

Audience to Relive 'Oscar Wilde Era'

With "The Importance of Being Oscar" Micheal MacLiammoir highlights many years of admiration for Oscar Wilde and his era (the 1890's).

This dramatic monologue will be presented at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow and Saturday in Schwab as the second University Artists' Series for this term.

Student tickets are sold out for Saturday's performance, but tickets for Friday may be picked up at the Hetzel Union desk from 9 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 5 p.m. today and tomorrow. General admission tickets are still available for both evenings at $1.25 each.

MacLiammoir has been interested in the noted British playwright ever since he received Wilde's "The Happy Prince" as a birthday present at the age of 12.

Since then he has not only written and dramatized "The Importance of Being Oscar," but also has performed in "The Picture of Dorian Gray," another of Wilde's works, and has appeared on television in "Famous Trials," as Wilde.

MacLiammoir used only the letters and other writings of Wilde for the little factual information which is in his monologue. What makes the monologue unique is that during the performance, MacLiammoir takes many "asides" to comment on Wilde's sense of humor, writings, personal life and present-day reputation.

Harold Taublan, New York Times drama critic, commented, "It (the monologue) has gaiety and sadness, lyricism and clever prosaic touches. It is biography and commentary. Its central character is Oscar Wilde, but it evokes the spirit of a mauve decade, the Eighteen Nineties, which, as Mr. MacLiammoir suggests, Wilde might have invented."

West Halls AM To Pickup FM

The residents of the West Halls area may soon be able to receive WDFM broadcasts during the evening hours and a selected FM station during the day on their AM radio receivers.

West Halls council at their regular meeting Tuesday night passed a resolution appropriating $200 for the purchase of a transformer to send the sound waves through the power lines in the area. The transmitter will be built by the Psychology Laboratory and should be in operation by Thanksgiving, George Henning, president of the council said.

The transformer will pick up the radio waves coming through the air and send them as electrical pulses through the power lines, it was explained at the meeting. As long as a radio is within four feet of a power line it will receive the signals transmitted through the line.

During the day the same music which is piped into Waring Lounge will be transmitted through the power lines. At 6 p.m. when WDFM comes on the air music from the campus radio will be sent to the residents of the area.

Henning said that the possibilities of such a transmitter were investigated by the executive committee during the summer.

Game Foot Traffic To Use Curtin Rd.

William C. Pelton, director of the department of security, yesterday reminded students planning to walk to the football game Saturday that Curtin Road will be reserved for pedestrians. Other roads leading to the stadium must be kept open to handle the great rush of vehicular traffic, he said.

Pedestrians who previously used University Road to get to the stadium will find that a high wire fence has been erected along the road to keep them off it, he said.

Pelton also urged students not to walk through the parking lots when leaving the game, since this causes cars to wait until the exits are free or makes them detour to other exits after the game.

TIM Decision--

Wasson, sophomore in business administration from New Kensington, was appointed as chairman of the committee.

Keneth Patla, treasurer, was appointed to head a committee to study the problem of town parking. Town officials have complained that students using Hammond for studying during the evening have been parking in State College parking spaces that might be used for potential shoppers, Robert Fry, TIM president, said.

One of the purposes of last night's meeting was to acquaint the new council members with TIM's "Las Vegas Nite" project. This event is held yearly by TIM and gives students a chance to play cards and other games for fake money. This year's "Las Vegas Nite" will be held October 21.
