

'Peace-Loving' Neutrals Fight Mobutu Boots Diplomats Out of Congolese Arena

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Determined to maintain his strongman role in the Congo, Col. Joseph Mobutu yesterday ordered the entire diplomatic staff of Ghana to get out of the country by Monday. The United Nations command said it could not interfere.

Kasavubu Wins In U.N. Battle

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Congo President Joseph Kasavubu yesterday won the first round in his fight for a seat in the UN General Assembly. It bolstered considerably his chances of ultimate victory.

The possibility of victory came on a motion by Ghana in the 99-nation assembly demanding adjournment without considering a recommendation of the Assembly's Credentials Committee to seat a delegation headed by Kasavubu.

Ghana sought to delay until an Asian-African conciliation commission tries for an on-the-spot reconciliation between the forces of Kasavubu and the man he deposed as premier, Patrice Lumumba.

But the Asian-African bloc split on the motion and it was defeated by a vote of 51 against, 36 in favor of and 11 abstentions.

This was a far wider victory margin than expected by the United States and other Western supporters of Kasavubu. Western sources were confident he would win by as much or more when the Assembly votes on the committee's recommendation.

Ten newly admitted African members of the French community voted against adjournment, as did four other members of the Asian-African bloc — Japan, the Philippines, Thailand and Turkey. Abstainers included Cambodia, Iran, Jordan, Laos, Lebanon, Liberia, Pakistan, Somalia, and Upper Volta.

The chief target of Mobutu's anger is Nathaniel Welbeck, Ghanaian charge d'affaires who has openly acted as political adviser to deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba. Mobutu is prevented from arresting Lumumba only by a UN guard posted around the ex-premier's villa.

The development came as the United Nations found itself dangerously enmeshed in pitiless tribal warfare in secessionist Katanga Province. There, the fierce Baluba tribesmen loyal to Lumumba spread to south Katanga and the United Nations was forced to throw in heavy reinforcements.

The feud of Mobutu and his pro-Western supporters with the Ghana diplomats is of long standing and broke into the open early in October.

Only Tuesday night, Mobutu's soldiers arrested Lovelace Mensan, third secretary of Ghana's embassy. He was accused of trying to take money and plans for an invasion of Katanga to Lumumba. Katanga President Moise Tshomba is an old foe of Lumumba. Welbeck at the time called the accusation a fabrication.

Mobutu's ally, President Joseph Kasavubu, had declared Welbeck persons non grata—unacceptable—last month. But Welbeck appealed to the United Nations and stayed on, guarded in his residence and embassy by Ghana troops.

The UN Command at that time told Kasavubu and Mobutu it would not permit the forcible expulsion of the Ghanaian diplomats. Now, without explanation, the command has switched positions.

Phouma, Leftists Will Square-Off Against Rightists

VIENTIANE, Laos, (AP) — Faced with the mounting strength of rightist rebels, neutralist Premier Souvanna Phouma agreed yesterday to take the Communist-led Pathet Lao into a coalition regime.

Then Souvanna took off for San Noua in northeast Laos, apparently to confer with Prince Souvanna Vong, his half-brother who leads the Pathet Lao.

Once before, when he was entrusted with the premiership in 1956, Souvanna patched up a truce with his half-brother that halted the civil war for a time.

But now his approach to the Pathet Lao may only intensify civil strife. Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, head of the rightist rebel regime, has sworn to drive the Pathet Lao guerrillas from this Asian kingdom.

The hard-pressed premier appeared to be turning toward the Communists because of the pressure from Phoumi, who, he charges, is backed by the United States.

A communique announcing agreement to the formation of a coalition government did not say when it would be formed or give the extent of Pathet Lao participation.

The government said it will appeal to Communist China and Communist North Viet Nam for economic aid.

Integration Remains In Orleans Schools

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Three federal judges refused yesterday to decide immediately whether to return segregation to the public schools. They left integration to the law in this strife-torn southern city.

The judges adjourned a three-hour hearing with all integration orders intact. They indicated a ruling on the massive assembly of litigation surrounding the five-day-old school integration is likely in a few days.

While integration was still in effect, New Orleans hoped for a week of surcease and quiet. The state's public schools will be closed next week while teachers attend a state convention. The school break extends through the Thanksgiving holidays.

The possibility was raised that the following Monday — Nov. 28 — could see integration extended to New Orleans' large Catholic parochial school system as well.

The New Orleans States-Item said yesterday the Catholic schools will admit Negro pupils to the first grade on that date if public schools remain integrated.

Catholic officials, however, quickly replied that no date had been set.

Chrysler Suspends DeSoto Production

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. finally gave up yesterday on the DeSoto and announced suspension of production of the medium-price car, effective Nov. 30. In the 32 years since it was introduced by Walter Chrysler, DeSoto has sold just over two million cars. One million still are in operation. But sales dropped spectacularly after 1957 and had dwindled almost into oblivion in recent months.

The corporation blamed shifts in market patterns, the general buying trend away from the medium price field in favor of less expensive, economy-type cars.

But shifts within the Chrysler family of cars indicate the corporation had planned well in advance for the final discontinuance.

CIA Director Dulles Briefs Kennedy On Communist Menace in Caribbean

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — range aircraft on patrol in response to appeals from Guatemala and Nicaragua. Dulles and Bissell brought two large folders, presumably containing maps, charts and top secret documents, to the president-elect's ocean-front vacation retreat. The three men sat in the sun in lawn chairs, looking out over the Atlantic for the 2-hour, 40-minute briefing.

Both Kennedy and Dulles were silent on their appraisal of Caribbean trouble spots.

Kennedy had asked them to do so even before President Eisenhower ordered an aircraft carrier, four destroyers and two long-
