

U.S. Urges 'K' to Drop Arms Plans

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (P) — The United States appealed to the Soviet Union yesterday to drop Premier Khrushchev's all-or-nothing demands on disarmament, and for the sake of world peace to keep the door open for East-West negotiations.

U.S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth declared that the step-by-step approach urged by the West could result in total disarmament in five or six years, or even less if there is "good faith and a real sense of urgency on both sides."

He spoke in the UN Political Committee, just after a Communist bloc delegate unleashed a bitter attack on the United States and threatened anew to walk out on the committee unless Khrushchev's disarmament proposals are adopted as the sole basis for negotiations.

Kuzma V. Kiselev, the delegate from White Russia, said the United States was preparing for a new war while assuming the garb of a peacemaker. He said the peoples of the world "must tear the mask off the face of American imperialists."

In an attempt to head off the threatened Soviet-bloc boycott, Wadsworth appealed for a give-and-take attitude by all participants in the debate in the 99-nation committee.

Candidates Swap 'Verbal Jabs'

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy pleaded for help to a huge throng yesterday in New York's garment district. He told the crowd the choice is between those who want to progress and those who want to stand still.

At another packed street meeting in the nearby fur district, Kennedy said he doesn't believe Vice President Richard M. Nixon "has the vaguest idea of the kind of times in which we live" and how to meet the problems that face the country.

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP) — A raspy-voiced Richard M. Nixon pictured Sen. John F. Kennedy yesterday as a novice whose foreign policy mistakes could plunge the nation into war.

This was one of a series of verbal jabs that the vice president took in a whistle-stop swing across Michigan at his Democratic rival for the presidency.

Students, Workers Fight With Police in Paris

PARIS (AP) — French students and workers demonstrating for a quick end to the Algerian rebellion fought bloody street clashes with police in Paris and the provinces last night.

It was the first widespread outbreak of violence in France over the stubborn Algerian insurrection since President Charles de Gaulle returned to power in mid-1958.

Through the Looking Glass with Gabbi

Big weekend coming up and lots of fun to be had. As could be expected yours truly has a bluebook at nine Saturday morning. Oh well, you can't win them all, but must you be a perpetual loser!

IF YOU'RE IN MY CLASS... and have a B.B. (not Bardot) on Saturday, stop in to Ethel's shop and get a new alarm clock for the occasion. You'll never make it if you don't. Good luck anyway.

GIRLS, I TOLD YOU NOT TO WAIT... but if you hurry there may be a few of our lovely evening bags left. The Junior Prom is tonight, so don't be caught without an evening bag... and you know where you can get one.

LIKE ATTENTION GETTERS? If you do, don't miss our little wooden mice or poodle pins. The poodles are trimmed with real mink. I'm not forgetting the boys either. For you we have tie clasps made of petrified wood.

IT'S THE RAGE... Sophisticat stationery. Yes for cat lovers Ethel has Sophisticat stationery with lovely cat and kitten prints on the front.

Well kids have a great weekend. See you next week
—Gabbi
