Imaginative Nugent Sends Frisky Terps Against Nittany Lions

By SANDY PADWE

Tommy Nugent, one of the nation's most imaginative coaches, brings his frisky Maryland Terrapins to Beaver Stadium at 1:30 this afternoon to face Penn State in the final home game of 1960.

Nugent's "I" formation Terps stand 4-3 for the campaign, but they're on a three-game win streak and have looked extremely impressive of late.

Harriers Top Jaspers For Perfect Slate

Special to the Collegian
NEW YORK, N.Y., Nov. 4 —The Penn State cross country team clinched its first undefeated season since 1953 today when they downed Manhattan, 21-34, here.

Today's win, along with victories over Cornell, Pitt, Michigan State, West Virginia, and Navy, gave Penn State coach Chick Werner his sixth perfect season since 1933.

The Jaspers, always strong over their home layout in Van Cortland Park, put up an exceptionally strong battle in their attempt to squish Penn State's chances for a perfect season.

But they couldn't overcome the power of the Nittanians' "Big Three" of Herm Weber, Gerry Norman, and Steve Moorhead. Weber and Norman finished in a first place tie for the fifth time this season in 26:39.5.

The win was Norman's tenth straight over a period of two years.

He recorded three wins in his freshman year, copped the freshman IC4A crown, and this season won six straight varsity meets.

Moorhead, who suffered a cramp near the end of the meet wasn't far behind the Lion duo, steaming across the finish line in 26:45.5.

After the "Big Three," the Jaspers' power started to show.

Larry St. Clair and Dan Corry were Manhattan's top placers, coming home fourth and fifth respectively. St. Clair, usually one of the Jaspers' secondary runners, came on strong at the finish to beat out Corry for fourth place.

Lionel Bassett finished in the money for the Lions for the first time this year, taking sixth place with a time of 27:20.

Bassett's efforts were badly (Continued on page seven)

Rival coaches marvel at the versatility of Maryland's attack which is described as a "multiple, multiple offense" by Penn State scout Frank Patrick.

Patrick saw the Terps in action the past two weeks in their wins over Wake Forest and South Carolina and he warns that they came up with something new in each game.

Wake Forest coach Bill Hildebrand can vouch for Patrick's statement.

"We didn't expect them to use that much "I" formation stuff," Hildebrand told reporters after his Deacons lost to the Terps. "That's what makes this Nugent so hard to get ready for—he's got so many things to throw at you that you can't dwell on any of them."

Maryland is predominantly a sophomore and junior team and it took the Terps a while to get rolling.

They won their opener over West Virginia, 31-8, but then they lost three straight to Texas (34-0), Duke (20-7), and North Carolina State (13-10).

Following the NC State game, the passing combination of quarterback Dale Betty and All-American end candidate Gary Collins brought the Terrapins to life.

They upset defending Atlantic Coast Conference champ Clemson, 19-17, and the following week they topped Wake Forest, 14-13. Last weekend they dumped South Carolina, 15-0.

Betty is one of the most feared passers in the nation. He has com-

Rain Predicted Today; Tomorrow to Be Cloudy

A rapidly-moving storm system will bring cloudy skies and intermittent rain to Pennsylvania today, but because of the fast eastward movement of the storm, clearing skies will return to this area tonight.

Today will be cloudy, breezy and cool with occasional rain. The maximum temperature should be close to 52 degrees. The low reading tonight should be about 38 degrees.

Tomorrow will be partly cloudy, windy and cool with a high temperature of 50 degrees.

Nixon Wins Elex

GOP Slate Selected By 956 Votes

Vice President Richard M. Nixon carried the University Mock Election with a 3697 to 2741 victory over Sen. John F. Kennedy.

Of the 16,091 students including undergraduate, graduate and special, 6450 participated in the election. This is 40 per cent. Nixon polled about 57 per cent of the total votes.

In the Student Government Association elections of last April 7, 23 per cent of the student body voted and 3467 cast ballots for SGA president.

Although write-ins were not encouraged and were considered invalid, Adlai Stevenson received seven votes, Alfred E. Neuman, one; Farrell Dobbs, socialist, one; Khrushchev and Castro, one; Mazeroski and Murtaugh, two.

"The mock elections was a great turnout of student spirit and shows a great interest in politics on behalf of the students," Alan Levinson, co-chairman of the mock elections commission, said.

Neal Rhoads, president of the Young Republicans Club, expressed his thanks to the students for their support and enthusiasm shown during the campaign. "We're glad the results were in our favor and hope it is characteristic of what the state and nation will do Nov. 8," Rhoads said.

John Bonella and Robert Umstead, chairman and representative respectively of Students for Kennedy and Johnson, said, "Even though we have not been able to carry Penn State for Sen. Kennedy, we are still confident that he will carry Pennsylvania and the nation this coming Tuesday."

Nixon led Kennedy by 249 votes in a mock election held at 16 western Pennsylvania colleges, according to an Associated Press story.

A total of 12,143 students cast ballots. Nixon, the Republican candidate, polled 6139 votes or 51 per cent of the total. His Democratic opponent received 5890 or 49 per cent.

WITH NATIONAL ISSUES AT STAKE, at least in the minds of the students, Penn State went to the polls yesterday. The mock election in which any student was "legal age" was termed a success with almost 6500 students participating.

New Election Dates OK'd by Assembly

The dates for the SGA fall elections were changed by Assembly Thursday night at the request of Robert Umstead, elections commission chairman.

Elections will be held on Dec. 6 and 7 instead of in November as was originally planned. Final party registration

AChiO, Kappa to Meet In Powder Puff Bowl

The clash of helmets is echoing in two sorority "training camps" as Kappa Kappa Gammas and Alpha Chi Omegas prepare for the annual Powder Puff Bowl football game.

The kickoff is set for 2 p.m. tomorrow at Beaver Stadium. Admission to the game is 25 cents with the proceeds going to charity.

Sue Rich serves as captain of the Kappa squad; Sandy Girvin and Carole McEldowney are the AChiO co-captains. Vance Rea of Sigma Alpha Epsilon coached the Kappas and Jim Ottinger, Phi Gamma Delta, is AChiO mentor.

and preliminary nominations will take place Wednesday. Final nominations will be next Sunday.

Umstead said that he was asking for the change to eliminate splitting the campaign—that is, having part of it before the Thanksgiving vacation and part of it afterwards.

Umstead said another reason for the change would be to assure students who want to run that they have a definite choice of either two parties or three.

The newly-organized Liberal party is expected to receive its charter on Tuesday, he said, if final party registrations were held tomorrow this would not be quite fair to the new party, Umstead said.

Umstead said that the real campaigning will probably begin Nov. 28, the first day of classes after vacation. Newly elected assemblymen will take their seats on Dec. 8.

In other business, Assembly approved a suggestion by Duane Alexander (C.-Soph. class president) to establish a permanent SGA committee on ROTC.

Alexander made the suggestion "in view of today's Senate meeting." (Senate heard a letter recommending that compulsory ROTC be retained.)

"Perhaps we can work with the Liberal Arts faculty in showing why compulsory ROTC should be abolished," he said.

'Countryman' Fail Issue

The fall issue of the Penn State Countryman appearing Monday contains an article by Democratic presidential candidate, Sen. John F. Kennedy, on "Agricultural Policy for the New Frontier."

The Countryman staff said its publication does not reflect the endorsement of Kennedy and that efforts to obtain similar material from Vice President Richard M. Nixon were still unsuccessful at press time.

Westmoreland Banner Gets AIM Trophy

Lions and Terrapins have met in bitter conflict banner-wise and the Terps emerged from the encounter eaten, boiled, emulsified and generally downtrodden.

The hapless Terp faced the Nittany Lion's knife and fork on the trophy-winning entry of Westmoreland House in the Collegian Banner Contest.

Westmoreland received the Association of Independent Men's trophy from Wayne Ulsh, North Halls president.

Nittany 24 placed second with a turtle boiled in an aquarium as the main course. The group also won the $25 prize given by Nittany Council for the best banner in the area.

Jordan Hall, which emulsified the Terps with Lestoil liquid cleanser, finished third.

Sponsors of the three winning banners will be announced at the Penn State - Maryland football game this afternoon.

Banners were judged on the basis of clarity and adherence to the theme of promoting spirit for today's game.

Thirteen dorm units entered the competition.

Khrushchev Ousting Denied by Reds

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Vienna was stirred for hours yesterday by a newspaper's banner headlined story and related rumors that a coup had unhorsed Soviet Premier Khrushchev. The Russians finally denied it all as nonsense.

"Utter nonsense," said the Soviet Embassy in Vienna.

"Stupid nonsense," said the Soviet Embassy in Bonn.

"Complete nonsense," said the New York office of the Soviet news agency Tass.

That summarized their reaction to talk rounded up by the independent newspaper Abend-

Presse under the banner: "Struggle for power in Moscow. Khrushchev ousted, Malenkov successor."

Its story, attributed to "usually well-informed international circles," was that former Premier Georgi M. Malenkov had taken over the government in a coup engineered by the antiparty group. Red China was described as having a hand in the upheaval.

The antiparty group is a handful of old Communists, including Malenkov, purged by Khrushchev from high government and party posts three years ago.

Western newsmen and diplomats who investigated found no substantiation whatever in snowladen Moscow.

The Moscow Bureau of the Associated Press reported the Soviet capital gave every appearance of normality as its people prepared, in festive mood, for celebration Monday of the 43rd anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution.

As expected, Khrushchev's portrait led all the others except Lenin's in the array of pictures hoisted on shiny new red banners throughout the city. Tass said the premier Thursday night attended the showing of a film on his official visit to Austria last summer.

Vienna is a city notoriously fast with a rumor.

The rumors of a Soviet government upset had sped through Austrian government offices even before the Abend-Press, Vienna's only evening newspaper, came out.
