

Middle East Authority To Speak in 'Series'

Lieutenant General Sir John Bagot Glubb, also known as Glubb Pashe or Lord Glubb, will present the first of three programs scheduled for the University Lecture Series.

His talk, "The Middle East, Storm Center of the World," is scheduled for 8:30 p.m. Thursday in Schwab.

Ticket distribution for students began at 1:30 p.m. yesterday and the sale of tickets to

Mock Voting Scheduled For Friday

University students will join Dr. George Gallup and company by announcing their choice for President of the United States in the mock elections Friday.

The campus election is being handled by the Mock Elections Commission sponsored by the Student Government Association.

A plea for all students to "get out the vote" for the candidate of their choice has been made by Robert Gandel, chairman of the commission. Gandel stressed that all students, regardless of age are eligible to vote as long as they present their matriculation cards at the polling stations.

Voting booths will be located in the Hetzel Union, Sparks, Electrical Engineering and Pollock dining hall. The polls will be open from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. Friday, except for the Pollock station which will be operated only during lunch and dinner meal hours.

Votes will be counted by members of the commission in the presence of representatives from both the Democratic and Republican parties immediately after the polls close. Results will be published in Saturday's Collegian.

Stray Shot Injures Philipsburg Man

Martin Foley Jr. of Philipsburg was accidentally shot by Albert Hull Jr., also of Philipsburg, at 11:20 a.m. Saturday on one of the University farms, according to Joseph Wiker, area game warden.

The men were members of a party of four who were hunting rabbits on the first day of small game season.

Foley was shot in the left side and arm but was not seriously injured when Hull's gun accidentally discharged, Wiker said. Hull, who was emotionally upset by the accident, was taken to the Centre County Hospital and put under sedation.

faculty members and non-students will open at 9 a.m. today. Tickets are available at the Hetzel Union desk.

Glubb, a legendary figure in the Arab world, is generally conceded to be the foremost authority on the Middle East. For 36 years he lived among the Arabs and acted as friend, confidant and counselor to the people and kings of Trans-Jordan. In 1939 he became commander of the Arab Legion and quickly molded them into one of the most competent fighting forces in the Middle East.

During his many years as an advisor to the Kings of Jordan, Glubb was the major restraining influence in the area. As a result, Trans-Jordan enjoyed an unprecedented era of peace and stability for almost 20 years, until it was dragged unwillingly into a war with Israel.

Recent events in Egypt, Iraq and Jordan have substantiated the role he played in keeping a peaceful Middle East.

Parking Lots to Switch

Students and faculty will switch parking areas today as lot 42 north of the Nittany Union Building converts into a student parking area and becomes lot 43. Faculty members assigned to that lot will be reassigned to the lot east of the Pollock dining hall, which will be known as lot 42.

Children Elect Nixon as Next U.S. President

The voting age has been lowered! School children elect Nixon president! Strange as it may seem, that is exactly what did happen in a mock election this summer at the University.

State College children who were enrolled last summer in the Junior Summer Laboratory School "elected" Richard Nixon president in their mock elections. Today, they have a letter from the vice president commending them "for their interest in their government as expressed through their presidential election."

Preceding its election, the class rallied the vote by making posters and placards urging the children to vote for their favorite candidate. But of the 125 children in the school only 68 cast ballots, revealing a percentage of apathy toward political matters to match the election-day attitudes of their seniors.

The outcome of the balloting revealed 36 votes for Nixon and 28 for Kennedy. (One second-grader said she voted for Nixon because she couldn't spell Kennedy's name.)

The class decided to inform Nixon of his victory but rejected proposal to write to Kennedy. They thought that they "might hurt his feelings."

Faculty, Grads to Attend Annual Botany Meeting

Five members of the department of botany and plant pathology and five graduate students plan to attend the annual meeting of the Northeastern Division of the American Phytopathological Society next Thursday and Friday in West Springfield, Mass.

Dr. Jesse Livingston, professor and head of the department and division president, will preside at the sessions.

Junior Residents' Duties Discussed at Workshop

A junior resident is a voluntary but carefully screened undergraduate assistant to the dean of women's staff, according to a definition from the first Junior Residents' Workshop held recently.

She is responsible to an assigned group of women residents for the purpose of guidance, counseling and dealing with minor problems. Present at the workshop were junior residents, senior residents, residence community coordinators, Dean of Women Dorothy J. Lipp and Assistant Dean of Women Marian B. Davison.

During the workshop 3 facets of a junior resident's purpose were discussed — leadership, communication and service.

The group felt that an "actions speak louder than words" policy should prevail in junior resident leadership.

It was suggested that greater individual participation could be obtained by smaller, informal meetings when necessary and the equal delegation of responsibility among all women involved.

The need for an efficient way to form communication lines between staff members and the 5000 women on campus was also discussed. It was agreed that smaller meetings facilitated communication between staff and students.

The final topic — service — was broken down into various ways that junior residents could aid the University, students and especially the senior residents.

Suggestions for services that junior residents could perform included collecting sign-in sheets at closing hour, serving as leaders and trailers for fire drills, circulating various communications and substituting for the senior resident when she could not be in the residence hall during her duty hours.

THANKS a MILLION MOM and DAD ...

for such a swell Christmas gift. I really am glad that I suggested an OFFICIAL PENN STATE CLASS RING to you last fall.

And a Balfour CLASS RING has all the excellence in design and craftsmanship that makes it worthy of Penn State.

Yes, I sure am glad that I mentioned a PENN STATE CLASS RING to you in plenty of time for Christmas.
