

Residence Contracts Available

Housing and food service contracts for 1961-62 are available at all the residence hall reception desks and post offices. Men and women, with the exception of sorority women, should submit contracts during specified periods.

Students desiring to be reassigned to their present rooms should apply for that room before March 29. Every effort will be made to honor these requests except where certain rooms have been designated for freshmen and junior residents, according to James Kline, head of room assignments.

Contracts for all other students should be submitted April 5 through April 19. These contracts will be placed in a drawing for assignment with priority given to seniors, juniors and sophomores in that order. All applicants should specify first, second and third choices of rooms and residence hall.

Only those contracts which are submitted within the required period will be placed in the drawings for rooms. Students are asked to hand in all roommate requests together, and to indicate their present room assignment on the contract. No room deposit is required with the contract.

The contracts must be turned in personally or mailed to the Assignment Division, Pollock Dining Hall. The office hours are 8 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and 8 a.m. to 12 noon on Saturday.

All sorority women will apply through their housing chairmen and should not apply individually to the housing department, Kline said.

Women will be assigned to the following halls: Atherton, McElwain, McKee, Simmons, Pollock 2, 3, 4 and 5, South Halls, East Halls C and D, and Runkle Hall in the North Halls.

Runkle Hall has four living units of 70 women each. Seniors and Juniors may apply for assignment to this hall in accordance with the Dean of Women's selection procedure.

The following halls will house men for the next year: Hamilton, Thompson, Watts and Jordan in the West Halls; Beam, Holmes and Leete in North Halls; Pollock A, B and C; East Halls A and B and Nittany Halls.

Slate Not Chosen for AWS Elections

The slate of candidates for the Association of Women Students primary elections had not been selected by late last night, according to Margaret McPherson, AWS president.

The primaries are scheduled for Tuesday.

Coeds desiring to run for offices were screened on Wednesday by a special committee consisting of Gage Peck, first vice president; Janis Beachler, elections committee chairman; and Miss McPherson. The screening committee decides which women are allowed to run for AWS offices.

Miss McPherson said that it is uncertain when a slate will be prepared. She gave no reason for the delay in compiling the slate.

Campaigning is scheduled to be

Student Group Files Petition For Affiliation

A group of students have recently filed a petition with Rho Epsilon, international real estate fraternity, to form a new chapter of the organization at the University.

Daniel Dixon, junior in business administration from Pittsburgh, and Steven Korman, junior in business administration from Melrose Park, have also applied for a charter from the Senate Committee on Student Affairs.

Dixon, president of the Real Estate Club, said, "Our primary purpose is to acquaint people with the field of real estate and to provide a connection between the real estate profession and the student in real estate at Penn State."

He went on to comment on the lack of a placement service in that field, making it necessary for students to search on their own for employment. It is hoped that by being associated with an international organization such jobs will be easier to locate.

There will be an open meeting of the club at Sigma Pi fraternity at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.
