

AWS Backs Vacation In Prexy Note

President Eric A. Walker will receive a letter today from the Association of Women Students concerning the possibility of a Thanksgiving recess.

The letter states that AWS realizes the difficulty in changing the calendar at this late date, but hopes that the administration will take into account the desirability of a Thanksgiving vacation and make plans for one next year.

The letter goes on to say that realizing that most coeds will be remaining on campus, the AWS community councils are striving to make the holiday a "meaningful one" for them.

All of the councils except Atherton are planning to have dinner-dances Thanksgiving night with the men's councils in their living areas. Atherton may, however, have a dinner-dance with the West Halls council because of the high ratio of men to women in that area.

Other AWS plans for the holiday include:

South: The meditation choir may conduct a community sing either the Tuesday or Wednesday before Thanksgiving. Coeds may also be able to have a late breakfast in Redifer in honor of the holiday.

McElwain - Simmons: The council may serve punch in the residence halls throughout the day.

North: A "coke-tail" party will precede the dinner-dance.

Atherton: The coeds in Atherton will "take Thanksgiving to others" with a party for the Laurelton Home for mentally retarded girls. The coeds living in Atherton will provide entertainment and take gifts to these girls on Thanksgiving day.

West: A dance is being planned for Wednesday night and a jam session and a Christmas tree decorating party in Waring Lounge Thanksgiving afternoon.

Prexy to Speak At U. of Maryland

President Eric A. Walker will speak at the Honors Convocation at the University of Maryland Friday.

Wilmer E. Kenworthy, executive assistant to the president, said yesterday Walker will speak on land grant colleges. Students from the school will be presented with special awards at the convocation, he said.

The University of Maryland, like Penn State, is celebrating its centennial this year, Kenworthy said. Programs honoring the celebration are being held throughout the year, he added.

Kenworthy said Walker will also attend the Penn State-Maryland football game next Saturday.
