University Press Shows Six Books

Six books published this year by the University Press are on display on the first floor of the Hetzel Union Building.

T. Rowland Slingsuff, director of the Pennsylvania State University Press, said that both student and faculty members are offered discounts ranging from 10 to 20 per cent on books published by the University Press.

Slingsuff added that the majority of the books published are "scholarly works with the authors not necessarily confined to our campus."

These books can be purchased at the HUB desk and in 301 Old Main.

Oppel Presents Paper At Boston Convention

Dr. George U. Oppel, professor of engineering mechanics, presented a paper, "Photoelasticity Applied to Material Properties," at the annual convention of the American Society of Civil Engineers in Boston, Mass., last week.

Dr. Benjamin A. Whisler, professor and head of the Department of Civil Engineering, and Dr. Joseph Marin, professor and head of the Department of Engineering Mechanics, also attended the meetings.

'K' Proposals--

 gap—how wide we do not know." He asserted that the Soviet Union's declarations on controls did not square with proposals made by the Soviet Union in actual negotiations. He cited a proposal at the Geneva nuclear weapons test talks where the Soviet Union proposed 29 Russians and one foreign national among technicians for any one control post.

He expressed sorrow also that the Soviet Union had introduced into their proposals ideas about reorganization of the UN secretariat "which we all know are quite unacceptable to a large majority of UN members. I can only hope they will not be pressed." But Valerian A. Zorin, in a brief reply to Ormsby-Gore, made clear the Soviet Union was not changing its stand. He said the Soviet Union would accept any control system offered by the United States or the Western powers—but only after the signing of an international treaty on disarmament and destruction of weapons.

A FRAT TO REMEMBER

Every year, as we all know, the Benevolent and Protective Order of Collegiate Fraternities awards a highly coveted prize to the fraternity house which, in its judgment, has done the most to promote and enhance the fraternity way of life. The prize this year—eight hundred pounds of white putty—goes to the Signa Phi Nothing chapter of the South Dakota College of Dentistry and Renaissance Art.

The award this year is exceptionally richly deserved, for the Signa Phi Nothing house is the very model of all a fraternity should be. It is, first of all, a most attractive house physically. The outside walls are tastefully covered with sequins. Running along the upper story is a widow's walk, with a widow stationed every three feet. Moored to the chimney pot is the Graf Zeppelin.

Indoors, the house gives an impression of simple, casual charm. The chapter room is furnished in homey maple and chintz, with a dash of verve provided by a carp pool three hundred feet in diameter. A waterspout rises from the center of the pool with the housemother bouncing on the top.

Members' rooms are gracious and airy and are provided with beds which disappear into the wall—permanently. Each room also has a desk, a comfortable chair, a good reading lamp, and a catapult for skeetshooting. Kidney-shaped desks are available for kidney-shaped members.

Perhaps the most fetching feature of the house are the packs of Marlboros stacked in heaps wherever one goes. If one wishes to settle back and enjoy a full-flavored smoke, one needs only to reach out one's hand in any direction and pick a pack of Marlboros—soft pack or flip-top box—and make one's self comfortable with a filtered cigarette with an unfiltered taste—that triumph of the tobacconist's art, that paragon of smokes, that acme of cigarettes, that employer of mine—Marlboro!

The decor, the grace, the Marlboros, all combine to make Signa Phi Nothing a real gas of a fraternity. But a fraternity is more than things; it is also people. And it is in the people department that Signa Phi Nothing really shines.

Signa Phi Nothing has among its members the biggest BMOCs on the entire campus of the South Dakota College of Dentistry and Renaissance Art. There is, for instance, William Makepeace Sigafos, charcoal and bun chairman of the annual Stamp Club outing. Then there is Dun Rovin, winner of last year's All-South Dakota State Monopoly Championship, 135 Pound Class. Then there is Rock Schwartz, who can sleep standing up. Then there is Tremblant Placebo, who can crack pecans in his armpits. Then there is Ralph Tungsten, who went bald at eight.

But why go on? You can see what a splendid bunch of chaps there is in Signa Phi Nothing, and when one sees them at the house in the cool of the evening, all busy with their tasks—some picking locks, some playing Jacks-or-Better, some clipping Playboy—one's heart fills up and one's eyes grow misty, and one cannot but give three cheers and a tiger for Signa Phi Nothing, fraternity of the year!

© 1960 Max Shulman

And while you're cheering, how about a huzzah for the newest member of the Marlboro family of fine cigarettes—unfiltered, mild, delightful Philip Morris king-size Commander! Have a Commander—welcome aboard!
