

Ike Pleases Admirers

A smiling and healthy looking former President Dwight D. Eisenhower visited the University Thursday for the sixth time in 11 years.

Crowds of people swarmed both inside and outside the Hetzel Union Building, hoping to get a glimpse of the 71-year-old General. With cameras and autograph books, people pressed close to Eisenhower when he entered and left the building.

EISENHOWER PAUSES TO EMPHASIZE A POINT while speaking at the Region III Explorer Scouts conference. He talked about the possibility of governmental activities limiting personal freedoms and how the Explorers should prepare to be future leaders of their country.

"I'M NEXT" was the cry as young and old alike tried to get an autograph from General Eisenhower when he visited the campus last Thursday. Some were successful but many had to be content with a wave or a cheery hello as he made a tour of the sports clinics. Those who did get his autograph were a happy lot as can be seen by the smiles on their faces.

A FAMOUS EXPLORER beams with pride after being presented the organization's official Explorer Scout cap. The cap must have reminded Ike of the times he wore a similar one while serving his country as Commander of the Allied Forces in Europe during the Second World War.
