

University Establishes New Agency

A department which will provide specially qualified personnel to conduct studies, assemble facts and make recommendations on the allocation and utilization of University facilities and equipment has been established at the University.

George R. Thuring, professor of industrial engineering, heads the new Department of Management Engineering. He is responsible to Albert E. Diem, vice-president of business.

Diem said that, through this new agency, studies can be conducted in a more scientific manner and thus more accurate and complete information can be made available as to the use of facilities.

Some of the fields in which work will be done initially are non-academic floor area usage, furniture and non-academic equipment requirements for new space, operational equipment studies, work-system studies and establishment of non-academic job standards.

"This procedure," Diem said, "will also help us to speed action on decisions which are sometimes delayed while studies are undertaken."

The department became effective July 1.

Thuring said that one of the first projects of the new department was space allocation and utilization in Hammond and Sackett which included establishing new offices for The Daily Collegian in the basement of the north wing of Sackett.

Koser was reluctant to comment on whether term standings would appear on winter and spring certificates of registration. He said, however, that the problem is being considered, but that no decision has been made yet.

Electrical Blackout Confuses Students

By JOANNE MARK

Many University students were surprised yesterday when the sun appeared over Mount Nittany before 3 a.m., according to their electric alarm clocks.

Still others were, reportedly, shocked when they arrived for their first period classes and discovered the third period in session.

Why all the confusion? Much of the campus and portions of State College were without electrical power from midnight Wednesday until 4:30 a.m. yesterday as a result of trouble that started when an automobile drifted from a parking area into a power line pole.

The car, Campus Patrol reported, is owned by James A. Jones of RD 1, Petersburg. He had parked it in the parking area near Pollock Dining Hall.

The car is reported to have drifted down a grade into the pole which carries main lines of West Penn Power Co. to a transformer station located near the Poultry Building.

The collision with the pole is reported to have put the station out of commission, causing power failure in portions of town, the women's residence halls of the Pollock area, East Halls, Nittany Residence Halls and Graduate Housing area. The Reactor, where the failure set off an alarm and the Sewage Plant as well as the Poultry Building and other buildings on east campus were also affected.

A series of events in tracing the trouble, resulted in more than a four-hour delay in restoring power, although power was restored for short periods to some campus buildings drawing from the University Power Plant lines.

University officials said yesterday morning that because the failure occurred after midnight, it was possible to substitute power from the University Power Plant.

They also noted that the failure did not greatly handicap operations at the sewage plant because of the time that the failure occurred.

Two Students Arrested For Disorderly Conduct

Two members of Alpha Chi Rho fraternity were arrested on charges of disorderly conduct early yesterday morning by State College police, a police official said yesterday afternoon.

Police reported that they were called to the fraternity house shortly after midnight Wednesday by complaints of firecrackers being set off outside the fraternity house.

No charges were made against the fraternity, police said.

ARCHIE SAYS:

My cousin Archie—he thought the electric razor his gal gave him last Christmas was o.k. Then he tried Old Spice Pro-Electric, the before shave lotion. Now the guy won't stop talking, he thinks electric shaving is so great.

ARCHIE SAYS Pro-Electric improves electric shaving even more than lather improves blade shaving. ARCHIE SAYS Pro-Electric sets up your beard by drying perspiration and whisker oils so you shave blade-close without irritation. ARCHIE SAYS Pro-Electric gives you the closest, cleanest, fastest shave.

If Archie ever stops talking, I'll tell him I use Old Spice Pro-Electric myself.

SO DO I.

P. S.
There's a .60 size but Archie gets the 1.00 bottle. (He always was a sport).
