Marylanders as possible. The sororities are also making accommodations available.

Haber said that activities for both Greeks and Independents are being planned for the weekend.

A Club Hubana dance for independents and several fraternity parties for the Greeks are on the agenda.

Haber said that he has sent literature and maps to the Maryland student government so that it may acquaint the students with the University before their visit.

This is the first time that such an invitation has been issued and Haber said he is hoping it will be the first of many.

Haber also said that he advised the Maryland students to get their tickets for the game at their own campus.

It is expected that the majority of the students will arrive here on Friday afternoon, Nov. 4 and will remain for the entire weekend.

Haber told the Student Government Association Assembly about the "Away-Weekend" in an officers' report last night.

So Penn Staters better practice up, loud and clear, for "Fight on State" if they hope to out-sing our visitors.

Trustees Authorize Honors Program

The University Board of Trustees has authorized the establishment of an Honors Program that will enable superior students in various departments to secure an Honors Diploma for specialized study in their major fields.

The plan, originally proposed by the Senate Committee on Educational Policy, empowers the separate colleges to set up their own honors programs to fit different needs, subject to the approval of the Senate Committee on Academic Standards, according to John J. Schanz, Jr., chairman of the committee.

The Honors Diploma will be awarded to a student in addition to the regular bachelor's degree received in a designated curriculum.

The degree now given indicates for those students graduated with high averages, that the student has been graduated "with distinction," "with high distinction," or "with the highest distinction" in the achievement of academic grades.

The Honors Diploma will, however, have no connection with scholastic grades, but will indicate outstanding work by a student in special fields of study, he said.

Lawrence E. Dennis, vice president for academic affairs, explained that many students who graduate with distinction, high distinction, or highest distinction, may not have been enrolled in a departmental Honors Program and thus would not receive the Honors Diploma. There may also be cases, he said, where a student has qualified for a departmental Honors Diploma, but may not have met the requirements for a distinction notation on his degree.

Only superior students who are specially selected and invited to participate may enter the program.

In order to be eligible for participation in an Honors Program, a student must have at least a third semester standing. He must have attained either a minimum All-University average of 2.5 or an average of 4.0 in courses in his academic major. He must maintain an All-University average of 2.5 to remain in the Honors Program.

Twelve credits designated by the department as honors course work are required for the Honors Diploma and the student must also pass a comprehensive examination administered by the departmental honors committee.
