

Funds for Library Doubled This Year

Nineteen hundred sixty-one will be the best year the library has ever had since twice the usual amount of funds are available to purchase books and periodicals, Ralph J. McComb, librarian, said yesterday.

Ag Council To Review Pavilion Use

The Agriculture Student Council voted last night to appoint a committee to investigate the conversion of the Stock Judging Pavilion into a Theatre Arts building.

The matter was first brought to the attention of the council by Dr. Tukey, adviser of the Horticulture Club.

A suggestion that "perhaps theater arts would like to trade Schwab for the stock pavilion" was made by Richard Lauver, junior in agricultural education from Thompsonstown.

In further business the council approved the motion that David Johnson, sophomore in pre-veterinary medicine from Nottingham, be removed from council. A member can be removed from council by missing two meetings without sending an alternate.

Johnson had missed six out of seven meetings without sending an alternate to any of them.

The council also voted to support the giving of Penn State blazers to the Russian Gymnastic Team. It decided to donate $20 to the fund.

Heller Appointed Art School Head

Dr. Jules Heller, professor of fine arts and chairman of the Department of Fine Arts at the University of Southern California, has been named professor of art and director of the School of the Arts.

The appointment, approved at the weekend meeting of the Board of Trustees, will become effective June 1.

He succeeds Dr. Albert W. Christ-Janer, who served as director of the School of the Arts from 1956 until 1958 when he resigned to become dean of the Art School at Pratt Institute. In the interim, Dr. Ben Euwema, dean of the College of the Liberal Arts, has been serving as acting director of the school.

Buildings Cost Housing Most Money

By KAREN HYNCKEAL
Paying for and maintaining the buildings on campus is the largest expenditure on Housing and Food Service's budget according to a recently released breakdown chart.

The chart was given to The Daily Collegian by Albert E. Diem, vice president for business affairs and is based on a percentage breakdown of the service's 1960-61 budget.

Monetary values corresponding to the percentages were not disclosed.

Diem said that he hoped it would help to answer students' questions concerning the use of monies paid by them for Food and Housing Services.

The largest division, the payment of buildings, includes payment of principal and interest on mortgage (bond issue) including reserve for equipment replacement and major maintenance. According to the chart, 37.33 per cent of the income is spent in this field.

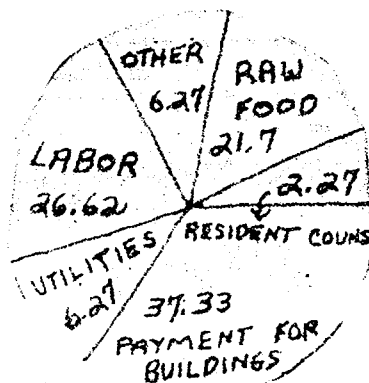

Labor costs including administrative, clerical and technical service labor, account for 26.62 per cent of the budget.

Raw food purchases other than those for the Hetzel Union Building cost Housing and Food Service 21.17 per cent.

A miscellaneous division entitled "Other" includes laundry, paper and cleaning supplies, trash and garbage removal, replacement of china, glassware and silverware, minor building repairs and maintenance, office supplies and transportation. Approximately 6.34 per cent of the budget is spent on these items.

Utilities such as gas, electricity, steam, water, telephone and sewage account for 6.27 per cent of the budget.

Salaries and miscellaneous expenses in connection with the resident counseling program cost Housing and Food Service 2.27 per cent this year.

Diem said that little reduction in costs in several divisions, such as the cost of raw food, could be expected but that through added cooperation on the part of students substantial savings could be effected.

He added that a reduction in maintenance, replacement costs for china, glassware and furnishings in general, and in utilities and labor could be accomplished with student help and respect for the University services and property.
