Winless West Virginia Called '1st Half' Team

By SANDY PADWE

West Virginia hasn't won a football game all year, but that doesn't ease the worries of Rip Engle who will send his Nittany Lions against the Mounties at 1:30 p.m. in Beaver Stadium.

"Most people only read the scores in the papers Sunday morning. They don't see the movies," Engle said in a preview of the big band day game.

"This West Virginia team is an aggressive bunch. They have a lot of sophomores in the lineup and it's possible they could mature quickly."

Oddly enough, reports say the Mountaineers are a "first-half" football team.

They threw a scare into Illinois a few weeks back with a real strong half and coach Gene Corum said they made another great effort last week against Syracuse.

Costly mistakes and poor blocking caught up with the Mounties both times and they lost to Illinois, 33-0 and Syracuse, 45-0.

Their other three losses were to Pitt, 42-0; VPI, 15-0; and Maryland, 31-8. They managed to tie Richmond, 6-6, three weeks ago in their best outing to date.

Engle's road-weary Lions also have been suffering through an off-year with a 2-3 record.

They've lost heartbreakers to Syracuse (21-15) and Illinois (10-8) the past two weeks and were beaten by fifth-ranked Missouri (21-8) earlier in the campaign.

Their two wins came over Boston University, 20-0 and Army, 27-16.

It's been five years since the Lions have lost two straight and they hope to get healthy quick today.

Engle has planned no lineup changes even though he said he was disappointed with the offense against Illinois last weekend.

Once again, Galen Hall and Dick Hoak will be in charge of the Lion offensive attack.

Both have been erratic this fall, but when they're settled

Mild Weather Will Continue

Little change in the basic weather pattern will allow the partly cloudy and mild weather of the past few days to continue through the weekend.

A rather vigorous storm system, which is located off the Middle Atlantic coast, will cause rain and strong gusty winds in the extreme southeastern portion of Pennsylvania today, but there is little indication of the precipitation spreading this far west.

Partly cloudy and mild weather is expected to prevail today, tonight and tomorrow. Little change in temperature is predicted.

A high of 58 degrees is forecast for this afternoon with a maximum reading of 56 due tomorrow. Tonight's low will be about 44 degrees.

VOL. 61, No. 33 STATE COLLEGE, PA., SATURDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 29, 1960 FIVE CENTS

60 Bands Will Parade Through State College

Sixty high school bands will parade up College Ave. from Pugh to Burrowes Sts. at 11:10 a.m. today, in a preview appearance before they perform this afternoon at Beaver Stadium.

The parade, to be led by the State College High School band, will leave parking lot No. 11 at 11 a.m. The bands will march down Pollock Rd., to McAllister Hall, south on the little mall, west on College Ave. and north on Burrowes Rd. to parking lot No. 11.

The groups will be designated special seating sections on their arrival to Beaver Stadium.

The cheerleaders, majorettes and twirlers will add to the band day activities with special cheers and stunts.

At halftime all the bands, led by the Blue Band, will come on the field and form the letters PSU. They will play "America the Beautiful," "El Capitan March," "Over the Rainbow," Washington Post March, "Autumn Leaves" and conclude their show with the "Penn State Alma Mater." They will then divide down the middle and promptly leave the field.

In a pre-game performance the Blue Band will enter the field in regular formation playing the traditional fanfare and "Nittany Lion."

Among the formations will be a skull and bones to the tune of "Dry Bones," a jack o'lantern to the notes of "Peter Peter Pumpkin Eater," a jug to the melody of "Little Brown Jug," and a black cat to the tune of "I Tot I Taw a Puddy Tat."

"That Old Black Magic" and "The Happy Wanderer" will be played as they form a witch riding a broom. In regular formation they will play the "Star Spangled Banner" and they will make their exit playing "Victory."

Dr. Hummel Fishburn, head of the Department of Music, is in charge of all band day activities. James Dunlop, professor of music education, is director of the Blue Band.

Robert Fought, drum major, will lead the Blue Band in its march down the field. Fought, a freshman, is following the footsteps of his elder brother, Donald, who was drum major last year before he graduated.

Dates May Join 'Hats' Members of hat societies may bring their dates on the field to help form the honor lane before football games.

Reds Seek Release Of UN Official

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (P)—The Soviet Union demanded publicly yesterday that Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold seek the release of a Russian UN official arrested by U.S. authorities on spy charges.

Soviet Delegate Platon D. Morozov threw this demand into a speech in the General Assembly's Legal Committee regarding the work of the international law commission.

"The Secretary-General," he said, "should take immediate steps to put an end to this act against this Soviet citizen, who had an important post in the Secretariat and has been deprived of the possibility of carrying out his functions at a very important time, and without justification."

Ambassador Morozov's statement echoed what Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin earlier told reporters in disclosing that the Soviet delegation already had protested to Hammarskjold's office against the arrest.

U.S. Delegate Charles Rosenbaum accused Morozov of trying to transform the committee into a court. He said it was improper to comment on the guilt or innocence of an individual who had been indicted but not yet "tried by a jury of his peers with all of the protection which our law accords to an accused."

Morozov declared the arrest "was prepared in accordance with a political plan of the State Department and Mr. Allen Dulles, head of the Central Intelligence Agency, as part of the hostile activities against the Soviet Union."

CYNTHIA HAWKINS

Hawkins Crowned Jr. Prom Queen

Cynthia Hawkins, junior in elementary education from Pittsburgh and sponsored by Alpha Phi, was crowned Junior Prom Queen last night by Les Elgart who played for the dance held from 9 to 1 in Recreation Hall.

Each finalist was presented at the dance by Gene Chaiken, chairman of the Prom committee. Each received a bouquet of roses.

Other finalists and their sponsors were Pamela Baker, Alpha Omicron Pi; Dorrice Griffith, Chi Omega; Barbara Vincent, Pi Beta Phi; and Sandra Wilson, Kappa Alpha Theta.

Collegian Fosters Lion-hearted Spirit

Can't you just see it now? — A mighty lion (Nittany, of course) crushing a tiny terrapin. (A slight reflection on University of Maryland is intended.)

Or what about a wide, gigantic band of white sporting "Lick 'em Lions!"

Whatever your fancy in art may turn to, here's your chance to be original and, at the same time, promote spirit for the Penn State-Maryland game on Nov. 5.

The Daily Collegian is sponsoring a banner contest for which all residence hall units are eligible. The purpose of this contest is to colorfully illustrate one and all that Penn Staters are giving their full support to the Nittany Lions.

All banners must be completed by 5 p.m., Nov. 4 and will be judged that evening. No banner should cost more than $25 and any banner not adhering to the rules may be disqualified.

The Daily Collegian reserves the right to remove any banner that is in any way derogatory, demoralizing or in poor taste to University ideals.

Clarity, originality, craftsmanship and expression of Penn State spirit will be the points on which the banners will be judged. The first place award winner will receive a trophy from the Association of Independent Men. This award will be given at the pep rally on Friday, Nov. 4.

The first three winning banners will be announced at the game on Saturday. Over 2000 Marylanders are expected to come here for the game which makes the banner contest even more significant—so "Lick 'em Lions!"

New Party Declares Bill Illegal

A bill passed by Student Government Association Assembly Thursday night has been called unconstitutional by leaders of the Liberal party.

The bill states that majority and minority party leaders in the SGA Assembly will be the chairmen of their respective parties and that they will be chosen by the members of the party on the assembly.

The bill has been called unconstitutional on the grounds that it violates a clause in the SGA constitution which states: "The Assembly shall not pass legislation which is primarily within the scope of another student organization except upon request by said organization."

The Liberal party members said that they are referring their objection to the SGA Supreme Court for judgment.

A written statement declaring the above was given to the Daily Collegian yesterday by Barry Flashman and Dave Hladick. It was signed by Richard Snyder, Liberal party chairman, Flashman, vice chairman, Leslie LeWinter, recording secretary and Hladick, treasurer.

They said in their statement that "the action of the SGA Assembly removing the party chairman from direct control of the party members is, in our opinion, illegal under the SGA constitution."

"Such a measure is to us a wanton misuse of legislative power. It attempts to alter the constitutions of independently chartered organizations and sets a dangerous precedent which, if unchallenged, will allow SGA to interfere at will in the internal affairs of autonomous groups," the statement continued.

Clocks to Go Back One Hour Tomorrow

Eastern Standard Time will go into effect during the early hours of tomorrow morning. At that time, clocks will be turned back one hour.

Since coeds have 2 a.m. permissions tonight, students will go by daylight time until after the curfew. The one hour gained in turning back the clocks will not be added until after 2 a.m.

Students to Use Lot 42 for Parking

Parking Lot 42, north of the Nittany dining hall, will be converted into a student parking area from a faculty parking area on Nov. 1.

Faculty members assigned to that lot will be reassigned to the lot east of the Pollock dining hall, which will be called lot 43.

The change announced yesterday by Albert E. Diem, vice president for business administration, came as a result of a letter to the editor of the Collegian, published Oct. 19.

The letter called attention to the fact that only six cars, all belonging to maintenance men, were daily utilizing lot 42 in the Nittany area which has space for 65 cars. The letter also stated that students in the northern part of Nittany were therefore forced to park their cars in the "already crowded south Nittany parking lots."

The current campus parking regulations will be reviewed and re-evaluated Nov. 15. Diem said on Oct. 6. At that time the ban of student parking in the Hetzel Union parking lot, which is on a trial basis now, will also be re-considered.

Any changes deemed necessary will be considered for enactment at that time. Diem has requested full cooperation from the students during this trial period.

The ban on HUB parking led the members of student encampment to offer three alternate plans for limited student parking at the HUB lot. At encampment Diem explained to the workshop members that closing the HUB lot to students had been necessary for four reasons:

• Safety in the congested areas of Shortlidge Rd. near the HUB lot.

• A need for parking facilities for visitors to the University.

• A need for adequate parking spaces for faculty and staff members.

• A need for a more effective way to disperse traffic in that area.

As the regulations now stand, all parking lots bounded by Burrowes, Curtin and Shortlidge Rds., including the HUB lot are closed to student automobiles.

All other parking lots except the lot in front of Recreation Hall are open to properly registered student cars after 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday and after 12:30 p.m. Saturday.
