

Disciplinary Plans Dropped by Simes

The dean of men's office has decided to drop plans for disciplinary action against the men students who protested against the Civil Defense drill three weeks ago, Frank J. Simes, dean of men said yesterday.

The possibility of disciplinary action for the coed protesters is still pending, according to Dean of Women Dorothy J. Lipp.

Since the protesters did not break any law or cause mob violence, Simes said, there are no grounds for disciplinary action. The case would be reopened if a law violation was discovered, he added.

WHAT WONDERFUL THINGS ARE WITHIN HIS REACH!

Ever see a child's face when he reaches a light switch for the first time?

He makes the lights go on, go off, with the flick of a questing finger. What an adventure—what an accomplishment—what power!

He doesn't realize it fully, but that light switch is symbolic of much of his future. In his lifetime, electricity is likely to operate electric helpers we can't even imagine now—just as today's electric living is beyond the dreams of just a generation ago.

And the wonder of it is that while the price of almost everything else has gone up, the average price per kilowatt-hour of electricity has come down. In fact, electric service is about the biggest value in your budget.
