ENROUTE TO MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 29—Penn State's pass defense will have to be at its best tonight when the Lions go after win No. 2 against Miami in the Orange Bowl before 40,000.

The game starts at 9:15 EDST and will be relayed back to Penn State via closed circuit TV.

Miami has a 1-1 record going into the game, losing 10-7 to Pitt two weeks ago before downing Kentucky 14-7 last week. State is 1-0, a 20-10 victory over Navy last Saturday.

George Mira, a sophomore quarterback who can run and throw with equal skill, is the man who makes the Hurricanes so dangerous.

Mira will be playing in only his third varsity game tonight, but everybody who has watched him in action says he can't miss.

Mira is expected to fill the air

Partly cloudy and warm weather is expected in Miami tonight. Temperatures during the game will be in the upper 70's, and winds will be blowing from the northeast at 10 to 15 miles an hour.

with his pin point passes tonight instead of trying to buck State's rugged forward wall, which held Navy to only 94 yards rushing.

And to make things even rougher for State's secondary, the Hurricanes have three fine receivers in All-American end Bill Miller, end Larry Wilson and Nick Spinelli, a little half-back from Coraopolis, Pa.

Rip Engle has been drilling his squad on pass defense all week, but he said Wednesday before leaving for the Southland that he wasn't at all satisfied with the results.

"We'll be facing a far superior passer to anybody Navy had this week and we're just making too many mistakes in practice," Engle said.

The Middies completed 10 of 29 passes against State last Saturday but the Lions picked off (Continued on page eleven)

Gridiron Notes

Fran Curci, All-American quarterback for Miami in 1959, is now a backfield coach for the Hurricanes . . . Andy Gustafson, one of the top coaches in the country, has compiled a 77-51-3 record during his 13 years at Miami . . . Boston U., Penn State's next opponent, is having its troubles. First the Terriers lost Albie Stonkus, a dependable halfback, and now speedster Hugh O'Flynn is on the injury list . . . Dr. Alfred H. Griess, team physician, did not make the trip with the Lions . . . Tonight's game will be the first away encounter Griess has missed in 23 years . . . The few critics that George Mira has, say that he's great for completing short passes but can't throw the long ones. Lion Coach Frank Patrick disagrees. "I've seen him throw a ball 55 yards without any trouble," Patrick says.
