

Bears, Rams Will Battle For 1st Wins

By The Associated Press

The Chicago Bears and the Los Angeles Rams, a couple of losers in their opening clashes, will string along with virtually the same lineups tonight when they collide in Los Angeles in a National Football League contest.

Coach George Halas of the Bears plans to start either Bill Brown or John Adams in place of injured fullback Rick Casares, who will be out of action for several games because of a broken wrist bone. The Bears bowed to the Minnesota Vikings in their opener, 37-13.

"We were faulty in many places in our opener," Halas says, "and need improvement in execution of plays both in offense and defense."

Los Angeles Coach Bob Waterfield wasn't particularly dissatisfied with the Rams' showing in losing to the Baltimore Colts 27-24 last Sunday but figures his team's "offense could be more consistent."

The remaining 12 NFL clubs make their second starts of the season today. The headliner sends Minnesota to Dallas to meet another opening game surprise, the Cowboys, who celebrated the beginning of their second year in the league after failing to win a 1960 game by knocking off the Pittsburgh Steelers 27-24.

Keys Gets Starting Nod At Right Halfback Post

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Rookie Brady Keys will start at right half tomorrow against the New York Giants, Coach Buddy Parker of the Pittsburgh Steelers said yesterday.

Keys recently was put back on the active roster of the National Football League club. He suffered a cheek bone injury in an exhibition game but is now fully recovered.

Buddy Dial, who normally is the right half, will stay at the open end post where he played last week.

Mitinger Draws Notices As Possible All-America

Coach Rip Engle doesn't spare the praise when it comes to All-America candidate Bob Mitinger. Engle calls him "our finest end in a decade".

Bob has been a starter since midway in his sophomore season.

He is a pre-law student, and hopes to go into business with his dad and brother after a stab at pro ball.

Bob starred in football, basketball, and track at Greensburg High.

Lion Captain Tabbed Most Consistent

Penn State's captain Jim Smith was tabbed "most consistent interior lineman" at the end of last year by Lion coach Rip Engle.

Smith was one of seven gridders named to the Athletic Honor Roll for scholastic excellence. He is majoring in business administration but has hopes of playing pro football after graduation.

He played fullback when he first started at Latrobe High School, but was soon switched to the line.

Jim represented Penn State at The World Organization of Christian Athletes in Geneva, Wisconsin in August.
