Indies Will Select '60 Queen Tonight

Beauty and talent will be in the spotlight at 8 tonight in the Hetzel Union ballroom when Indies present their annual talent show and crown the Indie Queen.

The queen finalists are Carol Davis, freshman in chemistry and physics from Williamstown; Rosalba Giovannitti, freshman in education from Monroeville; Joyce Pattison, senior in physics from Elkland; Susane Magness, freshman in home economics from Claymont, Del.; and Sally Stephens, freshman in liberal arts from Swarthmore.

The finalists will be judged on beauty, poise, charm and personality and the winner will receive a trophy and bouquet of flowers.

Judges for the queen contest will be Philip Haines, president of the Town Independent Men; William F. Fuller, manager of the Association of Student Activities; Elizabeth Ingley, president of the Women's Recreation Association and Nancy Wigfield, 1960 Homecoming Queen.

Kaskegna Indian dancers, bands and singers will be featured in the talent show to take place before the selection of the queen.

Talent winners will receive $25, $15 and $10 gift certificates from a local store for first, second and third places respectively.

Judging the talent acts will be Philip Haines; Phyllis Newmark, senior in arts and letters from New Castle and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Feder.

Miss Newman is a member of the Thespians and Mr. and Mrs. Feder worked last summer as summer camp coordinators.

Sheila Cohen, senior in arts and letters from Pittsburgh, will serve as mistress of ceremonies.

No admission will be charged for the talent show or queen contest.

Both programs are part of Indie Week activities, which will end tomorrow night with Las Vegas Nite, at 8 p.m. in the HUB ballroom.

Grants Offered For Students

Two $500 scholarships are available for graduate and undergraduate students of business, economics, marketing, advertising and commerce in the first annual House of Edgeworth Scholarship Contest, sponsored by Larus & Brother Co., Inc., Richmond, Va.

One award will go to the undergraduate who submits the best advertising slogan with supporting brief of not more than 500 words for House of Edgeworth smoking tobaccos. Winner of the second award will be the graduate student who writes the best marketing plan for selling tobaccos to the college market.

Entries, to be judged on the basis of originality, expression and practical merchandising value, must be postmarked no later than midnight, March 15, 1961. Further contest information can be obtained from Larus & Brother Co., Inc., Richmond, Va.

Chem-Phys Council Sets Election Date

The Chemistry-Physics Council decided Wednesday to hold council elections Nov. 1 and 2.

All students interested in running for the Council may sign up at the Hetzel Union desk or in 101 Osmond. Those signing up must present their matriculation cards.

In hopes of keeping closer contact with the Student Government Association, the Council decided to send one of its members to sit in on each SGA Assembly meeting on a rotating basis.
