Slingin' Sue Leads Kappas to Victory

By WINNIE BOYLE

With slingin' Sue Rich leading the way, Kappa Kappa Gamma powdered Alpha Chi Omega, 10-0, Sunday at Beaver Stadium in the Powder Puff Bowl, an annual Nittany classic fast on its way to becoming a bigger drawing card than the Army-Navy game.

Rich, the Kappas' answer to Galen Hall, and Joan Zimmerman, an All-South Halls star, used the air lanes frequently despite an intermittent snowfall.

The hard-charging Kappa line didn't waste any time in bottling up the AChiO attack. After a series of punt exchanges the AChiO's found themselves deep in their own territory.

At this point the alert Kappa huskies charged savagely, rocked the AChiO linewomen back on the heels and threw a helpless halfback in the endzone for two points.

After the ensuing kickoff, the Kappas put together a sustained drive beginning on their own 40-yard line.

The kick was caught by Janie (Ankles) Flynn, who was hit by AChiO's Karlyn Shoemaker, a 138-pound defensive specialist.

On the next play Rich passed complete to Joan (Bomber) Miller, who twisted down the sideline to the 10-yard line.

Then the Kappa captain took to the air again, throwing to Flynn for the six-pointer.

Adding icing to the cake, Rich

Seven Coeds Selected to Run In WRA Finals

Seven women have been selected as WRA freshman candidates for the preliminary elections to be conducted today in all women's residence halls.

Four finalists will be chosen and the two representatives will be elected Thursday.

The candidates are: Janis Beachler, arts and letters from Pittsburgh; Winifred Boyle, education from Williamsport; Miriam Gilligan, education from State College; Mary Louise Dubin, arts and letters from Merion Station; Sara Lingenfelter, physical education from State College; Margery Rubin, physical education from Harrisburg, and Lorna Susan Sand, physical education from Montclair, N.J.

All freshman women are eligible to vote in the election and must present their matriculation cards in order to get a ballot.

The fall 1960 freshman class's standing was 97 per cent in the upper two-fifths of their high school class.

faked a pass for a two point conversion and rambled to paydirt unmolested.

The Alphas had an outstanding speedster in Debbie Gold, but thanks to the hard-hitting of Sue Smithson, the Alpha attack couldn't get going.

Grid sidelights . . . Over 500 fans cheered to the antics of sprightly cheerleaders from Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Phi Gamma Delta . . . A standing ovation lauded the performance of twirlers from both sororities. They were accompanied by the Navy ROTC band in the halftime show . . . The 100 dollars from the gate receipts was split by the participating sororities, who will use the money for charitable purposes.

Campus Party--

 to inform them of the situation. A petition will be presented to a representative of the General Assembly to be read at a regular session.

Eisman expressed the reasons for which the party had adopted a platform to go beyond the campus level. "If students don't feel the administration is working for their benefit and the benefit of Penn State they, as students and residents of Pennsylvania, have the right to take their appeals to a higher body; in this case the Governor and General Assembly," he said.

Liberals Endorse--

 the 22 available Assembly positions are, so far:

Freshman: Jon Young for class president and Mary Chess, Ruth Falk, Dale Harris, Peter Lemmer, T. Kenneth Reeves and Dale Scott for Assemblymen. The class president and eight freshman assembly positions will be vacant.

Sophomore: Frank Hugas, Max Lagally and Robert Braziloski for assemblymen. The class president and six assembly positions will be available.

Senior: William Novitsky for assemblyman. There will be two senior assembly positions vacant.

A MODEST PROPOSAL

A movement is afoot—a shocking, startling movement—to solve the problem of overcrowded colleges by the simple expedient of refusing admission to women at coeducational schools!

It is argued by proponents of this plan that in today's world a college education is absolutely essential for a man, while for a woman it is merely a pleasant interlude between adolescence and housewifery. There is simply not room enough for both men and women in our overburdened colleges; therefore, in all fairness, women who have far less need of a degree than men, must yield their places.

Well sir, when I heard this drastic proposal, I was so shocked that I sat right down and lit a Marlboro. I always sit right down and light a Marlboro when I am shocked. I also always sit right down and light a Marlboro when I am not shocked. There is no time, no condition, no mood, no estate when it isn't a source of soul-deep gratification to settle back and have a full-flavored smoke—Marlboro, the filtered cigarette with the unfiltered taste—Marlboro, the jewel of cigarettes—Marlboro, the pinnacle of the tobaccoist's art—Marlboro, my comfort, haven, and snug harbor.

Well sir, I sat smoking my Marlboro and thinking over the shocking proposal to keep women out of coed schools, and hoping fervently that another solution can be found. If the calamitous day ever comes when women are banned from coed colleges, I will gnash my teeth and rend my garments and take to my bed without supper. Like any other Marlboro man, I love women. I love the sight and sound of them, the cut of their jibs, their beauty and grace, their cunning little spitecurls, their sleek dimples, their middy blouses, their aura and effluvium. Moreover, I freely admit that when it comes to brainpower, they can give the average man cards and spades and big casino too. It would be a shame, a disgrace and a catastrophe to keep these beautiful, intelligent creatures out of college.

However, it is always wise in time of fair weather to prepare for foul. What if the advocates of keeping women out of college begin to gather strength? We who abhor this fiendish plan must be ready with a substitute . . . and it just so happens I have one—and a mighty ingenious little plan it is, if I say so myself.

Granted that classroom seats are in short supply, and granted that men need degrees more than women, it is still not necessary to bar women from college. Let them go to college but—here is the beauty part of my plan—don't let them go to class!

I love the sight and sound of them...

This solution, it seems to me, answers every requirement. It releases hundreds of thousands of classroom seats to needy males. At the same time, it does not deprive women of the rich and varied benefits of campus life. They can join sororities, shoot pool at the Union, build bonfires for Homecoming games, pour at the Dean's tea, plait daisies in their hair, organize drag races, sculpt in ice, hook rugs, walk their cheetahs, play Monopoly, find love—in short, they can do anything except go to class.

Tell the truth, girls: Is that bad?
