

Quantico May Spoil Werner's Win Skein

By JIM KARL
Lion track Coach Chick Werner probably has a special reason for wanting to beat the Quantico Marines in the final dual meet of the season on Beaver Field tomorrow.

Werner has an amazing string going for him a string that started after Quantico beat his thin-clads 74-57, last May 7.

Since then his teams (including his cross-country, indoor and outdoor squads) have recorded 14 straight dual meet victories.

His 1960 team closed out the season with victories over Manhattan and Pitt before being nipped by Villanova for the IC4A championship.

His cross-country squad won six straight dual meets and then copped the IC4A title.

His indoor squad won four dual meets, an unprecedented feat in the history of indoor track at State, and then finished fourth in the indoor IC4A's.

So far this season his outdoor team has recorded dual meet wins over Pitt and Navy plus a triangular meet victory over Michigan State and Ohio State.

A win against the highly-regarded Marines tomorrow would rank Penn State right alongside Villanova and Yale as a top contender for the IC4A crown next Saturday.

Two of Quantico's top point-getters last year — high jumper Bob Gardner and javelin thrower Al Cantello — are not with the Marines this year.

But Dick Emberger (hurdles, high jump and broad jump), Ed Collymore (sprints), Pete Close and Cary Weisiger (distance events) and three outstanding pole vaulters make Quantico one of the toughest teams in the East.

Lion Golfers Meet Engineers Today

The Penn State golf team travels to Lehigh this afternoon with a good chance to run its winning streak to four straight.

The Lion linksmen have been playing good golf during the last half of the season, while Lehigh Coach Bill Leckonby says the Engineers are experiencing their worst season in 10 years.

Lehigh has no one returning from last year's squad which posted a 9-4 record.
