

Walker to Speak On University Plans

Seniors will get a first-hand picture of the progress of the University and of plans for the next five or ten years if plans for the first "President's Report" go through as scheduled.

President Eric A. Walker will speak to all seniors at 7 p.m. Feb. 22 in Schwab in the first "farewell address" they are likely to hear. The program is being sponsored by members of Lion's Paw and will be open only to seniors.

Walker will speak on various areas of campus interest, according to James Ettleson, a member of Lion's Paw. The program is designed to give the president a chance to talk informally to seniors about things happening at the University, he added.

This will be the first time the president has spoken to the student body about the progress of the University in such a manner. It was originally planned that the speech would be open to all interested students and would be carried by radio and the news services all over the state, Ettleson said.

However, the program later had to be limited to seniors because of the seating capacity of Schwab and news coverage of the speech had to be limited to allow flexibility for the president to choose his topics, Ettleson said.

The program will be taped so that portions of it may be used later if this is declared desirable, he added.

Walker is expected to speak on such topics as the proposed expansion of the University's population to 25,000 by 1970, residence and interest group expansion and matters of the general role of the University in the future.

Cars May Park at Dorms For Loading Luggage Today

Student cars will be permitted to park near residence halls for a short time beginning at noon today and continuing to noon of Jan. 4.

This new plan is to enable students to load and unload luggage more conveniently while leaving campus and returning from vacation.

Cars bearing green and yellow stickers may park in all parking lots near residence halls for 20 minutes, except in those lots inside the area bounded by Shortlidge, Burrows and Curtin Rds.

Parking for more than 20 minutes will be considered a violation of the parking regulations.

A. E. Diem, vice president for business administration, said that the plan is experimental and that it will be reconsidered for each vacation period if students cooperate. In order to avoid jams-ups and to keep traffic moving smoothly, stop-and-go driving will not be permitted along the roads near residence halls, he said.

Any other regulations concerning parking and traffic will remain the same during this period.

Miller Vies for Position In Professors' Council

Dr. E. Willard Miller, professor and head of the Department of Geography, is a candidate for the national council of the American Association of University Professors from District IX.

Dr. Miller, who was president of the Penn State chapter, is the first candidate from the University for the national council in almost 20 years. The election will be held by mail ballot early in the year.

Penn State has the largest flower test gardens in the United States.
