Kennedy Proposes New Peace Corps

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy proposed last night the establishment of a peace corps in which young men could serve in underdeveloped nations for three years instead of being drafted for military duty.

In his speech here Kennedy proposed that present efforts to aid underdeveloped areas of the world be supplemented by a corps of "talented young men willing and able to serve in countries in this fashion for three years as an alternative to peacetime Selective Service."

Saying that "the enemy advances now by nonmilitary methods," the Democratic presidential candidate said this country must have representatives abroad of greater talent and training, especially in the newly emerging nations that need specialized help.

"We can push a button to start the next war, but there is no push-button magic to bring a just and lasting peace," Kennedy said in a speech prepared for delivery at the Cow Palace.

The talk marked the windup of Kennedy's final two-day bid for the 32 electoral votes of California, home state of his Republican opponent, Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Eisenhower Calls U.S. A Top Power

NEW YORK (AP) — President Eisenhower said last night that despite the "bewailing" complaints of Sen. John F. Kennedy, America's military retaliatory power is at "a peak of power."

Supporting a theme which Nixon has been pounding in campaigning in all sections of the country, Eisenhower told a partisan crowd which interrupted his speech with applause 20 times.

"In every index by which we measure strength and development, the past eight years have been the brightest of our history. Such strength and development form the sturdy foundation on which are built all our necessary programs for national prosperity and security at home and waging peace abroad."

In another obvious dig at Kennedy, Eisenhower said he can't understand "how, in the face of the record, anyone can seriously contend that the world leadership of the United States has been impaired."

Eisenhower called America "the mightiest temporal power that has ever been developed here on God's footstool."

U.S. Conductor Dies in Italy Of Heart Attack

MILAN, Italy (AP) — Dimitri Mitropoulos, an austere musical perfectionist who conducted orchestras in the United States for many years, toppled from the podium at La Scala Opera House yesterday and died, apparently a victim of a heart attack.

Mitropoulos, born in Greece 64 years ago, had spent 10-year tenures as conductor of the Minneapolis Symphony and then the New York Philharmonic. Later he conducted at New York's Metropolitan Opera and toured extensively in Europe.

Mitropoulos was rehearsing Gustav Mahler's Third Symphony for a concert here Monday. A few minutes before taking up his baton, he had complained of being tired.

"I feel very fatigued," he said. "I am an old automobile that still works, however."

Then he rehearsed the orchestra for about 10 minutes. Suddenly he stopped and put a hand to his heart. Before any of the musicians could reach him, he collapsed and fell from the podium.

He was rushed to Milan's Polyclinic Hospital but died on the way.

Mitropoulos suffered a heart attack early last year in Germany, but he appeared to have recovered.

Congo Leaders Refuse Lumumba Patch-Up

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Pro-Western Congolese leaders warned the United Nations Tuesday they will not accept their dispute with the Communist-backed ex-premier, Patrice Lumumba.

The warning was served by Col. Joseph Mobutu, the Army chief, and President Joseph Kasavubu, who was theoretically neutralized by Mobutu's Sept. 14 coup d'etat.

(Continued from page one) coffee hours, Miss Hamm explained. This would also tend to discourage sororities from wearing full length gowns in favor of a simpler costume, she added.

The main objection to the change was voiced by Jan Callo-way, Alpha Chi Omega, when she said, "This would defeat the whole purpose of coffee hours which is to show the sorority in a different light than at other rush parties."

"No matter how you dress the sorority members, just holding the event in the suites will make it essentially just another chatter date," she added.
