

Needy, Orphaned Children To Be Treated with Parties

University students will be entertaining orphaned and needy children at several Christmas parties during the next week.

The Independent Student Association will host a "Project Joey" party for 50 children from St. Mary's and St. John's Orphanage in Cresson from 1 to 6 p.m. tomorrow in the Hetzel Union ballroom.

The children will arrive on busses and be greeted by students who will act as big sisters and brothers to them for the entire day.

Santa Claus will visit the party and present each child with a gift, and in reciprocation the children will sing Christmas carols.

Pictures of "Project Joey" will be taken and will be shown during the Christmas holidays over

WFBG-TV Altoona and WJAC-TV Johnstown.

Many fraternities and sororities are planning combined Christmas parties for underprivileged children from State College and the vicinity.

Combined Christmas parties will be held next week by the following sororities and fraternities: Alpha Omicron Pi sorority and Theta Xi fraternity; Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority and Delta Upsilon fraternity; Kappa Alpha Theta sorority and Beta Theta Pi fraternity; Gamma Phi Beta sorority and Phi Kappa Tau fraternity.

Alpha Phi sorority and Pi Kappa Phi fraternity will have Miss Pennsylvania, Priscilla Mae Hendrickson, as their guest.
