

Controversy Still Rages Over Hall's Missing Shoe

By SANDY PADWE

The controversy over Galen Hall's missing right shoe raged on yesterday both in Syracuse and University Park.

Hall, you will remember, was directing Penn State's desperation touchdown drive in the waning moments of the Penn State-Syracuse game Saturday.

With time running out, he drove eight-yards to the Syracuse four on a keeper play but in the process he somehow lost his right shoe.

Every second was precious with the score reading Syracuse 21, Penn State 15. State had used up all its timeouts so Hall and captain Henry Oppermann asked for an official's timeout.

They were refused because the rules say that the clock stops for an equipment change only if there is a possibility of injury to another player.

All the trouble started over this point. It seems that Syracuse coach Ben Schwartzwalder doubted Hall's motives and he told a wire-service reporter that the Lion quarterback was trying to pull a quick one to get the clock stopped.

"That Penn State quarterback (Hall) was caught trying to pull a quick one when he appeared to lose his shoe in the final minute," Schwartzwalder was quoted, yesterday. "Ben wouldn't say a 'one of the officials told me later the boy pulled it off in an effort to stop the clock." The remarks of the official, not Schwartzwalder, infuriated Lion coach Rip Engle. "I think it was a misrepresentation," Engle said after practice yesterday. "Ben wouldn't say a thing like that. The kid's shoe was halfway off. All he did was get rid of it," Engle said as he pulled his low-cut practice shoe halfway off and demonstrated how easy it is to lose a shoe of this type.

Hall was a little confused with the whole situation. "The shoe came off when I got tackled. I don't know who it was but he hit me around the legs and as I slid down it came off.

"All I know," Hall continued, "was that the shoe was off enough and I knew I couldn't run with it."

"Oh why don't you guys forget the whole thing," quarterback coach Joe Paterno said as he propped himself in front of his locker.

"We lost and there's nothing we can do about it. The kids were great but we have to get ready for Illinois. They're a terrific football team."

So far this year, the Illini have split four games, beating Indiana, 17-6, and West Virginia, 33-0.

They've lost their last two games to Ohio State, 34-7 and Minnesota, 21-10.

Engle, Elliott Will Team Up

Penn State's Rip Engle and Illinois coach Pete Elliott will be on opposite sides of the field this weekend when the Lions meet the Fighting Illini at Champaign, Ill. But it won't be that way come Dec. 31 in Tempe, Ariz.

The two coaches will pool their talents against Dan Devine of Missouri and Jim Sutherland of Washington State in the third annual Copper Bowl game.

Engle and Elliott will coach the National All-Stars while Devine and Sutherland will coach the Southwest All-Stars in the big charity tilt.

Engle and Don Clark of Southern Cal coached the National stars to a 21-6 victory in last year's game.

Elliott, only 33, is the brother of Chalmers (Bump) Elliott, the head coach at Michigan.

This is Pete's first year at Illinois. He was head coach at California for three years before coming to Illinois.

49er's Wilson Retires For Coaching Career

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Billy Wilson, one of the greatest pass catchers in the history of the National Football League, is quitting as an end for the San Francisco 49ers to become an end coach.

In his place against the Green Bay Packers next Sunday at Milwaukee will be Ray Norton who has run the 100-yard dash in the world record time of :09.3.

Vic Morabito, president of the 49ers, gave a two-year coaching contract to Wilson, whose 407 receptions for 5,902 yards and 49 touchdowns in just over nine seasons ranks him second only to Don Hutson of Green Bay. In 11 seasons, Hutson caught 489 passes for 8,010 yards.

Iowa First in Poll; Orange Move to 3rd

By The Associated Press

Iowa's Hawkeyes took the undisputed lead in the Big Ten football race Saturday by conquering Wisconsin 28-21, but the lead they assumed in the race for national honors was something less than clearcut.

By the slenderest kind of margin — one first-place vote and two points in the voting of 48 members of eight Associated Press district panels — Iowa ousted Mississippi from the No. 1 spot in the nation.

Iowa received 23 of the 48 first place votes in the fifth weekly AP poll of the 1960 season and Mississippi 22.

Two went to Syracuse, the 1959 national champion, and one to Washington. In the point totals, on the basis of 10 for each first place vote, 9 for second, etc., down to one for tenth, it was Iowa 442 and Ole Miss 440.

Syracuse, a 21-15 victor over Penn State Saturday, moved up a notch to third place with 339 points. Navy and Missouri each advanced one place in the rankings and Minnesota jumped four from 10th to sixth. Washington and Purdue regained places in the top ten. Others are Baylor, which held the No. 7 spot, and Ohio State, down from third to ninth.

Previously ballots had been split between Iowa and Ohio State as the outstanding teams in the Big Ten. The Buckeyes were knocked from contention by Purdue 24-21. But Minnesota continued in the unbeaten ranks with a 21-10 decision over Illinois and Purdue also bounced back to gain a share of the points for that conference.

Mississippi, the Southeastern Conference pacesetter, rang up its fifth straight victory, downing Tulane 26-13.

1. Iowa 23 (4-0)	442
2. Mississippi 22 (5-0)	440
3. Syracuse 2 (4-0)	339
4. Navy (5-0)	306
5. Missouri (5-0)	279
6. Minnesota (4-0)	224
7. Baylor (4-0)	153
8. Washington 1 (4-1)	111
9. Ohio State (3-1)	71
10. Purdue (2-1-1)	41
11. Wisconsin	37
12. Tennessee	32
13. Michigan State	31
14. Arkansas	23
15. Kansas	22

Bellino Turns Barber After Air Force Win

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Navy halfback Joe Bellino took up the barbering trade yesterday at the hollywood delight of 3900 midshipmen.

He clipped the hair of one barber and shaved half the mustache off another as the result of bets he made before Navy's 35-3 football victory over Air Force Saturday.

Bellino bet the barbers Navy would win the game by 30 points and that he would score three touchdowns. If he lost, they could cut his hair any way they wanted. If he won, he would have a free hand with the clippers. He won on both counts.

Hawkeye's Hollis Is 'Back-of-Week'

By HUGH FULLERTON JR. Associated Press Sports Writer

Wilburn Hollis, a quarterback with an accurate arm and an imperturbable temperament, yesterday was picked as Associated Press back of the week for his feat in pitching Iowa into the No. 1 spot in the national football ratings.

Hollis, a hard runner as well as a fine passer, has scored five touchdowns and passed for three this season to keep the Hawkeyes unbeaten.

Against Wisconsin last Saturday, Hollis ran for two touchdowns in the second half to send the game into the final minutes with the score tied at 21-21. Then he threw a 29-yard pass for an apparent touchdown only to have the play called back and Iowa penalized five yards for offside.

Unperturbed by this setback, Hollis faded back on the next play and fired another long pass. Sophomore halfback Sam Harris gathered it in with a diving catch for a 34-yard gain and the touchdown that gave Iowa a 28-21 victory.

Lion Booters' Forward Line Needs More Scoring Punch

By JIM KARL

Chances are the Penn State booters will feature a revised lineup when they meet Maryland at College Park Saturday.

Coach Ken Hosterman, in an effort to install some scoring punch in the faltering Lion attack, has been considering a change in the forward line.

"We've got to get more scoring punch," Hosterman said at practice yesterday. "Right now I'm working with Ken Link at center forward."

Hosterman said the score might have been 4-0 in State's favor at the end of the half instead of 1-1 if the Lions had a scoring threat.

State had some excellent scoring opportunities but wrong moves due to inexperience and failure to take advantage of the breaks proved to be Penn State's downfall.

On the other hand, Colgate converted three Lion mistakes into scores. Red Raider forward Ron Glenn raced in to score a goal on a ball that bounced off goalie Dave Grubb's chest.

Then Colgate center-forward Jim Patterson tallied twice on balls that were deflected by Grubb's replacement, Jim Gottschling.

"Patterson was an opportunist," Hosterman said. "He just capitalized on our mistakes. The center-forward has to be a hound. He has to be able to take a beating."

Apparently Hosterman thinks that Link might fill such qualifications. If the switch works, captain Wayne Rodgers will replace Link at fullback and Russ Naylor, who started at center-forward against Colgate, will move to right wing to replace the injured Glenn Ream.

The Lion junior injured his leg in the Syracuse victory and sat out Saturday's encounter. He's working out with the team at practice but still can't go full speed.
