

Religious Staff Expands Offices

Through the University Office of Religious Affairs staff members have now established office hours in West Halls, McElwain-Simmons and Nittany-Pollock living communities on an experimental basis.

Personnel will be available for counseling with individual students and student groups and will also refer them to the chaplains of their own faiths.

Under the new program they will also act as advisors to student religious affairs committees which will be part of the men's and women's councils in each area. These committees will take charge of planning educational programs on various aspects of religion and religious culture. The student committee functioning in McElwain-Simmons has already organized forum discussions.

CONTROL SYSTEMS:
ORDERS FROM A COMPUTER
NOW CONTROL
GIANT OIL REFINERY UNIT

Every 24 hours, the world's largest distillation unit separates crude oil into ten different categories which end up as six million gallons of finished products.

This involves continual monitoring of 196 instruments, followed by precise balancing of controls. To operate at peak efficiency, control directions are changed seventy-two times daily to compensate for a multitude of variables.

The IBM computer that recently took over this job now reads the instruments, makes the calculations, and issues the orders for the control changes. It is guided in its work by 75,000 instructions stored in its electronic memory.

Just a few years ago electronic control of such a complex

Industrial process would have been impossible. But such is the progress in computer systems that in the sixties it will become commonplace.

This dramatic progress means exciting and important jobs at IBM for the college graduate, whether in research, development, manufacturing, or programming.

If you want to find out about opportunities in any one of these areas, you are invited to talk with the IBM representative. He will be interviewing on your campus this year. Your placement office can make an appointment. Or write, outlining your background and interests, to: Mgr. of Technical Employment, Dept. 898, IBM Corp., 590 Madison Ave., New York 22, N. Y.

IBM will interview February 22-24
