

Improvements Noted In Judicial Boards

By JOANNE MARK
Fourth of a Series

The local and Central Judicial Boards have come a long way since the system was initiated this fall, according to Linda Callan, senior resident in Pollock 3.

"First semester nothing went well with the community living program, because it was something new," Miss Callan said.

"But, since the second semester began, everything is perking up, judicial included," she continued. "I attended a meeting of the Central Board last week and was very impressed with the job the board is doing," she said.

Beginning this fall a local judicial board was set up in each community. Each board is chaired by a member of Central Judicial.

The local boards handle minor infractions and cases particular to the community.

Cases of serious misconduct and appeal are handled by the Central Board. It also handles cross-community cases in which the same offense is committed in two or more communities.

Cases involving morals or legal questions are handled by the dean of women or by the Senate Committee on Student Affairs, Subcommittee on Discipline, according to recent clarifications of judicial procedures.

Mrs. Marian Davison, assistant to the dean of women, commented, "From all reports the local judicial boards are handling the cases individually and responsibly. They are doing an excellent job."

"Our case load has decreased tremendously since the local boards came into existence," Patricia Dyer, chairman of the Central Judicial Board, said.

"This problem was dealt with in an emergency meeting and the trouble was remedied," she said.

"We feel that with the revised AWS Rules and clarifications of judicial procedure, which the board has been working on for the past few weeks, the women will have a better idea of what is expected of them," Miss Dyer said.

Student Released After Questioning About Burglaries

A student was picked up and then released yesterday by State College police in connection with the rash of burglaries in the borough.

The student, Police said, was suspected of stealing two tires with rims from a garage on "D" Alley behind the 200 Block of S. Allen St. This was the latest in a series of five burglaries within the past week in which approximately $1300 in cash and goods have been taken, police reported.

The hardest hit business, according to State College police, was Penn Hardware which lost $338 in cash and items worth around $340. The stolen items included a pair of $50 field glasses and four rifles; a Winchester .32, a Winchester .3030, and two Remington .22's.

McClellan Chevrolet Inc., 642 E. College Ave., reported $127 missing. College Auto Inc., 121 S. Burrows St., listed $27 stolen. Twenty cases of beer and seven cases of soda pop were taken from Nittany Beverage, a police spokesman said.

Police report that they have no lead on the burglaries.

SAGA IN THE MUD—With the spring-like weather turning the campus into a sea of mud, students like Ilene Langsam, junior in education from Philadelphia, learned the hard way that the shortest path is not always the quickest. At the left she starts bravely across, loses her shoe and then regains her composure and slops on.

Main Repaired, Water Flowing

The broken water main at University Drive and Entrance Road was repaired hours before schedule last night, according to Albert E. Diem, vice president in charge of business administration.

"It was a relief to University officials to have the line repaired," Diem said. "Since it was our main source of water, it drained our supply drastically. If there had been a major fire on campus, we would have been in trouble," he added.

At one point there were only 400,000 gallons of water in the University tanks, Diem said. The normal amount is usually well over a million gallons.

Although the line has been repaired, the excavation has yet to be filled in, Diem said. Maintenance men will continue to work on that today.

Wright to Talk Sunday

Gordon Wright, author and lecturer, will speak and show films on the United States Equestrian team, the Olympic games and horsemanship at 8 p.m. Sunday in the Home Economics auditorium.

Through the Looking Glass

with Gabbi

Hello everybody!

Spring seems to be coming to Penn State at last, and the monsoon season is arriving in good form along with it. If you haven't been to Ethel's lately, be sure to make the scene. Ethel has many new Spring articles to browse through that you'll want to be the first on campus to show off.

FOR THAT SPECIAL DRESS, GIRLS

Ethel has a wide selection of bib necklaces for every occasion. These crystal, pearl, and bead necklaces in all colors will draw compliments from everyone. Buy a couple to mix and match with all your outfits while you're there.

FOR THAT SPRING TOUCH . . .

we have Etienne Aigner straw and leather handbags, in red, white, brown, and black. These purses are big and roomy, as well as chic looking, and will dress up your new Spring clothes.

GUYS — THAT SPECIAL GIRL

you really want to impress, or show how much you care? She'll rave over Ethel's very popular Siamese jewelry — rings, pins, bracelets, necklaces — that goes so well with your clothes. For yourself, those dark-colored Ernst ties look really sharp with your suits for those special times.

FOR PARTIES AND INFORMAL GATHERINGS, TOO

Ethel has party napkins that are really cute. They're great for catching crumbs, too.

'Til next week, Gabbi
