

Weiss Retains Gym Title; Lions Dominate Easterns

By JOHN MORRIS

Greg Weiss, the latest in a long line of Penn State gym stars, easily retained his all-around title at the EIGL championships in Annapolis, Md., Saturday.

The Lion junior scored 534½ points to beat teammate Tommy Seward and give State gymnasts their tenth consecutive all-around championship.

Penn Staters took five firsts in the nine events, including three blue ribbons by Weiss.

The Nittany star successfully defended his parallel bars title and copped victories on the still rings and long horse vault.

Seward won the free exercise and Gerry Schaefer paced the field on the flying rings for State's other wins.

Weiss placed in all six events that he entered with a second on the horizontal bar, a third in the free exercise and a fifth on the side horse.

Seward grabbed a second in the long horse vault and thirds on the p-bars and still rings to go with his victory in the free "X".

Schaefer won his specialty with a 185 total for the two day competition.

The flashy junior led by only half a point going into the finals, but a clutch performance Saturday earned him a 93 and the crown.

Temple's Rogers Weiner (180) was a distant second and Jim Sloat of Navy nabbed third with State captain Bob Mumau vaulted up the hemp in the fastest time of his career to tie Navy's Bill Pfingstag and Army's Dick Yule for third in 3.5.

Springfield's Jeff Cardinali, second in the all-around last year, won the side horse and finished a close second to Weiss on the p-bars.

Cardinali didn't enter the all-around competition because of a back injury.

Lanky Bob Smith of Temple won the horizontal bar with a 190, the highest two-day total in the meet.

Syracuse sophomore Corky Voas won the tumbling crown with a 185.5.

Joe Marshall, Navy's defending eastern champ, was forced to the sidelines with a shoulder injury.

Gene Harlacher and Kenny Morrow also placed for the Nittany Lions.

Harlacher tied for fourth in the free exercise and Morrow tied for the fourth spot on the p-bars.

THIS YOUNG ENGINEER IS ON THE ROAD TO MANAGEMENT

Dick Cotton knew he wanted to take the engineering route into management long before he joined New Jersey Bell Telephone Company. In fact it was his goal when he was working for his engineering degree at Rutgers.

When he graduated, he had his lines out to eleven other companies. He came to New Jersey Bell because: "I didn't feel I was just a number to these people. There was no doubt in my mind that this job would be the best for the long pull."

His first assignment was a tough one. A complex of major telephone cables lay in the path of the approach to the new traffic level of the George Washington Bridge on the Hudson. Dick's job was to find the most practical and economical way to reroute these cables, and at the same time to provide for future telephone growth in the area around the bridge approach.

Dick ironed that one out and got a crack at another tough job.

Next stop: New Jersey Bell Headquarters Engineering Staff, Special Studies Group. Here

Dick was a member of a four-man team whose job was to find ways to eliminate some of the routine work of field engineers to give them "more time to think." Dick also helped plan and control a $100,000,000 annual telephone construction budget.

Presently, Dick is responsible for telephone equipment engineering projects in the Camden, New Jersey, area.

How does Dick look at it? "This is a growing business. I work with this growth every day. And growth means more room at the top. Of course, I don't figure I'll get there overnight—but on my jobs so far I've had a chance to take a good look at how this business is run. And I think the sky's the limit for a man who really wants to work for it."

If you're a guy who can tackle a tough job and deliver the goods—then you're the kind of man who should find out more about the Bell Companies. Visit your Placement Office for literature and additional information.

"Our number one aim is to have in all management jobs the most vital, intelligent, positive and imaginative men we can possibly find."
