Bears Bring 1-3-1 Record To Beaver Stadium Clash

(Continued from page eleven) Boston University, 32-0 and then lost to Army 10-6, before scoring a convincing 14-0 win over Syracuse.

Meanwhile, California has been running up against some of the top teams in the country, and doing a creditable job despite a 1-3-1 record.

The Golden Bears defeated Washington, tied Missouri and lost to Texas, Iowa and Southern Cal.

"I think we've done quite well considering the teams we've faced so far," said affable Marv Levy, the youthful Cal coach.

"And I don't think we're over the hump as far as facing tough teams goes. In fact, Penn State is as rugged as any team we've met this year—at least that's what my scouts tell me.

"State's line is probably the biggest that we will face this year. But we have some fast backs, and our fullback George Pierovich is capable of some real fine football."

Pierovich is Cal's third leading ground gainer with 133 yards in 46 carries. He's topped by Alan Nelson, a 192-pound sophomore who has both power and speed, and Rudy Carvajal, another sophomore who relies more on a good sense of balance and a knack for hitting the right holes.

Nelson has 206 yards in 39 carries and Carvajal has gained 142 yards in 30 attempts.

But the real bread-and-butter man for Cal is quarterback Randy Gold.

Gold was a second team All-Big Five choice last year and with another year of football ahead of him he could become the best passer in Cal history.

At the end of last year he stood fifth in total completions with 65 and this year he has hit on 13 of 32 attempts.

He missed Cal's first two games because of an injury and Larry Balliett, another junior, proved he could move the team. Balliett has hit 13 of 24 passes this year.

State's attack, which was sluggish in the losses to Miami and Army, perked up considerably last week with the return of Galen Hall and the promotion of Roger Kochman to the first team. Hall, who missed the two previous games with a shoulder injury, hit on 10 of 12 passes for 170 yards and two touchdowns. Kochman rushed for 107 yards in 13 carries.

Powell, who is the top Lion pass receiver with eight catches for 139 yards, will be Kochman's running mate at halfback and reliable Dave Hayes will start at fullback.

If Engle uses the same strategy he did last week, Hall and Kochman will play on offense with Pete Liske and Al Gursky coming in on defense.

STARTING GUARDS: Joe Blasenstein (L) and Harrison Rosdahl, Penn State's starting guards, hammer away at a blocking dummy in preparation for today's encounter with California. Both players were cited by coach Rip Engle for their play against Syracuse last week.

Six Still in Contention For IM Tennis Titles

Only three men in each division remain in the IM tennis tournament which began Oct. 1 with 81 fraternity and 52 independent entries.

In independent action Harvey Scholl and Dick Replogle will meet in a semi-final match with the winner playing Andrew Pollock, who has already defeated Thomas Diffenderfer in his semi-final battle.

Sigma Nu's Bill Polacek and Alpha Chi Rho's Bill Stout will meet in a fraternity semi-final match, with the winner playing Steve Seitchik of Zeta Beta Tau, for the championship.

California's QB Plans to Pass Against Lions

(Continued from page eleven) tough schedule and in a couple of games we made a few mistakes and they cost us."

However, Gold said he has a lot of respect for Penn State's line. "We saw films of the Army game and that State line is big and tough. We'll have to be on our toes, but I think we will."

Gold said that he is planning to use the rollout run and pass quite a bit in today's game. The Cal quarterback uses the same rollout pattern that former Lion quarterback Richie Lucas ran so well two years ago.

"I fake to the fullback up the middle and then roll out and either run with the ball or fire a short pass," Gold said. "I like to run quite a bit, but whether I run or not depends on how the defense moves with the play."

A light rain was falling during most of Cal's practice and Gold seemed a little worried about it. "I plan to throw quite a bit, if it doesn't rain," Gold said. But he added that he doesn't think the rain or cold weather will bother Cal.

The weatherman says that it should be sunny and pleasantly warm with no threat of rain.

Erby didn't think the weather will affect the Cal players either. "We played in cold weather at Iowa and the weather didn't beat us there," he said.

The Bears lost to Iowa, 28-7, but since that time have shown vast improvement.

LOST FOR TODAY'S GAME: Lion trainer Chuck Medlar wraps gauze around sophomore halfback Gary Wydman before a practice session at Beaver Field. Wydman suffered a bruised chest against Syracuse and Team Physician Alfred H. Griess said it's doubtful if he'll play today. Bob Kline will probably replace Wydman, who was scheduled to back up Junior Powell at right halfback.
