

Two Students May Win Tour In CARE Contest

That entry blank you take from a Vicks CARE Crusade poster on campus may be a round-trip ticket to Europe in disguise, for, two American college students, their identity as yet unknown, will visit Italy, Greece, France and Turkey next spring as people-to-people ambassadors for CARE.

They will be selected through the Vicks Care Crusade, a contest being conducted nationally by Vicks Chemical Company and supported on 319 campuses by Alpha Phi Omega, national men's service fraternity.

According to Robert Nichter, APhiO crusade chairman, the contest sponsors aim to raise $1 million in donations accompanying entry blanks. The money will be used to further CARE's relief work abroad, Nichter said.

To enter the contest, you must complete in 25 words or less: "Americans should CARE about their neighbors abroad because..." and contribute a minimum of 50 cents to CARE.

Entry blanks are available at bulletin boards in the residence halls and the Hetzel Union Building. Entries must be postmarked on or before midnight Nov. 26.

Seniors to Work On Commencement

The Senior Class Advisory Board will form a committee to work with the administration on the graduation ceremony. Although there was no discussion on the issue there was agreement that a committee to express the views of the seniors should be formed.

Those interested in working on the committee should contact Marshall Sneiderman, member of the board.
