JOURNALISM CAREER NIGHT: Over 120 professionals and students attended the Journalism Career Night Wednesday where students questioned professionals concerning job possibilities. J. E. Holtzinger, publisher of the Altoona Mirror, answers one such question.

OSGA Will Formulate Constitution

The constitution of the Organization of Student Government Associations will come up for ratification at the group's second meeting today and tomorrow, according to Richard Haber, president.

Two student leaders and a faculty advisor from each of the University's campuses and centers are expected to attend the meetings here, Haber said.

The OSGA was inaugurated early in October to help unify the University's campuses. Emphasis was placed on creating better integration of the commonwealth campuses, providing a means for the exchange of ideas and the dissemination of University information and developing student leadership by discussion and example.

According to the agenda, representatives will register this afternoon and have dinner in the Hetzel Union Building. Workshops will begin at 8:15 tonight and continue tomorrow morning.

Wilmer E. Kenworthy, executive assistant to the president, will attend tonight's meeting, Haber said.

Ten copies of a "Back-the-Budget" letter will be distributed to each representative so they can post them in conspicuous places around his home campuses, Haber said.

Greeters Group Elects Polko New President

The Greeters, an organization for students in hotel administration, recently elected officers for next year.

John Polko, junior from Aliquippa, was elected president; Layne Giering, sophomore from Clarion, vice president; Jim Alexander, junior from Meadowbrook, treasurer, and Joan Ostovich, junior from Clairton, recording secretary.

Thespians to Give 'Wonderful Town'

The Penn State Thespians will present "Wonderful Town," by Leonard Bernstein on March 16, 17 and 18 in Schwab. A special matinee performance will be given on the afternoon of March 18.

Tickets will go on sale at 1:30 p.m. Monday, at the Hetzel Union desk.

"Wonderful Town" is an account of two young women from Ohio who go to Greenwich Village and expect to take New York by storm.

Ruth, the good-hearted sister, attempting to break into the New York literary field, is played by Anne Grant, senior in business education from State College.

Miss Grant, vice president of the Penn State Players, has starred in many of their productions — the most recent being "The Dark at the Top of the Stairs," in which she played Cora. Eileen, the other adventurer, is played by Susan Brown, junior in theater arts from Chatham, N.J.

Miss Brown has acted with Thespians in "Annie Get Your Gun," and with Players in "Boyfriend," "Italian Straw Hat," and has just completed her performance in "Summer and Smoke."

Vince Landro, senior in psychology from Hazelton and president of the Penn State Players, will portray Baker, the literary agent in "Wonderful Town."

James Jimirro, graduate student in speech from Abington, is director of the play. Jimirro has written, directed and acted in shows for Thespians prior to "Wonderful Town."

Away from the University, he has directed television stations at Syracuse University, where he received his masters degree, and has done some production work for ABC-TV.

Working for the second time as production manager for a Thespian production is James Anderson, sophomore in education from Sharon.

Assistant director is Sandra Hart, junior in arts from Clarion. Miss Hart was director for the Thespians production of "The Big One" and performed in "It's In The Book."

Working with the Players, she was musical director as well as an actress for "Boyfriend" and "Italian Straw Hat."

Musical director is Dave Weinert, junior in theater arts from Temple; choreographer is Nancy Alinkoff, junior in education from Kingston; and assistant choreographer is Helen Kearney, sophomore in arts and letters from Carlisle.

Juniors to Give Montgomery Gets Gift Suggestions

The suggestion box for the class gift for the Class of '62 has been placed at the HUB desk and will remain there for two weeks. George Haney, a member of the Class of '62 Gift Committee, said.

It was incorrectly reported in yesterday's Daily Collegian that the box would be used next fall.

The necessity for obtaining suggestions so early has arisen because there will only be one registration period next year.

Since the most effective and efficient way of having the entire class decide on the gift is by having them vote on it at registration, the Gift Committee will investigate the suggestions this semester and submit the best ones for the class to vote on at fall registration.

Montgomery Gets Research Grant

Dr. James E. Montgomery, head of family housing and home art in the College of Home Economics, has received a grant of $10,000 from the Division of Special Health Services, United States Public Health Service, Department of Health, Education and Welfare, for a study of home accidents.

Dr. Montgomery will develop interview guides and conduct a pilot study based on interviews with elderly persons who have suffered accidental injuries recently to determine factors which may have contributed to the accident.

"WHO OWNS THE ELECTRIC COMPANY?"

Many of our customers think the city, or the state, owns and runs this company.

They are glad to learn that it just isn't so. Your electric company is owned and run by people, just like any other investor-owned business.

A lot of the people who own this business are also its customers. Naturally, they demand that it be run efficiently, made to grow—and that electric service continue to be brought to them and to you efficiently and economically.

That's one reason you can be sure of all the electricity you need, at the lowest prices possible.
