

Den Trial Plan Will Continue

The Lion's Den in the Hetzel Union Building will continue to stay open until 11 p.m. Sundays and weekdays on a trial basis until Thanksgiving vacation. Robert C. Proffitt, director of food service, said that the later hours which started at the beginning of the semester have been extended to enable the food service to make a "reasonable and feasible decision" on having permanent late hours. Proffitt said that the patronage of the Lion's Den has fluctuated too much to make a decision now. During this extended time a careful check will be made on the number of students using the later hours, he said.

AIM Passes--

(Continued from page one) could not have a part in the Encampment because most of the proposed workshops would not pertain to Leonides. In an executive council of Leonides, Miss Hill said, it was decided that Leonides would not join with AIM in the proposed Encampment. After withdrawing a motion to hold an Indie Encampment and to invite independent women, AIM voted that the Indie Encampment be postponed until the future of the AMR had been decided.

Campaigning Bill--

(Continued from page one) dith Weiss (U.-Jr.) who argued that although Elections Commission would be handling radio and poster publicity this would not prevent candidates from being required to pay money to the parties for additional publicity. Darran answered that some line should be drawn. Another field of debate opened when Jacqueline Leavitt (U.-Sr.) objected that the use of SGA funds for this publicity purpose would mean using funds that were meant for the majority of students for the publicity of a certain few. Darran replied, "We are not giving money to individuals or parties. We are using the money for elections publicity."

IM Football--

(Continued from page eleven) Hemlock a 7-0 win over Chestnut. The Blue Raiders handed Navy 'A' its second defeat. Ross Campbell kicked a 25-yard field goal for the winners, making the final score 3-0. In the final game of the evening, the Penn State A.C. defeated the Waring Chargers, 4-0, on first downs.
