

Upperclass Hours Given All Women

The sign-in time for both upperclass and freshmen women will be 11:30 p.m. Sunday through Thursday effective this Sunday.

This revision was passed last night by the Association of Women Students' Senate as a result of a recommendation presented to the Senate at their last meeting by the Reorganization Committee.

When this rule goes into effect on Sunday, freshmen will no longer be required to sign out when entertaining guests in residence lounges.

In other business, AWS passed a resolution stating that a request be sent to all residence staff members asking that sign-out sheets in lobbies be room-numbered daily.

In a move aimed at clarifying the junior residence program, AWS passed a resolution directing community councils to inform senior residents of their actions. The senior residents would relay the information to the junior residents to distribute among students.

Chairmen of the community councils are conducting a survey among students of their areas to determine popular feeling on 2 a.m. permissions for big weekends.

The few results that are in show students to be much in favor of the permission. Final results of all surveys will be presented to AWS Senate at their next meeting.

In the cultural line of business, the Senate voted to sponsor a luncheon series in which all women students would have a chance to meet at appointed times in the Hetzel Union Building for lunch to hear a guest speaker.

The Luncheon Series Committee, chaired by Virginia Henderson, will coordinate its activities with those of the community cultural committees.

The following appointments were made by president, Margaret McPherson: Linda Houston, food and housing chairman; Judith Hannigan, constitution committee chairman.

Mike and Rostrum Club To Present Mystery

"The Case of the Active Orators," a mystery in four acts, will be presented at 7:30 tonight in 213 Hetzel Union Building by the Mike and Rostrum Speech Club. The meeting is open to all students.

Four graduate students in speech will participate in the program. The students are Mary Ellen Savage, Barbara Lieb, Jack Brillhart and Donald Douglas.

Sunny Skies to Prevail

Cool air of Pacific origin will blanket the local area today providing sunny skies and rather pleasant temperature readings for this time of year.

Today will be sunny and cool with afternoon temperature readings near 54 degrees.

Partly cloudy and cooler weather is expected tonight. The minimum temperature should be about 34 degrees.

3rd Party Platform Will Be Drawn Up

Liberal party is in the process of drawing up a platform even though its charter application has been rejected by the Senate Committee on Student Affairs, Richard Snyder, party chairman, announced last night.

The party is still waiting for a reply to the letter it sent to the committee, Snyder said. In the letter, party officers asked the committee what was actually required of them for a charter.

Snyder said that the party's platform will come before the membership at its next meeting. The main planks were discussed at the last meeting, he said, and the committee is now polishing them up for a presentation.

So far, the platform will center on four main points, Wayne Ulsch, platform chairman, said. The points that the proposed platform would provide legislation for are:

- A cooperative non-profit, student-run bookstore.

- The setting up of a committee to rule on off-campus housing standards. This committee would provide a recommended housing list.

- A regular series of forums between administrators and the student body. Under this plan, informed administrators would be asked to discuss campus problems and answer questions put to them by the students.

- An evaluation of Library facilities, with better student orientation towards them as one of the goals.

Voluntary ROTC was discussed as a platform possibility at the last party meeting, but it was rejected. "The students have such a sarcastic attitude about SGA's inability to cope with this situation, it would be a mistake to include this as a plank," Snyder said.

Other points the committee is considering for a platform are an objective body to investigate such things as residence hall thefts and to determine whether or not the particular hall should be assessed for them; more free phones that are capable of calling downtown on campus.

Council Postpones Tea

The freshman student-faculty tea, planned for Dec. 4, has been postponed, the freshman council advisory board announced.

Nancy Barnhart, chairman of the committee, said the project will be completed when the new freshman advisory council is elected Dec. 1.

BA Council Will Study Dead K-Rule

Business Administration Student Council President Larry Abrams urged the council to study the problem created by the absence of the 'K' rules in the University Senate Regulations for undergraduates at the council's regular meeting held last night.

According to Abrams, serious problems have arisen since the rules were abolished, and the general statement of policy released by the Senate has not proved effective. The statement suggested that the instructor encourage attendance and determine the relation between class attendance and grade assignment.

Several council members cited cases where professors have not honored excuses previously considered valid by the University and they reported that students have not been allowed to make up work they were earlier permitted to make up.

After some discussion, it was decided that action on the matter should be delayed until a later date.

Teacher Exams To Be Given At University

The University has been designated as a testing center for the 1961 administration of the National Teacher Examinations, Dr. Andrew V. Kozak, associate professor of secondary education at the University, said yesterday.

The National Teacher Examinations, prepared and administered annually by the Educational Testing Service, will be given on Feb. 11.

College seniors preparing to teach in school systems which require applicants to submit their scores on the National Teacher Examinations are eligible to take the tests. This examination will give prospective teachers in the area an opportunity to compare their performance with approximately 10,000 candidates who will be participating.

In addition to the common examinations, which are to be taken by all applicants, each candidate may take one or two of the thirteen optional examinations in order to demonstrate mastery of subject matter in specific fields.

The Bulletin of Information describing registration procedures and also an application may be obtained from Dr. Andrew V. Kozak, 311 Burrowes, or from the National Teacher Examinations, Educational Testing Service, 20 Nassau St., Princeton, N.J. Completed applications will be accepted by the ETS until Jan. 13.

In 1861, the first class graduated from Penn State. Eleven students received the degree of bachelor of scientific agriculture.
