

Weather Forecast:
Partly Cloudy,
Cooler

The Daily Collegian

FOR A BETTER PENN STATE

The Controversy
Spreads
--See Page 4

VOL. 61, No. 95

STATE COLLEGE, PA., TUESDAY MORNING, MARCH 7, 1961

FIVE CENTS

Communists Snub Nkrumah Luncheon, Defy Hammarskjold

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Soviet Union yesterday snubbed a high-level diplomatic luncheon given by Dag Hammarskjold for Ghana President Kwame Nkrumah.

It was a clear warning that the Russians will continue to fight any Congo peace plan in which the U.N. secretary-general has a role — even at the risk of displeasing many Asian-African nations.

Trial Plan For Parking Set by Boro

By Molla Edelstein

The State College Borough Council last night passed a resolution to discontinue the use of onstreet parking meters for a trial period of four months from April 1 to Aug. 1 between the hours of 6 to 10 p.m.

This resolution will be used as an experiment to see if it is possible to meet the financial obligations that are now paid for by the meter revenue. If they can be met and the citizens are not deprived of being able to find short time parking space, Lune Hoffman, council member, said the resolution will be made permanent no later than Jan. 1, 1962.

If the financial expenses cannot be met, the meters will be put back into use at the end of the four month period.

The meters may still and probably will be put into use during these hours at the end of four months, until the council revises the budget for the year of 1962. It would then be discontinued permanently on Jan. 1, Hoffman said.

In other business, the council approved the 1961 budget, and passed an ordinance setting the tax levy at 5½ mills, 5 for the borough and ½ for the library.

The council also passed a resolution declaring Daylight Saving Time to start on April 30 and to end Oct. 29, 1961.

In a 15 minute speech, the recreation board presented a survey they had made of the playgrounds in and around the State College area.

HUB to Have Holiday Meal

The Hetzel Union Building Terrace Room cafeteria will celebrate St. Patrick's Day with a candlelight dinner and decorations on Thursday, March 16.

The snub came on the eve of the resumption of the 99-nation General Assembly, where the Congo crisis is the No. 1 issue.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko was joined in the luncheon boycott by Bulgaria and Romania, the only other Communist delegations invited.

Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson, chief U.S. delegate, had a 90-minute breakfast session with Nkrumah, who will put his plan for an all-African U.N. Congo command before the opening session this afternoon.

Afterward Nkrumah told reporters: "Africans combined — supported by the United Nations — that's the only way to save the Congo."

Stevenson then went to the Soviet U.N. Mission for a 70-minute private talk with Gromyko.

A U.S. spokesman said their talk dealt with issues before the resumed session, but the spokesman declined to go into any details.

Events were shaping up for a sharp U.N.-Soviet clash on the Congo before the assembly.

The United States has made clear its support for Hammarskjold in his efforts to implement last week's Security Council resolution empowering the United Nations to use force if necessary to stop civil war in the Congo. Hammarskjold has the responsibility to carry out the resolution, which had overwhelming Asian-African support.

The same resolution calls for withdrawal of all Belgian military and semimilitary personnel, Belgian political advisers to Congolese authorities, and foreign mercenaries.

But Belgium's U.N. Ambassador Walter Lorrain has informed Hammarskjold that his country cannot compel Belgians serving with foreign troops in the Congo to get out.

Dames to Hold Bazaar

The Penn State Dames, an organization for the wives of University students, will hold a bazaar from 9 to 11 a.m., Thursday, in the Conference Center.

Used baby clothes and toys will be sold. Any articles left over or money earned will be donated to charity.

Dennis Appointed Member Of New Peace Corps Staff

(See Related Story on Page 7)

Lawrence E. Dennis, vice president for academic affairs, has been named as a member of the 14-man "nucleus staff" of the newly created Peace Corps.

Dennis, who will have his headquarters in Washington, will assist R. Sargent Shriver, director of the Corps, as a full-time consultant with executive responsibility for carrying out the objectives of the training program.

To enable him to accept the appointment, the University has granted Dennis a six-month leave of absence which will become effective March 15.

Dennis will be concerned with the selection and coordination of colleges and universities that will participate in the training. He will also deal with the actual

Forms Being Made For Bookstore Poll

Final forms are now being compiled for questionnaires which will be distributed on the bookstore, according to Philip Steinhauer, chairman of the SGA Bookstore Committee.

Steinhauer said questions for the forms were tested in a pilot survey made last Friday.

The six questions used on the pilot forms were chosen to determine the need for a bookstore, what students expect in a bookstore and what problems they have encountered in purchasing books, Steinhauer said. He would not reveal what the questions are.

For the final forms, some of the original pilot questions may be used, Steinhauer said, while others may be combined or revised.

Over 1000 students will be selected at random to fill out the questionnaires, Steinhauer said. They will receive them in the mail, he said.

Steinhauer said the committee decided to use the random survey idea because it insures accuracy in getting a cross-section of student views.

The students contacted will be chosen by the most "scientific method," he said.

For the pilot survey, during which 70 forms were distributed, students were also stopped at random and asked to complete the forms, Steinhauer said.

Seven people distributed ten forms each at locations around campus, Steinhauer said.

He stressed that the pilot survey was only conducted to test the validity of the proposed questions for the final form. No statistics on student opinion on the need for a bookstore or their problems in purchasing books were tabulated from the pilot forms, Steinhauer said.

No specific date has been set for distributing the questionnaires, Steinhauer said, but the committee hopes to complete them in the near future.

Partly Cloudy, Cool Weather Expected Today

Tropical air from the Gulf of Mexico brought unusually warm and humid weather to the western two-thirds of Pennsylvania yesterday. Temperatures reached 70 degrees in some western sections of the state.

Meanwhile, chilly Atlantic air maintained cool 40-degree readings in the eastern portion of the state.

Cooler air from the mid-west should bring more seasonable weather to this area today and tonight, but milder readings should return tomorrow.

Today is expected to be partly cloudy, windy and cooler with high temperature of about 50 degrees.

Some cloudiness and cooler temperatures are predicted for tonight. The low should be near 35 degrees.

Occasional rain, possibly an afternoon thunderstorm and milder temperatures are forecast for tomorrow and a high reading of 54 is likely.

Intermittent rain and mild weather is indicated for tomorrow night.

LAWRENCE E. DENNIS

study program and task assignments overseas.

It is expected that training for the program will begin early this summer.

Dennis will be working closely with Dr. Arthur S. Adams of Harvard University, who has been named consultant with supervisory responsibility for the Peace Corps training program.

It is expected that 500 to 1000 volunteers will be working overseas under the pilot program by the end of the year. Their primary purpose will be to serve as teachers and helpers to United States and foreign technicians in under-developed areas.

Dennis has been in Chicago, since Friday participating in the 16th National Conference on

(Continued on page twelve)

Haber Doubtful of Revision Deadline

The top SGA executive said last night that he doubts SGA's reorganization committee will meet the March 15 deadline for preparing a skeleton form of their plans.

Refusing to comment on the reorganization, SGA President Richard Haber added that there are "too many aspects of this thing and too many people to convince for the committee to meet this deadline."

Duane Alexander, head of the reorganization committee, disagreed with Haber when contacted last night and said "there won't be any problem in meeting this deadline."

March 15 is the target date set by Alexander's committee for a finalizing meeting with the University Senate Sub-Committee on Organizational Control.

Alexander said last week his student committee and the Senate Sub-Committee had been working closely on reorganization.

The sub-committee serves mainly in an advisory capacity and is a "partial influence on the student committee, giving us ideas we didn't think of ourselves or a basic point we overlooked," he said.

Alexander said his student committee will meet tomorrow night and that he will meet with Haber after the committee meeting.

The Senate Committee on Student Affairs will review the SGA constitution before Spring elections, set for the middle of April. The present SGA system has been operating provisionally for two years under the specification that the constitution would be revised this spring.

It is the job of Alexander's committee to determine what changes should be made in the SGA constitution before it undergoes the scrutiny of the Senate committee.

Constitutional changes drawn up by Alexander's committee will first go to SGA Assembly for approval. After this, the revised constitution will go back to the Senate sub-committee for approval.

The Senate Committee on student affairs must render the final approval.

A SOTTER'S SATURDAY NIGHT: The Jordan boys, in a holiday mood, hung these results of their party for all to see. Dave Graham, a visitor to the University, wonders how many more blooming bushes there are on campus.