

Students to Apply For NYU Grants

Outstanding students from campuses in all 50 states are currently applying for the Root-Tilden Scholarship Program of the New York University's School of Law. The deadline for the applications is Feb. 24.

Approximately a month after all the applications have

Pgh. Panhel To Give 2 Scholarships

Wendelyn Pass, president of Panhellenic Council, announced Wednesday that two scholarships have been made available by the Pittsburgh Panhellenic Council. The scholarships are for $200 each.

Any sophomore or junior woman who is a member of an active sorority chapter of National Panhellenic Council and a resident of Pittsburgh or lives within a 30 mile radius of the city is eligible.

The scholarships will be awarded on the basis of the candidate's contributions to her sorority and to the University and her financial need. Applicants must have an All-University average of 3.00 or above.

Applications can be obtained from Miss Pass.

Scholarships are also available from Kappa Kappa Gamma, according to Constance Adler, president. One type of scholarship is available to graduate and undergraduate women for training in rehabilitation. This type amounts to $500, and is open to all women who have completed two years of study.

Another form of scholarship for an amount up to $400 is available to any undergraduate woman who has completed two years of study. Another scholarship is in the form of $500 grants for foreign students wishing to study in the United States.

The Kappa Kappa Gamma scholarships will be awarded on the basis of financial need, scholarship standing and past achievement. Applications are available from the dean of women's office and from Denise Fife, Kappa Kappa Gamma scholarship chairman.

Miss Pass has also announced the winners of the two $100 Panhellenic scholarships offered earlier in the year. They are: Janice Wanner, junior in home economics from Shoemakersville and Sandra Baker, junior in arts and letters from Langhorne.

HUB Displays Camera Club Contest Entries

All entries in the annual Camera Club contest, including this year's winning photos are now on display on the first floor of the Hetzel Union Building.

The contest which was open to all members, required entrants to take, print, develop and mount their photographs. Each member was permitted to enter two pictures in each of five categories—still life, portrait, action, scenic and open (or general).

Judges were Robert Breon of the Penn State Photo Shop and Robert S. Beese, assistant in the photography agricultural station.

The winners in the scenic category are first, Lawrence Epstein; second, Ernest Stonebroker; third, Tom Egger and honorable mention, Epstein.

In the action group, they are first, Epstein, second, Michael Griffin, third, J. Phillip Rea and honorable mention, Epstein. In the portrait group, first prize went to Bodek, second to Stonebroker, third to William Nelson and honorable mention to Bodek.

The still life class winners are first, Rea, second, Stonebroker, third, William Jackson and honorable mention Epstein. In the open competition, first prize went to Egger, second to Epstein, third to Griffin and honorable mention to Epstein.

Pink and black were State's first school colors in 1887.

Senate OK's Report--

(Continued from page one) They would also make it necessary to have more instructors in the non-technical areas, especially on Commonwealth campuses. The motion was carried, however, after Hutchinson said that he felt nothing could be done to implement the program successfully until the policy was passed.

been received and studied, two applicants in each of the 10 federal judicial circuits will be chosen to receive $7890 grants that cover tuition, room, board and living expenses for three years of law study at NYU.

Winners of the present competition will begin classes next September.

To be eligible for the scholarship a student must be an unmarried, male citizen of the United States who is in the upper quarter of his graduating class.

He must receive a baccalaureate degree prior to the commencement of his law school training and must take the Law School Admission Test.

Other requirements state that he must be between the ages of 20 and 28 at the time he begins studies and must not have attended any law school previously.

The 20 students who do receive scholarship grants will live together in a new dormitory at NYU. They will receive personnel contacts with leaders in industry, the legal profession and public affairs and each will have a practicing attorney or judge as a sponsor.

Candidates may apply from either their native state or the state in which they attended college.
