

Parties Halt Nomination Procedure

The postponement of spring elections by the SGA Assembly Thursday night has called a halt to nominations scheduled for tomorrow evening.

All three political parties have cancelled the meetings at which they had planned to nominate candidates for SGA offices and Assembly seats.

In discussing Assembly's move to halt the elections, Robert Dufner, elections commission chairman, said that the SGA action in-

Campus party announced late last night that it will meet Sunday evening as scheduled to hold nominations for University officers.

Dennis Eisman, party chairman, said "although the elections have been postponed, nominations have not officially been canceled by SGA. We will nominate our candidates now for the future election."

The meeting will be held at 6:30 p.m. in 119 Osmond.

terfered with the well set up sequence for elections but that the elections commission is flexible and can meet any reasonable demand.

Dufner said that he has faith that SGA sitting as a committee of the whole, will come up with something concrete on reorganization shortly. He added that he felt it would be foolish for his commission to act on elections until reorganization is set up.

Dufner also clarified the status of party registration which has already taken place. He said that students who have already registered at the two meetings held before vacation will still be considered party members when spring elections are held. "All business transacted at the previous meetings will stand," Dufner said.

Michael Dzvonik, chairman of the University party said he had no plans for party action on elections and final nominations until after reorganization is complete.

"We feel it is unwise," Dzvonik said, "to nominate anyone who may not have a position to fill. Our hands are tied, we just can't do anything."

Campus party will not hold its scheduled meeting Sunday night either. Dennis Eisman, party chairman, said that he felt the Assembly action in calling off elections was the only alternative.

Dale Harris, chairman of the Liberal party said that she feels it would be unwise for the parties to take any action until plans for reorganization have been made. Liberal party will not nominate anyone for offices that may be non-existent, Miss Harris said.

Barr Gets Holstein Award

Robert Barr was named National Champion Holstein boy by the Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

Barr has been breeding Holsteins since he was 12 years old and has had experience in almost all phases of dairy cattle breeding and management.

As an outstanding 4-H leader, he was named a delegate to the National 4-H Club Congress at Chicago last fall, where he was named the nation's outstanding 4-H boy. As a result of this award, he was one of six 4-H members named to deliver the 1960 4-H report to President John F. Kennedy.

In recognition of becoming National Holstein boy, Barr will be a guest of the National and Pennsylvania Holstein organizations at a convention at Cleveland, Ohio, in June. At the meeting, he will be awarded a bronze plaque for his achievements.
