

Senate Committee Vetoes Proposal for Extension Of Thanksgiving Recess

By CAROL KUNKLEMAN

The Senate Committee on Calendar and Class Schedule turned down a proposal yesterday to extend the present one-day Thanksgiving recess.

Harvey Klein, along with Marjorie Ganter, presented the formal written proposal to the committee. Klein said the committee turned down the proposal "utterly, flatly, completely and unanimously."

Committees To Consider Constitution

The University Senate Committee on Student Affairs will meet jointly with the Senate Committee on Organizational Control this afternoon to begin review of the proposed SGA Constitution.

This special meeting of the two committees was called by Laurence H. Lattman, chairman of the student affairs committee, Friday when he received word that the final draft of the constitution was ready for committee consideration.

Copies of SGA's final draft of the constitution with legal revisions by Robert E. Dunham, instructor in parliamentary law, have been delivered to most of the committee members, Dennis Foianini, SGA president, said Tuesday night.

At the student affairs committee meeting two weeks ago, SGA was authorized to call for and direct preliminary proceedings for fall Assembly elections as stipulated in the proposed constitution.

It was stressed, however, that this authorization did not, in any way, commit committee members to accept any part of the constitution when it is reviewed.

Some discussion did develop questioning the value of the political party system at the University, Lattman said after the meeting two weeks ago.

"Whether parties will be approved or not in the final review of the constitution, I cannot say at this time," he said.

Until an SGA structure is attained which is acceptable to both the student affairs committee and the student government, SGA will remain a defunct body, lacking a charter under which to operate.

The actual writing of the constitution was done under a temporary charter granted to SGA last spring in order for it to revise its procedure and structure.

With the completion of SGA's work on the constitution on Sept. 27, this temporary charter became ineffective and will remain so until another charter is granted to the organization by the student affairs committee.

Sunny, Warm Weather Due to Continue Today

A high pressure area centered well off the mid-Atlantic coast should continue to provide sunny, warm weather in this area today.

A mass of slightly cooler air is expected to overspread the commonwealth late tonight and tomorrow, causing a return of more seasonable temperatures.

Today should be sunny and warm with a high temperature of 75 degrees.

Partly cloudy and cool weather is expected tonight. The low will be near 42 degrees.

Tomorrow should be partly cloudy and somewhat cooler.

'K' Plans Soviet Weapon Stockpile

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev declared yesterday the Soviet Union means to have all the necessary nuclear and missile weapons of every range to crush anyone "challenging us to war."

But he said his "main challenge" to the capitalist world is the 20-year program he laid before the applauding 22nd Soviet party congress and "it can be fulfilled successfully only in the conditions of peace."

Basis for TIM Recess Plan Misunderstood, Walker Says

Replacing part of the three "extra" days at the end of the fall term with an extended Thanksgiving vacation is based on a "misunderstanding" in that the days are not extra, President Eric A. Walker told Gomer Williams in a letter yesterday.

Williams, chairman of the Town Independent Men's student welfare committee, had written Walker about the TIM Council's suggestion that 1 1/2 of the 3 days over the 10-week term be used as an extension of the Thanksgiving vacation.

Walker replied that the idea of "three extra days is a misunderstanding," Williams said.

The letter continued, "The faculty has planned for presentation of courses over the period provided. To cut out days now would reduce the term and make it necessary to pile up work near the end," Williams added.

Thus, Williams said, President Walker feels that TIM Council's proposal would not work during the extra days because he says the days are not really extra.

Walker also wrote that there would not be significant savings, Williams said, because the University could not shut off the heat or lay off food and housing workers for such a short period.

Williams said he also saw Walker this afternoon about the extension of Thanksgiving recess.

Walker told Williams that any change in the vacation schedule would have to be made by the University Senate as a switch in policy.

The Senate Committee on calendar and class schedule met yesterday morning and decided not to extend the present Thanksgiving Holiday.

Khrushchev, who Tuesday spoke of exploding a 50-megaton bomb, 2,500 times the size of the first atom bomb at Hiroshima, promised as he has before to "disband our army and sink our atomic bombs and missiles in the ocean."

But this promise was on the condition there is an agreement on general and complete disarmament under strict international control. Western disarmament negotiators never have been able to get a satisfactory agreement on controls with the U.S.S.R.

Khrushchev, in a six-hour speech—his second such in two days—outlined a 20-year program which he said would give the Soviet people the highest production and living standards on earth.

He described it as a blueprint for the inevitable "downfall of imperialism and the triumph of socialism on a world scale" which already has administered a big defeat for aggressive forces "who idolize the hydrogen bomb."

Fourty million card-carrying Communists in 87 nations all over the world, he said, have made communism "the most powerful force of our time."

This force, he added, is working in "an epoch of revolutions, social revolutions, anti-imperialist national liberation revolutions, people's democratic revolutions, broad peasants movements" and all are merging in a capitalist-undermining process.

Tass, the official Soviet news agency, in commenting on the reaction said delegates leaving the Kremlin felt as if they had made a "thrilling trip to the orbit of communism" that would be realized in the near future.

SGA Commission Will Inspect Polls On Election Days

The SGA Elections Commission will not have a representative at each polling place during the college councils' elections today and tomorrow, Nancy Williams, chairman said.

She added, however, that representatives of the elections commission will travel from poll to poll from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. on both days.

Engineering, Liberal Arts, Division of Counseling, Chemistry and Physics and Education Councils will have a polling place near the Hetzel Union card room.

The Engineering Student Council will also have a polling place on the first floor of Sackett. The Business Administration Council will have a booth in Boucke and the Home Economics college will vote in Home Economics.

The Chemistry and Physics Council will have polling places in Osmond and Whitmore in addition to the Hetzel Union.

The College of Physical Education and Athletics will hold elections during classes.

Local Rehabilitation Office Established

By JOAN MEHAN

The first full-time University office of the Pennsylvania Bureau of Vocational Rehabilitation was established here recently in 425 McAllister.

"Since there are over 100 students on campus under the B.V.R. program there was a definite need for a full-time office," William J. Arnold, rehabilitation counselor, said yesterday.

In a college community the primary concern of the B.V.R. are to see that students are acquainted with the proper techniques in applying for jobs and to intercede when more severely handicapped persons run into employer resistance because of their handicaps, Arnold added.

At most universities there are only about a "dozen or so" students under this program, Arnold added. Previously students at the University were able to see their B.V.R. counselor only one afternoon a week when the counselor would visit the campus.

"Anyone with a disability that handicaps him for vocational purposes is eligible for B.V.R. inclusion. Many people on campus are eligible, but are unaware of this program," he said.

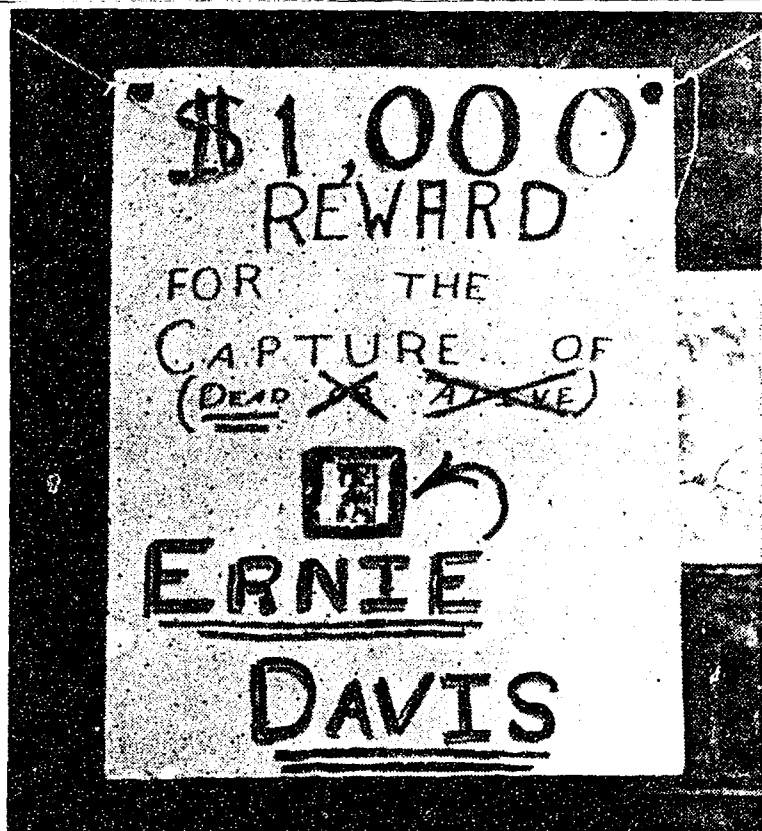

After the disabled person applies to the rehabilitation office, he undergoes a medical and vocational diagnosis to determine the extent of his disability. The B.V.R. provides the individual's medical examination and his medical and vocational diagnosis free of charge, he explained. The medical examination is given by a physician of the person's own choice, Arnold added.

After the kind of job the applicant can do best is established the B.V.R. offers him guidance and counseling to help the disabled person to understand his assets and liabilities and the steps necessary to correct any personal difficulties.

If physical restoration is possible, other services including medical, surgical and psychiatric care, hospitalization and nursing are provided on the basis of need, he said.

Rehabilitation counselors try to make the disabled person realize that he has equal standing to normal persons on the labor market and to get him to compete for employment for which he is qualified, Arnold added.
