

Construction Continues As University Expands

The University, though having just completed the new East Halls, continues to expand and the campus "skyline" ever changes in the effort to accommodate more students.

Five buildings are presently being constructed and seven more will be started in the near future, Walter H. Wiegand, director of physical plant, said.

Tuition Hike Marks Costliest State School

A $15-a-term tuition boost for Pennsylvania students effective this term has made the University the highest tuitioned strictly state-supported institution in the nation.

Tuition for out-of-state students was increased $30-a-term.

Tuition is now $175-a-term for state residents and $350-a-term for out-of-state students.

Room and board was also raised to $265 a term for a double room and $280 for a single room. Last term men paid $254 for a double room and women paid $260. For single rooms men paid $268 and women paid $274.

The tuition hike was required because the General Assembly failed to grant the funds requested by President Eric A. Walker. The Assembly allotted a stand-still budget of $18.5 million for the coming fiscal year.

Along with the tuition increase came a tightening in regulations. All tuition and room and board fees must now be paid one month prior to the start of the term. A $25 late fee will be charged if tuition is paid after this deadline.

Also, beginning with this term the University is requiring a General Deposit, $25 from upperclassmen and $50 from freshmen, which will replace the individual deposits collected for ROTC, Physical Education, Chemistry and Housing.

This money will be returned upon graduation or withdrawal from the University.

In a move designed to ease the financial load for families now unable to pay college expenses in a lump sum, the University made an arrangement for financing tuition and room and board.

This program, an "assured education plan," will enable graduate and undergraduate students to borrow educational funds from a private banking institution.

La Vie Office Moves

The office of La Vie, the book of the Senior Class has been moved from the basement of Carnegie to 210 Engineering "D".

Three additions to existing buildings will also be started, he said.

More than $16 million will be spent in the construction of additional General State Authority projects which have been approved for the University, Wiegand said.

Presently under construction is an educational and psychology building on Beaver Field and several horticulture buildings on Beaver Field and several horticulture buildings on Curtin Road near Tyson.

Nearly completed is an addition to Mineral Science and a one-room addition to the north side of Borland Building.

The first phase of the extensive Arts and Humanities Building project will begin in several weeks, Wiegand said.

This project will convert the Stock Pavilion into an arena-type theatre, Carnegie into a communications center, and the ice skating rink will be enclosed completely.

The project also includes the construction of three buildings in a portion of Hort Woods. One building will house the music department. Another will house fine arts and will include a proscenium-type theatre. The third building, round in structure, will contain four auditorium-sized general classrooms.

Other construction for the future includes more underground utility lines for steam, water and electricity and an addition to the nuclear reactor building.

Repair work on Recreation Hall will be finished soon. The entrance and terraces which had been deteriorating are being rebuilt.

Volunteer Guides Aid at Registration

Fifteen sophomores from last year's Freshman Class Advisory Board were volunteer guides for the 3-day registration period in Recreation Hall which ended yesterday.

Previously the guides, who gave information and directions, were paid by the administration.

Those serving as volunteer guides this year were Lorrie Stocker, Eleanor Auerbach, Bev Spandau, Diane Brooks, Diane Brand, Joan Hawkins, Jim Sloane, Howard Penkower, Jim Truby, Myron Kerstetter, John Tinker, Gary Zimmerman, Jim Sockman, Louis Kushner and Larry Campbell.

'Goat' the Goat Stars as Guest At Pep Rally

The Ag-Hill goat named "Goat" was the star attraction of last night's "Beat Navy" pep rally.

The goat, obtained from an agriculture experimental center, was chaperoned by Herbert Goldstein and clothed with a "Beat Navy" shawl.

Led by the cheerleaders, the frosh and upperclassmen yelled out songs and cheers, including an enthusiastic rendition of the song of the Class of '65.

Football coach Rip Engle and last year's captain, Henry Opperman both spoke at the rally, although both refused to make a flat prediction of victory.

A "Sink the Navy" skit, presented by Scrolls, senior women's hat society and Parmi Nous, senior men's hat society, featured a re-worded version of "Anchors Aweigh" and "Michael Row Your Boat Ashore."

Six Scrolls, dressed as Mary Martin-type midshipmen rowed a Navy boat until a "Parmi Nous Sea Lion" (costumed in the old and very worn Lion's suit) disarmed their coxswain and chased the Navy back to the banks of the "smelly Severn."

Sheila Cohen, Barry Nellinger and Paul Krow emceed the rally sponsored by Block "S" Club.

Frosh to Appear In Customs at Game

The biggest cheering section at today's football game with Navy will probably be a mass of blue and white dinks and varicolored namecards as the freshman class makes its first public appearance in full dress customs.

Although customs officially began last night at the Dink

Debut, this will be the first chance for the upperclassmen to look over the latest crop of girls as they file into the outposts of the north stands.

The dinked and namecarded frosh should be able to outcheer the Navy's midshipmen since they should outnumber the Mid-dies at the game by better than 5 to 1.

And if any frosh groans as he is ushered behind the goal posts, or if he gets caught trying to sneak into the senior section, he can always be glad he entered Penn State in 1961 and not a 100 years earlier.

Customs have been with us ever since the University began as the Farmer's High School in 1855. At one time "class scraps" were the order of the day and there was such fierce class loyalty that drop outs would often wait a year to return rather than be a freshman again under the sophomore class that he once belonged to.

Customs at one time listed until "move-up day" which was sometimes as late as May. During this time freshmen were not allowed to associate or even talk with coeds. (A far cry from today's "Hello Walks!")

Although customs may be very traditional, the information the freshmen must have on the tip of their tongues changes from year to year.

Starting Monday, the class of '65 will be expected to know all the songs and cheers, the location of all the campus buildings, and various other bits of information about Penn State.

Violators of this year's customs may be reported on forms available at the Hetzel Union desk. All complaints during customs should be addressed to the Freshman Customs Board.

All first term students are expected to participate in customs unless they are granted excuses from the Customs Board. Any first term student over 21 or a veteran may obtain an excuse from the board between 7 and 7:30 p.m. Sunday in 218 HUB.

JOIN THE GANG!

It's time for the annual

Mt. Nittany Climb

Tomorrow at 2 p.m.

The safari will meet behind Osmond Lab. Just be ready for lots of fun, we will supply FREE FOOD! The barbecue will be piping hot at the foot of the mountain after the climb.

You can join the OUTING CLUB anytime Saturday in the HUB or at any of the Club's activities.

This is another event sponsored by

THE PENN STATE OUTING CLUB

Club Meeting Tuesday 7:00 Sept. 26

In the HUB Assembly Room

FREE

Ladies Night

at the

Trampoline Center

E. College Ave. Across from Stephens Hall

All Lady and Girl Tumblers

ADMITTED FREE

Sunday, Sept. 24 6 P.M. to 11 P.M.

Instructors to Teach Fundamental Skills

Regular Hours for TRAMPOLINE CENTER

1 P.M. to 11 P.M. Daily

35c for 15 minutes or 50c for 1/2 hour

SPECIAL RATES FOR GROUPS