Bookstore Questionnaire

The fate of the drive for a University bookstore now rests in the hands of the 1000 students who have received questionnaires on the need for such a store.

The questionnaires are the culmination of a couple weeks work by the SGA bookstore committee. The questions and random sampling method were devised with the advice of Dr. Leslie P. Greenhill, associate director of the Division of Academic Research and Services

The questions are intended to find out what problems students have in obtaining textbooks and what services they would expect from a University bookstore if one were established.

Although several pleas for a bookstore have been made by the students since as long ago as 1937, this is the first time the drive has gotten as far as a questionnaire to try to determine the needs.

In fact, the indication that action may finally be taken on the establishment of such a store has never been so great as it is now. The administration is also looking into the issue to determine the physical and space requirements for a University bookstore.

At this point the results of the student survey will be crucial to the outcome of the present studies.

The questionnaires should be filled out honestly, completely and quickly because any further steps on the bookstore drive will depend upon the return.

With the investment of a little bit of time now, students may eventually reap the benefits of a University bookstore.

Frosh Likes Satire But Not Tactics

TO THE EDITOR: Congratulations, Mr. Muldawer, on having the amazing intestinal fortitude to write something as definitely controversial as your "Dialogue" for Friday's Daily Collegian. You are certainly a crusader for "racial equality" and I imagine DARE would be proud of you for putting your thoughts into such excellent Voltairistic satire.

Your tactics, however, though bold, are very poor. You are guilty of the crime known as witch-hunting.

You seem to be ignorant of the fact that no self-respecting member of any of these "persecuted" minority groups would want to join a bigoted fraternity such as ATO — not even Jesus would be content to be constantly turning the other cheek.

You are not the only witch-hunter, however. The "courageous" organization known as DARE is equally guilty.

Let's face it. If you search long enough and hard enough, you will find prejudice in any group of people. Stirring up trouble and pushing people around will, if anything, increase the bitter feeling. Only time and patience will diminish it.

In our own generation there is a substantial decrease in "genuine" prejudice. What you see today are pseudo-Nazis and bigots who gain ego-flattering notice through their actions.

I suggest, Mr. Muldawer, that you direct your excellent talent for satire toward writing for Froth or some other worthwhile endeavor.

As for DARE . . . well, I really think that they are making a large sized mountain out of a mole hill, and I wish they would stop.

Discrimination Supported?

TO THE EDITOR: I was a little disappointed with the statement attributed to Mr. Wilmer Wise and Dr. Monroe Newman, who spoke for the Senate Committee on Student Affairs, in Wednesday's Collegian.

The notion that racial discrimination in fraternities and sororities is a matter of self-determination, whereas drinking, academic averages, payment or non-payment of bills owed to chapters, sororities' ownership or non-ownership of houses is not a matter of self-determination, strikes me as being a wee bit inconsistent — at least a confusion of morals and manners, at most the official sanctioning of the view that democratic and moral values do not apply in one's relationship with Jews and Negroes.

Is the truth not that the University's statement of 1950 is meaningless in this area except as a support for racial and religious discrimination, since by 1950 practically every national fraternity and sorority was on campus?

In a clever way the University has said "we like discrimination, and we will support it as long as the students in these organizations are willing to pull our chestnuts out of the fire."

The sins of the fathers shall be those of the children until the children become more sensitive morally and more honest intellectually.

Dayal Expects U.N. to Regain Port of Matadi

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Rajeshwar Dayal, head of the United Nation's Congo mission, left for New York yesterday, confident the Congolese soon will restore the major port of Matadi to U.N. control.

The prospect that the Congolese army will lose its stranglehold on the port through which flows the bulk of U.N. supplies came amid these other developments in the turbulent Congo:

●Reports lacking U.N. confirmation spread that Antoine Gizenga had been unseated as head of the Communist-backed rebel regime in Stanleyville by army commander Victor Lundula or President Jean Foster Manzikala or Oriental Province.

●While acknowledging the United Nations does not know who is wielding power in Oriental, a spokesman said ex-President Jean Miroho and 10 of his ministers from Kivu Province had been released from prison in Stanleyville. They were jailed by Gizenga when he seized Kivu in December.

●In Malagasy Republic the roundtable conference of Congolese President Joseph Kasavubu, President Moise Tshombe of independent Katanga Province, and other Congolese leaders, agreed to create a supercabinet to preside over a new Congo federation.

NAACP Requests Amended Ed Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People called on Congress yesterday to add an antisegregation provision to the federal aid to education bill.

To arguments that such an amendment would kill the bill, Clarence Mitchell, director of the NAACP Washington bureau, replied that such a threat was a phony and a smoke-screen.

Mitchell, who testified before the Senate Education subcommittee, drew sympathy from the members but little support.

Sen. Wayne Morse, (D.-Ore.), the chairman, said he believed in the NAACP principles and would support legislation to help carry out the 1954 Supreme Court decision banning segregated schools.

House Grants Children Relief

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal-state aid for the children of jobless parents was approved by the House yesterday but President John F. Kennedy's emergency program of unemployment relief faced a threatened slowdown in the Senate.

The House passed by voice vote and sent to the Senate a bill that would make children of the unemployed eligible for the same benefits now received by children whose parents become disabled, die, or desert them.

If all 50 states choose to participate, the bill would cost the government an estimated $305 million, based on a 60-40 federal-state matching formula. Not all the states are expected to do so, however.

In the Senate, the child aid bill overtook a companion measure passed by the House last week which would provide up to 13 weeks additional unemployment benefits to long-idle workers who have exhausted their present rights.

Laos Communists Attack Key Road

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Pro-Communist rebels launched a heavy offensive in central Laos yesterday, casting a shadow over a peace plan drawn up by the government and neutralist ex-Premier Souvanna Phouma.

A Laotian military source said nine Pathet Lao rebel battalions — reported equipped with light tanks — were thrown into the attack in a pouring rain on the key road junction of Sala Phou Koun and two connected strongholds.

Outcome of the battle was in doubt, he said. At stake were control of the vital north-south highway linking Vientiane with the royal capital of Luang Prabang, and perhaps the government's plans for a long-promised offensive.

Mayor of West Berlin To Confer With JFK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin will confer with President Kennedy Monday at 3 p.m., the White House announced.

Plans were announced shortly after West Germany's Ambassador Wilhelm Grewe had discussed the forthcoming visit with the President.

Grewe said he and Kennedy discussed plans for the President's meeting with West Germany's Chancellor Konrad Adenauer scheduled for April 12-13 in Washington.
