COMPUTERS CAN NOW TRADE DATA COAST TO COAST OVER TELEPHONE LINES

IBM has developed systems of computer-to-computer communication, which foretell the greatest advances in data processing since the introduction of the stored-program computer. These Tele-Processing* systems greatly extend the useful range of data processing—putting their power at the disposal of businessmen and scientists located miles away.

Now it is possible to transmit data between two computer installations at speeds up to 62,500 characters per second via broad-band communications channels. Any number of computing systems can be linked in this way in order to exchange information or feed it to a data processing center. As a result, although they may be separated by a continent, computers can bring their capacities to bear on a single massive problem or operation.

There can be an exciting future for the graduate at IBM. The choice of jobs is wide. Advancement potential is excellent. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, creed, color or national origin. Whatever your talents and skills, there may be just the job you've always looked forward to after college. Why not find out by talking with the IBM representative when he next visits your campus? Or write, outlining your background and interests, to: Manager of Technical Employment, IBM Corporation, Dept. 896, 590 Madison Avenue, N. Y. 22, N. Y.

You naturally have a better chance to grow with a growth company

IBM will interview Nov. 7, Nov. 8.
