

Pigossi Says IFC Must Unite For Success

The Interfraternity Council must work as a unit and not as individual groups if the fraternity system is to improve under the four term plan, Richard Pigossi, IFC president said Monday night.

At the final meeting of the semester, Pigossi said that the fraternity system is faced with two major problems, drinking and discrimination, and that the council must solve these problems as a unit.

"Many fraternities are living in the past, but we must look to the future as a system and not as individuals," he said.

In other business, IFC decided to investigate the possibility of getting the State College Borough Council to lower the initial fee levied on fraternities for trash collection next term. The same amount has been levied on all fraternities regardless of size, James Stalter, chairman of the trash committee said.

Compulsory borough trash collection will be effective in July, he said.

The council also decided to include individual fraternity fees in the rush booklet to be given to incoming freshmen for summer counseling.

In addition IFC approved the appointment of Steven Zitin, Sigma Alpha Mu, as rushing chairman and Dean Wharton, Phi Kappa Psi, as workshop chairman.

Ettelson Reports Increase Of 83 Alumni Memberships

A total of 83 additional memberships in the Alumni Association have been reported to the alumni office by class agents, Jim Ettelson, Senior Week chairman, said yesterday.

The Senior Week campaign to solicit Alumni Association memberships from seniors ended officially Sunday, but class agents are still continuing to report additional memberships to the office, Ettelson said.

Although 19 class agents reported drive results yesterday, 96 still have not reported, Ettelson said. He added that a total of 395 memberships have been reported so far. This figure includes both paid and pledged memberships, he said.

The 263 paid memberships solicited so far this year equal the number solicited at the same time last year. The remaining 132 members this year are those who have pledged to pay membership fees before graduation.

The College of Engineering leads both in the number of memberships solicited and the number of class agents who have turned in their results, Ettelson said. He said 89 of the memberships received are in the Engineering College and only nine of their 37 class agents have failed to report.
