

Seniors Request Class Gift Ideas

All students and faculty members may offer suggestions for the senior class gift.

Marilyn Barndt, member of the Senior Class Gift Committee, said that since other classes will be benefiting from the gift, the committee would like all students to offer suggestions.

The senior class gift fund at present totals $5000.

Miss Barndt also said that money from former senior classes is available if permission from these classes could be secured. If a suggestion would merit additional funds the committee will attempt to secure this money, she said.

Gift suggestions can be turned in at the Hetzel Union desk.

Interpreting--

(Continued from page four) controlled Congress. Even the most liberal-minded of his followers would not demand that he beat his brains out before there is some clarification of what his relations with Congress will be.

It is more likely to be Congress than Kennedy which makes the revisions, if any.

The prospective attitude of Congress, however, must be weighed against the possibility of a strong popular demand for improved security programs if the business recession continues.

Analysis of the election returns is revealing the existence of more depressed areas in the country than had been realized.

Lion Harriers--

But in the IC4A's the Lions fell apart and never came close to catching the mighty Spartans who won the title by a wide margin.

Last year it was a different story when IC4A time came around. Penn State had a mediocre season with a 3-2 record and the experts didn't give them any chance to place in the top five.

But the Lions came through in the clutch and placed a surprising third behind Michigan State and Army.

Pante' Workshop--

The activities workshop will be led by Margaret McPherson, senior in arts and letters from New Park, and Mrs. John Gauss, convention marshall for Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority.

Ways of improving the pledge periods will be discussed in the pledge training workshop led by Sandra Slush, senior in education from Pittsburgh, and Miss Dorothy Vcon, province president of Kappa Delta sorority.

Nuclear Director Named

Forrest J. Remick, acting director of the nuclear reactor, has been named acting director of the Curtiss-Wright Nuclear Research Laboratory of the University and will be directly responsible for its operation and control.

Weather to Stay Fair

Generally fair weather should prevail throughout most of the weekend as a slow-moving high pressure cell continues to be the dominant weather feature in this area.

The prediction indicates partly cloudy and mild weather for today with a high of 52 degrees. Clear and chilly conditions are expected tonight and a minimum of 32 is forecast.

Tomorrow will be mostly cloudy, breezy and mild with a chance of showers late in the day.

SGA Report--

Constitution does not specify what action should be taken against members who are consistently absent. He said that the problem has been referred to the Reorganization and Evaluation Committee and that perhaps this group can propose a solution or a definite plan of action.
