

Hip Injuries May Sideline Farkas, Caye Saturday

Penn State may be playing without two of its top performers Saturday when winless West Virginia comes to Beaver Stadium.

Halfback Eddie Caye and tackle Gerry Farkas came up with hip bruises in the Illinois loss Saturday and their status as of yesterday was "uncertain."

Caye has been one of Penn State's most dependable backs this fall with 106 yards gained in 23 carries. He got off to a sensational start against Boston University when he gained 77 yards as the Lions won, 20-0.

Farkas, only a sophomore, has been quite a surprise too. He has shown constant improvement and his aggressive play is one of the reasons opposing coaches rate Penn State's tackle corps with the best in the East.

Aside from Caye and Farkas, there are no other serious injuries. Halfback Jim Kerr has a painful charley-horse and alternate unit center Bill Saul has a bruised hip. Both have been practicing, though.

If Caye and Farkas are sidelined Saturday they probably will be replaced by Al Gursky and Terry Monaghan, a pair of sophomores.

Gursky, from Shillington, Pa., scored Penn State's only touchdown against Illinois Saturday on a pass from quarterback Dick Hoak.

In five games this year, the well-muscled power-runner has carried the ball nine times for 36 yards.

Monaghan, who weighs 223, sat out the pre-season practice period with a knee injury but it appears to be fully healed now.

Lion fans will have an added attraction Saturday afternoon—the 11th annual band day.

The program will attract 60 high school bands from 31 counties throughout the state. Nearly 5000 musicians, majorettes and color guard personnel will invade the campus for the big extravaganza.

Archie's Diet Awing

ROME (AP) — This land of lusty appetites was awed by the diet of light heavyweight champion Archie Moore.

Moore, a ring phenomenon at near 50, drew headlines and gasps from the Roman press when he ordered the following meal:

A broth; a one-pound steak, which he chews but doesn't swallow; a cup of tea, fruit and ice cream.

Lion Booters May Surprise Four Remaining Opponents

By JIM KARL

With a 1-4 record and only four games left to play this season, it appears that only a miracle will enable Ken Hosterman's booters to break even.

But if the Lions continue to play as they did against Atlantic Coast Conference champ Maryland Saturday, future State opponents may be in for a surprise.

State held Maryland to a 1-1 tie in the first half, and fought the Terps right down to the wire in the last two stanzas before bowing, 4-1.

The Terps scored twice on controversial off-side calls and once on a "hand ball." Hosterman said that a Maryland attacker actually rammed the ball into the net with his hand but an official ruled that the ball had already entered the goal.

In previous games, including their lone win against Syracuse (3-0) this year, the Lions lacked spark and drive. But this wasn't the case against Maryland.

Hosterman wasn't the only one to notice the change. "I wouldn't say that we improved in the Maryland game," Lion halfback Carlos Astiz said, "we've been playing like that in practice all year."

"Maryland has a lot of good ballplayers and they played a good game but even when the score was 4-1 we didn't let up. If we'd have had a few breaks I think we could have at least tied them."

And that would have been quite an accomplishment for any team. The Terps, Atlantic Coast Conference champions for eight consecutive years, haven't lost a game during regular season competition since they were defeated by the Lions in 1957.

State travels to Annapolis Friday for a game with Navy. Temple, Army (home), and Pitt round out the season.

NFL Will Remain Pat On College Draft Rules

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Football League will not change its draft rules despite an increased trend toward accelerated three-year college educations, commissioner Pete Rozelle said.

Many colleges and universities now offer a program of four quarters per school year, enabling a student to complete a four-year education in three. Occasionally athletes enter these accelerated programs but they're more likely to spread out their education over four years or even five in order to get maximum mileage out of intercollegiate competition.

Tigers May Hire Rigney

NEW YORK (AP) — Bill Rigney, who managed the San Francisco Giants to two consecutive third place finishes before he was dismissed last June, may soon be named manager of the Detroit Tigers, The Associated Press learned yesterday.

The first two Copper Bowl football games provided the National Football League with 16 players and the new American League drew 18.

Foiles Moves Again

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Catcher Hank Foiles says the Detroit Tigers have shipped him to the Tigers' farm club in Denver. The deal immediately called for examination of baseball files. Foiles may have set an all-time record as the fastest moving player.
