

Delta Upsilon Takes IM Championship

Delta Upsilon, showing depth and balance in every IM event, cakewalked to its third consecutive IM all-point championship.

Phi Gamma Delta and Beta Theta Pi both had a shot at overtaking DU in IM track but DU came up with a good showing in the running events to run away from the fraternity field.

DU had a total of 1,085 points and Phi Gam was second with 855 points. Even though DU's third consecutive championship was essentially a team effort, certain individuals stood out for the men from Locust Lane.

Ben Bow and Bob Sommons won titles in boxing and wrestling respectively. Ed Bahl and Tom Edwards upset Gene Rockey and Gene Flick of TKE to cop the handball doubles crown.

On route to the title, DU took the boxing as well as the badminton doubles crown.

Phi Gamma Delta, DU's nearest rival throughout the IM season, took the basketball crown by defeating DU in the final. The Untouchables took the independent basketball championship for the third straight year led by footballers Dick Hoak and Frank Sincek.

Gene Flick of TKE and Bob Gross of Phi Ep Pi, again proved champions of their respective sports. Flick captured the IM fraternity handball singles crown for the second year and Gross took his third badminton title in convincing fashion.

In independent play, Bruce Blanning won the handball championship and Al Stoddart copped the badminton trophy.

In the rest of the spring sports, Omega Psi Phi won its second straight track title, edging DU and Bucks House ran away with the independent track crown led by footballers Steve Popp, Don Caum, Junior Powell, and Frank Hershey.

Lambda Chi Alpha won the golf title by defeating Beta Sigma Rho and Hickory House won the independent crown, beating Westmoreland 3-2 in the final.

Sigma Pi copped the fraternity soccer title and the Hummers won the independent crown. Lou Mariotti and Dave Irons of Chi Phi won the fraternity championship, of the only sport where being close counts—horseshoes.

In independent action Charles Snell and Ed Kabala won the horseshoes crown. Dick Weissfeld and Steve Klein of Beta Sigma Rho won the tennis doubles while Steve Seybolt and Charles Stull won the independent crown.

Phi Kappa Theta and the Navy Engineers won the bowling titles to round out the IM cavalcade of sports.
