Kennedy, Khrushchev to Meet In Vienna for Informal Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev will hold informal, private talks at Vienna, Austria, the weekend of June 3-4. It will be their first meeting since Kennedy became president.

The official announcement was issued simultaneously yesterday by the White House, at 10 a.m. Washington time, and by the Kremlin, at 5 p.m. in Moscow.

The key to what the meeting is about was summed up in nearly identical wording from the two capitals.

"The President and Chairman Khrushchev understand that this meeting is not for the purpose of negotiating or reaching agreement on the major international problems that involve the interest of many other countries," the U.S. version said.

"The meeting will, however, afford a timely and convenient opportunity for the first personal contact between them and a general exchange of views on the major issues which affect the relationships between the countries."

U.S. officials disclosed that Kennedy took the first step toward meeting Khrushchev. The secret negotiations began last February.

Kennedy wants the get-acquainted session to size up personally his chief adversary on the international scene.

The President hopes, too, to rid Khrushchev of any impression that this country will not stand firm against Communist pressures around the world. And he is expected to make a last-ditch plea to save the faltering Geneva talks on a nuclear weapons test ban.

U.S. authorities believe that Khrushchev will plug away on Berlin, disarmament, and other outstanding cold war issues which he debates whenever he gets the chance.

Kennedy's aides say the 67-year-old Khrushchev is a shrewd measurer of men — and they contend the U.S. President — who will be 44 a few days before the Vienna talks — will impress the Red leader with what they say is Kennedy's toughness and mastery of complicated subjects.

Carol Kelvin Voted Frosh Class Queen

Miss Carol Kelvin, major in liberal arts from Great Neck, N.Y., was proclaimed queen of the class of 1964 at the "Freshman Last Fling" last night in the Pollock Recreation Room.

James Sloane, class president, presented Miss Kelvin with a trophy signifying her achievement.

Dr. Frank Gullo, associate professor of music, was master of ceremonies.

The four runners-up for the title were: Suzanne Andressen, liberal arts major from West Englewood, N.J.; Sally Bumstead, education major from Dunmore; Suzanne Magness, home economics major from Claymont, Del., and Margaret Thompson, education major from Pittsburgh.

Seventy-five coeds had been screened by the freshman class advisory board for the title and from these, the five finalists were chosen.

President Eric A. Walker was unable to speak as scheduled. However, he did arrive later in the evening.

The crowning of the queen climaxed an evening of entertainment that included music by the Nittany Five and the Nomads, a folk-singing group.

Sloane had announced a few weeks ago that the dance was to be a protest against the elimination of class representation as called for in the proposed SGA constitution.

President Challenges Assembly; Will Continue to Support Grumer

By SANDY YAGGI

SGA President Dennis Foianini said last night that he has decided to veto the Assembly's decision to hold Encampment at the University's Mt. Alto campus.

At Thursday's meeting Nancy Williams, newly-appointed Encampment chairman, asked the Assembly to decide on the location of Encampment.

A recommendation to hold the Encampment at University Park was voted down by the Assembly, which voted in favor of holding encampment at Mt. Alto.

"Very logical and concise arguments were presented at the Assembly meeting," Foianini said, "for holding the Encampment at University Park."

"In the minds of many students Encampment is a vacation," Foianini said.

"The possibility exists that people would go there for the other enticements besides work," he said.

"It would be far more demanding for the people to come to University Park on a more rigorous schedule. Then we would see how interested the students really are about this," Foianini said.

At the Thursday's Assembly meeting John Witmer, U-Jr., advocated holding Encampment at Mt. Alto because of a more informal and secluded atmosphere. "At Mt. Alto," Witmer said, "we are forced to be together, and therefore to work together."

In outlining the reason for having Encampment at University Park, Foianini said, "the facilities are better here and we will be able to have more people at Encampment."

"Secondly," he said, "the cost per person will be less and, thirdly, there are a number of people that can be contacted here who will be out of reach at Mt. Alto."

Foianini said he will veto the action under a provision of the present SGA Constitution which reads:

"The President of SGA shall have the power to veto any legislation or parts thereof passed by the Assembly within one week after such passage. The veto may be overridden by a two-thirds vote of the constitutional membership of the Assembly."

Budget Rally Given Support By Bernreuter

Robert G. Bernreuter, special assistant to the President for student affairs, said that he is "pleased with the enthusiasm" shown by the student body in planning the "Back the Budget" pep rally scheduled for Sunday.

"I wonder why there have been no plans laid for the summer students to keep the 'Back the Budget' campaign going," he said.

Bernreuter also commented on the SGA Encampment. He said that it is a good idea to hold student encampment at the University's Mt. Alto campus because the administrative staff attending will be available for consultation at all times.

"Staff people might get too tied up with their own affairs if encampment were held here," Bernreuter said.

"However," he said, "one advantage of having encampment at the University Park Campus is that a larger number of students could attend."

Looking ahead to the four-term system, Bernreuter said there will probably be commencement exercises at the end of each term.

"At the present time the University calendar only calls for graduation in June," he said.

"However," Bernreuter said, "President Walker was encouraged by the number of persons who attended the fall semester graduation this year and he seems to be in favor of commencement following each term."

Timetables Will Cover Three Terms in Future

By CAROL KUNKLEMAN

Timetables for fall registration will be available Sept. 1, John E. Miller, University scheduling officer, said yesterday.

Miller said students who wish to have timetables mailed to them during the summer will be required to pay the cost of the timetable, tentatively set for $1, plus a mailing charge. Orders may be placed at the scheduling office in Willard before the end of this semester, he added.

Class schedules for the fall, winter and spring terms and a section giving general information on registration fees and procedures, administration office hours and a campus map will be included in the timetable, Miller said.

He said the decision to include all three term schedules in one large timetable was made because advisors will be helping students plan schedules for three terms at one time instead of aiding them in scheduling classes at the beginning of each term.

Classes will be indicated according to periods rather than hours in the timetable, he said. Classes will be designated as period one, which will begin at 8 a.m., through period nine, which is the last class. Period nine will be scheduled at 8:40 p.m., he said.

Also designated in the timetable will be periods 12 to 15. Miller said these numbers will represent one and one half period laboratory classes which have been planned by various departments especially the physics and chemistry departments.

Other labs meeting for double or triple periods will retain the one to nine designation because they are included in the regular period allotments, he said.

Students will not be permitted to schedule classes consecutively during the second and third periods or the sixth and seventh periods, which are the lunch and dinner hours, Miller said.

Choir, Orchestra To Give Concert

A few tickets remain for the 14th annual spring concert of the University Chapel Choir and Symphony Orchestra at 8 tonight in Schwab.

Tickets are available at the Hetzel Union desk. Non-ticketholders will also be admitted after 7:50 p.m., Mrs. Willa Taylor, University Chapel Choir director, said.

The combined choir and orchestra will present works by Brahms, Bach and Kodaly. The choir will also present music by Jacob Handel, Gibbons and three contemporary American composers.

Four professional soloists will be featured at the concert.

The tenor soloist, Peter LaManna, has toured the United States, Hawaii, Australia, and New Zealand as assistant conductor of the Trapp family singers.

Sonja Brown, a former University student, will appear as the contralto soloist. She has participated in choral performances directed by Eugene Ormandy and Leonard Bernstein.

The soprano soloist, Martha Morris, has appeared as soloist with the Westminster Choir on their world tour in 1957.

Raymond Brown, associate professor of music, will appear as baritone soloist. He is director of the State College Choral Society and the Penn State Singers.

The program will include "Bleib bei uns" by Bach, "Hosanna to the Son of David" by Gibbons, "Repleti sunt Omnes" and "Jesu Dulcis Memoria" by Handel, "Te Deum" by Schuman, "Let Down the Bars, O Death" by Barber, "Praise the Lord" by Creston, "Gesang der Parzen" by Brahms, and "Te Deum" by Kodaly.
