

Symphony Members Like Jazz, Classics

Concerning the ever-present controversy as what's best—classical or jazz music, a large percentage of musicians of the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra offer the ideal solution. They do both!

The Orchestra will perform at 8 p.m. Sunday in Recreation Hall under the direction of William Steinberg. Tickets for the performance remain at the Hetzel Union desk.

AWS OK's Hat Society 'Date' Night

A Penny-a-Minute Date Night to be held this spring was approved unanimously by the Association of Women Students Senate in a meeting last night.

The date night is to be sponsored jointly by all the women's hat societies. The proceeds of the project will be divided among the societies for operating expenses.

Fraternity houses have agreed to remain open until 2 a.m. that night. A date has not yet been scheduled.

On the Penny-a-Minute night, a Saturday, two o'clock permissions will prevail, provided each girl's date pays a penny for each minute after 1 a.m. that she stays out.

Hat society women will take charge of sign-ins that night in order to alleviate the extra hour of work for residence hall staffs.

In other business, the senate passed a set of standard penalties recently drawn up by the AWS Central Judicial board.

The penalties, which will be printed and distributed to all women students, involve penalties for faulty sign-out and sign-in procedure, fire drill violations, failure to take withdrawals within the required time period and failure to report before a judicial board when notified.

Approximately five members of the University AWS Senate and Dean of Women Dorothy J. Lipp will attend the National convention of AWS which will be held April 3 to 9 at the University of Wisconsin, Margaret McPherson, AWS president, announced.

The next meeting of AWS to be held Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. in room 203 Hetzel Union will be an open meeting. All women students are invited to attend.

A workshop on parliamentary procedure for members of the senate will be held on March 8. Dr. Robert E. Dunham, instructor of speech, will be the speaker.

A recent visitor to a concert of the Orchestra stopped in to a suburban jazz spot on his way home and nearly swallowed his olive when he noticed the jazz combo swinging on the bandstand.

There, beating out the rhythm for a new jazz tune was the very same bass player he had seen one hour before playing the music of Gustav Mahler to the exacting demands of William Steinberg.

Joe Wallace, the bass player, can't understand why young people today refuse to try classical music.

"I play the classics because I like to and I play jazz for the same reason. Music is music and no matter how you slice it, the good musician as well as the good listener ought to be able to enjoy both to the fullest," he said.

Wayne Pascuzzi, percussionist for the Orchestra, can play a difficult Webern chime part to the complete satisfaction of William Steinberg and at the next minute seat himself at the traps and thrill dancers with his jazz ability.

Trumpet player Frank Ostrowski alternates his efforts between the Orchestra and a combo in the Catskills during the summer.

Bob Leininger, another bass player, toured the country with Les Brown's band before joining the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra, while Bernard Cerelli, clarinetist, can be seen at almost any off hour playing with various combos in the Pittsburgh area.

PSU Enters African Program

The University has enrolled in the African Scholarship Program of American Universities to bring about 200 African students to the United States during the next academic year.

The program will be initiated next year with the admission of at least one African student to the University.

Candidates for the scholarship will be nominated by the program's special selection committee. They must, however, meet the University's admission standards. The University may also determine whether or not the scholarship will be a 4-year grant. The decision will depend on the student's academic performance.

Field agents in each of the cooperating African countries will work with the African-American Institute in handling student applications. African educational leaders will serve on the boards to select the students who will study in America.

All colleges and universities cooperating in the plan will provide tuition and fees for the student. The International Cooperation Administration will provide living expenses and the student's country will be responsible for his transportation.

The purpose of the plan is to give American universities an opportunity to aid in the training of responsible African leaders.

Under the program, which began last year in 24 colleges and universities, 24 Nigerian students are now enrolled in American schools.

Eighty colleges and universities in 28 states and the District of Columbia are now cooperating in the plan. Other Pennsylvania colleges and universities enrolled in the plan are Bryn Mawr College, Bucknell University, Haverford College, Lafayette College, University of Pennsylvania and Swarthmore College.

Valentine SPECIAL:

Box of assorted Spring Flowers only $2

FOR VALENTINES OUT OF TOWN SEND FLOWERS BY WIRE

Woodrings Flowers

117 E. Beaver Ave.

AD 8-0566

Love in Elementary Grades

by Dr. Broderick

A. C. E.

Thursday, 7 p.m.

February 9, 1961

Living Center

Home Ec. So.

FINANCE CLUB MEETING

7:30 FEBRUARY 9 at Lambda Chi Alpha

Speaker: Mr. Phillip Faris . . . IBM Topic: Business Machines and Their Use in Finance

ALSO NOMINATIONS OF OFFICERS

Refreshments to Follow Meeting

When Can I Get Tickets For the RAY CHARLES CONCERT?

If You're a Jazz Club Member There Will Be An Advanced Sale of Tickets Tonight!!!

A Special Jazz Club Meeting Will Be Held Tonight at 7 p.m. in 10 Sparks Building.

Members Tickets For The Ground Floor of Rec Hall Will Be Only . . . $1.00

We Cannot Guarantee Anymore Members Tickets After Tonight

JAZZ CLUB MEMBERSHIPS WILL BE SOLD AT THIS MEETING NON-MEMBER TICKETS GO ON SALE THIS FRIDAY

PENN STATE JAZZ CLUB