Fight on State! Sink the Navy!

"Beat Navy!"

Freshmen won't lose any time in getting a chance to voice their school spirit this term with the first football pep rally of the season scheduled for 6:45 p.m. Friday on the front lawn of Old Main.

Cheerleaders will lead both frosh and upperclassmen in the traditional cheers and songs that accompany the opening of the PEP RALLIES like this sponfootball season. Penn State's first Army game will be a frequent game is Saturday with the Naval sight this fall. Whether organ-Academy.

In addition to the old cheers, three new cheers — the winners of last year's cheer contest, will be introduced.

Frosh will get a chance to practice up on the songs and cheers by referring to their student handbooks which contain the words to most of the traditional songs and cheers.

Once the football season gets into full swing, frosh should be warned that: a) It is not against the law for ten or more students to ride on a single car after victories over (1) Army (2) Syracuse and (3) Pitt; b) Sleep may very well be disturbed by spontaneous noisy torchlight parades prior to one or more of the games mentioned above; c) Freshmen men may very well be drafted for dawn patrol guard duty at the Nittany Lion statue, defending the mascot against "painting" raids by fans of opposing football teams.

Organized demonstrations of school spirit (like pep rallies) are held throughout the football season before every game either in front of Old Main or on the Hetzel Union lawn.

These rallies are organized by the Block S Club and feature parades, bonfires and entertainment by various campus celebrities, including the Nittany Lion, ized or unorganized, with this year's football schedule students will want to give the Nittany Lions all the support they can muster

GUARDING THE LION from aggressive enemy painters will be job designated to some stalwart freshmen this year. In past years underhanded Picassos have usually managed to sneak by the shrine's defenders. Perhaps this year will be different.
