

Cagers Stop Bullets, 76-58

Trueblood, Harris, DuMars Pace Win

By SANDY PADWE

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Jan. 12—Either Gettysburg's 8-2 record was a fluke, or Penn State has a mighty fine basketball team.

Playing their best game of the year, the Lions trounced the Bullets here tonight, 76-58, and more than made up for Tuesday's 71-67 loss to Bucknell.

The win raised State's seasonal mark to 7-5 and set the stage for Saturday's all-important meeting with Army at West Point.

A tight defense and superior board strength made the difference tonight.

The Bullets had trouble getting good shots and even when they did, nothing seemed to drop.

They connected on only 31 per cent of their shots compared to 43 per cent for Penn State.

In rebounding, Gene Harris constantly swept both boards and set the pattern for teammates Jake Trueblood and Earl Hoffman. Harris had 17 rebounds to lift his total to 55 in the last four games.

Trueblood took scoring honors for State with 18, but Mark DuMars with 17 and Harris with 16 were right behind.

The Lions dominated the game from the opening minutes and built up a 27-20 halftime lead.

They got hot at the beginning of the second half and didn't cool off until Coach John Egli cleared the bench with State ahead 68-45 and four minutes left.

er had one of their poorer nights of the campaign. Warner, the Middle Atlantic Conference scoring champion, had 17 points while Parker had 13.

They usually average nearly 45 points a game. Gettysburg, now 8-3, will be idle until Jan. 21 when it meets the high-flying St. Joseph Hawks here.

Unitas Will Lead West In Pro Bowl Sunday

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Johnny Unitas said yesterday he's looking forward to Sunday's pro bowl game and what may be his last quarterback duel with Norm Van Brocklin.

"I'm sorry to see Van Brocklin retire. He's a great one," said Unitas, who pilots the West in the annual postseason donnybrook for National Football League all-stars.

Lion Matmen, Big Red Fight For 3rd Place Honors in East

By JIM KARL

Cornell's matmen aren't mentioned in any national polls, but they are ranked as high as third in the East by some observers.

Penn State will try to prove otherwise when the two clash at Ithaca, N.Y. tomorrow night.

Cornell, State and Rutgers are generally conceded to follow Lehigh and Pitt as the top squads in this section.

Although Cornell, like the Lions, has a 2-2 record, its losses were to Pitt and Lehigh.

The Big Red successfully opened defense of its Ivy League crown after losing their season opener to Lehigh. They whipped Yale, 29-7, and then followed with a 23-10 victory over Penn.

Cornell, with nine other meets scheduled after Penn State, has one of the toughest wrestling cards in the nation.

Of its 14 dual-meets, seven are with teams outside the Ivy League.

Besides Lehigh, Pitt and Penn State, Cornell meets Colgate, Minnesota, Iowa State and Mankato State.

Wrestling at the New York school has been highly successful the last few years.

The 1958 Cornell team had a 9-1 dual meet record, losing only to Lehigh. The Big Red won the Eastern title at Pittsburgh that year with 64 points.

The 1959 squad which was third in the Easterns had an 11-1 dual meet record, losing only to Iowa State.

Last year Cornell was 10-1, losing only to Penn State (22-8). However, they only placed fourth in the Easterns at Princeton.

Coach Jimmy Miller has 11 lettermen back from last year, including EIWA 157-pound champion Al Marion.

Marion, who captains the Big Red squad, was 11-0 in dual meet competition last year. He lost in the third round of the NCAA tourney after pinning his first two opponents.

Jared Barlow, a five-foot four-inch junior, is Miller's starter at 123. Barlow was 3-8 last year and has a 2-1-1 log so far this season.

Wilmot Carter will go for Cornell at 130. He was 2-1 last year and is 2-2 this season. Bob Jones, also 2-2 for the season, will wrestle at 137. He was 3-4 last year.

Dick Giustra, 2-1 this year, operates at 147. He was 5-4 in 1960.

Sophomore Pete Cummings, 2-2 this year, usually wrestles at 157, but Miller may switch him and Marion if Ron Pifer goes at 157 for State.

Allen Rose, Miller's 177-pounder, was 6-1 last year but has yet to win in two outings this season.

Phil Oberlander, 2-1 this year, had a 10-0-1 record last year and placed third in the Easterns.

George Loveless will wrestle heavyweight for Cornell. He is 0-2 on the season, losing 13-3 to Pitt's Bob Guzik in his last match.

Four of Miller's nine starters are products of Ithaca High School. There are three other former Ithaca wrestlers on the squad.

What's Coming Next-- Captain Dick Groatvale?

PITTSBURGH (AP) — First a ball park and now a street — what's next to be named after Dick Groat, captain of the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates?

Borough councilmen from nearby Swissvale voted unanimously to change the name of Lower Hampton Street to Dick Groat Street in honor of their home town hero.

Last year, the council renamed the borough's little league ball park Dick Groat Field.

Grimm Joins Cubs' Board of Coaches

CHICAGO (AP) — Charlie Grimm, a three-time manager of the Chicago Cubs, and Verlon Walker, a club employe since 1948, yesterday were named to the Cubs' unique board of coaches.

They were the sixth and seventh men appointed to a proposed eight-member coaching staff from which the 1961 Cub field manager apparently will emerge. Immediately, there was speculation that Grimm might be tapped for a fourth term as Cub field boss.

Owner P. K. Wrigley said, at a complex news conference, that the eventual Cub leader (Wrigley disdains the term "manager") will be determined in spring training.

"One man will emerge as the leader," said Wrigley, who added he would not appoint any particular top man, asserting this would come about "automatically."

Grimm, 62, also one of three Cub vice presidents, said he was not interested in becoming field manager, "head coach," or whatever title the 1961 Cub leader may carry.

Vikings Get Shaw From New York

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — George Shaw, a gifted passer hounded by misfortune throughout a six-year National League career, joined the new Minnesota Vikings as their No. 1 quarterback.

The 27-year-old former Oregon star was dealt to the Vikings by the New York Giants in exchange for Minnesota's No. 1 draft selection next fall.

"We had to have a top veteran quarterback to get off the ground and we've got him," said Vikings General Manager Bert Rose. "He's one of the finest passers in the league."

Baltimore Colt General Manager Don Kelleff, in town to try to sign Tom Brown, the University of Minnesota's lineman of the year, concurred.

"You've scored a strike," Kelleff told owners of the fledgling pro team. "This fellow's going to be a terrific asset."

Shaw started out that way with Baltimore six years ago but, after a superb rookie season, ran into a knee injury and a newcomer named Johnny Unitas in 1956.
