

Nixon's Uncle Cites Nephew's Opinions

By VICKI WENTZ

Former vice president Richard M. Nixon considers the security and survival of the United States to be the new administration's greatest problem, his uncle, Ernest L. Nixon of State College, said yesterday.

Included in this fight for survival, he explained, are

Two Accidents Involve Students Friday Night

Richard E. Weber, sophomore in business administration from New Hyde, N. Y., and Mohammed A. Allebban, graduate student in physics from Iraq, were involved in automobile accidents Friday night, State College Police reported.

Weber was driving east on Foster Avenue when he crossed the white line and hit a parked car, forcing it into another parked car, police explained. There were no injuries, but damages to the cars were estimated at approximately $450.

There have been no official charges made against Weber, but since he failed to stop and identify himself at the accident scene, an investigation is being conducted, police reported. Weber reported the accident about an hour after it occurred, police explained.

The other accident took place at 7:31 p.m. when Allebban's car collided with two other automobiles at the intersection of Beaver Ave. and Locust Lane, police reported.

The police explained that no one was injured but $1,400 damage was done. Since Allebban was driving alone with only a driver's permit, he will be charged with this offense as well as with reckless driving, police said.

national defense, foreign policy and the cold war economic struggle. It is in these areas that Nixon has recently criticized the Kennedy administration, his uncle said.

The former vice president attacked Kennedy's policy toward Cuba in the TV debates last fall, Nixon said. "Dick would never have stood for the events which have gone on in Cuba," he added.

The trouble in Korea is deplorable, he said, considering the 3/4-billion dollars the U.S. has given in aid the American lives and money given in the Korean conflict of the early 1950's.

Nixon said his nephew has criticized Kennedy's economic policies. The former vice president goes along with his party in believing that the government should supplement, not supplant, individual and private enterprise, he explained.

The Republican presidential candidate has also attacked the new administration's plan for aid to education, Nixon said. He is opposed to direct appropriation to schools, believing that the government could eventually dictate how and what the schools could teach.

Asked if his nephew would run for the governorship of California or for president again, Nixon said he didn't know. His decision, when the times comes, will be most greatly influenced by whether or not the former vice president thinks it is best for the country, his uncle said.

Miss Barton To Participate In Festival

Gloria Barton, the new Miss Penn. State, will represent the University at the Pocono Mountains Laurel Blossom Festival June 8 to 13.

She is one of 19 queens from high schools and colleges in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York, Maryland, Ohio and Delaware who will tour 14 Pocono resorts during the week. As guests of the Fred Warings at Shawnee Inn, Shawnee-on-the-Delaware, the girls will visit approximately three resorts a day for picnicking, dining and dancing.

Miss Barton will not compete for festival queen to be crowned June 10. She had made a previous commitment for the day.

Miss Barton said the festival is primarily a publicity program to advertise the Poconos. It is an annual event sponsored by the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau.

Why the blue suit with the gold bars?

You're needed... just as your father and grandfather were. It's an obligation that a lot of qualified college men have to meet... that of serving your country, when and where you are needed.

And the Air Force needs college-trained men as officers. This is caused by the rapidly expanding technology that goes with hypersonic air and space flight. Your four years of college have equipped you to handle complex jobs. You have the potential to profit from advanced training... then put it to work.

There are several ways to become an officer.

First there is Air Force ROTC. Another program, relatively new, is Officer Training School. Here the Air Force commissions certain college graduates, both men and women, after three months' training. The navigator training program enables you to win a flying rating and a commission. And, of course, there's the Air Force Academy.

An Air Force officer's starting salary averages out to about what you could expect as a civilian. First there's your base pay. Then add on such things as tax-free rations and quarters allowances, free medical and dental care, retirement provision, perhaps flight pay, and 30 days' vacation per year. It comes to an attractive figure. One thing more. As an officer, you will become eligible for the Air Force Institute of Technology. While on active duty many officers will win graduate degrees at Air Force expense.

Why not contact your local Air Force Recruiter. Or write to Officer Career Information, Dept. SC15, Box 7608, Washington 4, D.C., if you want further information about the navigator training or Officer Training School programs.
