

Low Down On Lion Opponents

Pitt-Baylor Game Draws Top Billing In The East

By DEAN BILLICK

Penn State's next two football opponents rip into each other this afternoon, while six other future Nittany foes face tough battles as college football moves into its second major week of play.

In the game that has drawn the most interest around the East, the PITT PANTHERS match their powerful running attack against the backfield speed of Baylor. The Panthers upset Miami, 10-7, two weeks ago and are anxious to prove to the hometown fans that it was no fluke.

Baylor has one of the best backs in college football in the person of Ronnie Bull at fullback and a left halfback, Tommy Minter, who runs the 100-yard dash in 9.6. Bull has been clocked in the 100 at 9.8 and another halfback, Ronnie Goodwin, is reported to "usually nip Minter in wind sprints" although no one has clocked his time.

The Panthers are tough in the line though, and the game could wind up as a close one.

ARMY and BOSTON UNIVERSITY, State's next two opponents, knock heads at Michie Stadium before some 2,500 screaming Cadets. Army opened its season last week by whipping Richmond, 24-7. The Cadets are strong at the quarterback spot with Dick Eckert rated as one of the best in the East and junior Joe Blackgrove directing Army's second unit.

Steve Sinko's Terriers were upset, 23-12, last week by Buffalo, but Boston U. has 19 lettermen and is reported to have one of its finest squads in the past five or six years. Pete Perreault and Bill DiLorenzo lead a strong line.

The WEST VIRGINIA Mountaineers haven't won a game since 1959, and don't figure to have much of a chance against powerful SYRACUSE. The Orange, with incomparable Ernie Davis running over the opposition from his halfback spot, had little trouble beating Oregon State last week, 19-8. Davis scored two touchdowns.

The Mountaineers, losers of their first two games this year, have two regulars and five front line substitutes who didn't even make the trip to Archibold Stadium.

Down south, MARYLAND and Clemson, two teams picked by preseason experts to battle it out for the Atlantic Coast Conference title, will meet head-on today in Clemson's Memorial Stadium.

The Terrapins, possessing a passing attack that features All-American end, Gary Collins, will be making their first appearance this season.

Clemson dropped a 21-17 decision to highly rated Florida in their opener.

In the midwest, CALIFORNIA, a 27-3 victim at the hands of Texas last Saturday, must rest its chances of pulling a major upset without the passing arm of Randy Gold when they visit Iowa.

Who They Play
Boston U. at Army
West Virginia at Syracuse
California at Iowa
Maryland at Clemson
Villanova at Holy Cross
Baylor at Pitt

The Hawkeyes, ranked No. 1 in the country by the Associated Press, present a powerful offensive attack led by their two preseason All-American candidates, quarterback Wilburn Hollis and halfback Larry Ferguson.

A third members of the backfield, Joe Williams, gives new coach Jerry Burns one of the most feared backfields in the Big Ten.

Dr. Eddie Anderson, begins his 18th season as head coach at HOLY CROSS today when his Crusaders host Villanova. Led by last year's ECAC sophomore player of the year, quarterback Pat McCarthy, Holy Cross will be out to continue its hot brand of ball which carried the Crusaders to six wins in their last seven games in 1960.

Villanova, a mild surprise in the East thus far, has gained successive victories over Miami of Ohio and V.M.I.

Stengel Accepts Pact To Guide N.Y. Mets

NEW YORK (AP) — Casey Stengel, fired last year by the New York Yankees because he was too old, returned to baseball yesterday at the age of 71 as manager of the New York Mets of the National League.

Stengel finally agreed to come back for at least one year in an early morning telephone conversation with his old boss, George Weiss, president of the Mets whom the Yanks retired last fall at the age of 65. Stengel was after that.

home in Glendale, Calif., where he spent the past year writing his memoirs an attending to his banking business.

No salary terms were announced, as usual. Weiss offered a brisk "no comment" when asked if Casey would get as high a salary as the $80,000 the Yanks reportedly paid him.

"Casey wanted a one-year contract," Weiss said at a news conference in the Mets' office. "He told me 'if I like it and you want me, we will have no difficulties at the age of 65. Stengel was after that.'"

Mantle Rests After Surgery; Will Play In Series Opener

NEW YORK (AP) — Mickey Mantle, October's problem child every year healthwise, was feeling very much better yesterday following minor surgery late Thursday for an abscess on his right upper hip.

There was every indication he would be in his usual centerfield position for the New York Yankees when they meet the Cincinnati Reds in the first game of the World Series Wednesday.

Dr. Sidney Gaynor, Yankee club physician, predicted that Mantle would workout with the club on Tuesday but said the player would remain in the hospital until late today and definitely would miss the final series with Boston.

The present misfortune is in line with Mantle's previous World Series luck. His first year with the club, in 1951, he stepped into a drainage hole in the outfield during the second game with the New York Giants and spent the rest of the series in the hospital.

He missed four games of the 1955 series against the Brooklyn Dodgers because of a leg injury and was in and out of the 1957 series with Milwaukee because of a sore shoulder.
